FLASHES IN SKY DEPICT BATTLE FOR LENINGRAD

Tribune Writer Tells of Scene at Night.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE KARELIAN ISTHMUS, Sept. 16.—Bolshevism has abolished the distinction between civilians and the military in Leningrad. By decree of Dictator Josef Stalin, the defense of the city has been made total and the metropolis built by the czars and ruined by the communists now faces a destruction that also may be total.

Map locates Russian metropolis and naval base under attack.

Every night Finnish observers in towers rising from the thick forests on the Karelian isthmus near the soviet frontier see flashes of bursting bombs, hear the rumble of explosions less than 30 miles away, and feel the towers tremble from the concussion of the nearby Finnish batteries. The heaviest artillery of the Finnish army has joined the battle for the possession of the ruins of what was once proudly called the city of Lenin.

Finns Promenade the Beach.

The Terijoki beach on the Gulf of Finland, with its 15 miles of white sand and bordered by villas built by the St. Petersburg [the earlier name of Leningrad] wealthy class, later inhabited largely by Russian refugees in Finland and after the 1939-1940 winter war used as Red army quarters, tonight seemed again to have become a promenade.

Many small groups of Finnish men and women walked the sands. All were in uniform—the men are soldiers and the women are members of the Lotta Svard [Finnish women's auxiliary] who also stand watch in the towers against air raiders, form a large percentage of the personnel of the army signal corps, cook for the soldiers, and who have immeasurably helped Finland in her total defense against the attacks from Russia.

Searchlights Across the Sky.

There was no merriment. All were watching the southeastern sky in the direction of Leningrad. A promontory jutting out from the soviet territory cut off the view of the city. But over the dark line of trees could be seen flashes marking exploding shells of the city's anti-aircraft defenses. Great searchlight beams waved back and forth across the sky, sometimes joining and remaining together when they had caught a plane in their light.

From the bursting shells, the course of attacking planes could be followed and as one squadron turned out of the city toward Kronstadt, the promenaders saw the fortifications of Russia's greatest naval base go into action.

Some guns began to shoot tracer bullets which rise into the sky like great rockets. Then heavier caliber,

NAZIS AIM BLOW AT CRIMEA; POUR ACROSS DNIEPER

Berlin reported German troops early today were streaming across the lower Dnieper river and pushing eastward on a broad front, threatening to cut off the Crimean peninsula from the Russian mainland. The railway traversing the narrow isthmus was declared already "broken in many places."

Three soviet armies totaling about 270,000 men were reported cut to pieces on the north central front about 150 miles south of Leningrad. Germans told of capturing more of Leningrad's outer field fortifications.

Moscow denied there was a German advance to the Crimea gateway and told of counterattacks dislodging Germans from positions before Leningrad. A second German attempt to land and seize the island of Oesel off the Estonian coast was reported smashed with many boats sunk and many troops drowned.

NAB INSURANCE SOCIETY HEAD IN WESTERN TOWN

Fugitive Betrayed by Accent.

A country-wide search for Francis R. Carlin, former supervisor of the St. George Fraternal Insurance society at 330 South Wells street, who has been formally charged with embezzling about $130,000 of the organization's funds, was ended yesterday. Carlin was arrested in Gallup, N. M., by local authorities.

Francis R. Carlin.

Carlin left Chicago suddenly in May. Since that time the police have been seeking him in all the dark corners which fugitive embezzlers might be expected to frequent.

Successful Venture.

His capture was made, however, in a brightly lighted shop in Gallup, where he sold electric signs. He had been so successful since his opening of the place in July that he had recently started another. The sheriff of McKinley county, of which Gallup is the county seat, made the arrest. He had become suspicious of the town's new merchant, partly because of his British accent.

Last night the sheriff, D. F. Mollica, who has been in office only a few months, told Carlin's story of his flight and his effort to evade pursuers to THE TRIBUNE by telephone. Then he permitted his prisoner to speak for himself.

"I have been properly identified," Carlin said in closely clipped words, "and I am the man wanted in Chicago. I shall go back without making any trouble; no extradition or anything of the sort."

A British Subject.

Where Carlin was before going to Gallup and opening his shop, and his subsequent expansion with the second one at Flagstaff, Ariz., 200 miles away, is still a mystery.

It took Sheriff Mollica only a short time to become suspicious of the new shop owner, who is 6 feet 2 inches tall and quite handsome. He followed the man into Flagstaff. He looked into his file of fugitives and reasoned that the stranger, who called himself Colin Derek Allen, might be the Chicago insurance man.

Suspicions Strengthened.

On Monday, Sheriff Mollica received information strengthening his suspicions. He arrested the stranger and took him to jail, but the stranger denied he was Carlin. The sheriff persisted in his questioning when the stranger became nervous. Eventually his prisoner confessed that he was Carlin. The sheriff communicated with Vernon Thompson, assistant state's attorney here. Detective Arthur Ristig was dispatched to Gallup to bring Carlin back.

KANSAS CITY BLACKED OUT BY STRIKE OF ELECTRIC WORKERS

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 17 [Wednesday] (AP).—Kansas City was without lights and power and virtually without water early today as employés of the Kansas City Power and Light company struck suddenly at midnight with virtually no warning.

Only one small water pumping station was operating early today with its own supply of power and station employés said it could not remain in action long. Electric buses and street cars stopped. Night clubs operated by candlelight.

St. Luke's hospital, one of the city's largest, was entirely without lights.

The controversy grew out of a jurisdictional dispute in which the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, an AFL affiliate, sought the right to bargain for employés who were members of the independent union of utility employés.

The company recently appealed from a regional labor board decision saying the independent union was company dominated. The national defense mediation board had urged that the dispute be settled without a cessation of operations.

F.D.R. Makes Self Censor of Navy News

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—President Roosevelt today told the nation he will be the sole judge of what the American people shall know about the carrying out of his "shoot on sight" order to the navy against axis surface, undersea, and air raiders.

Warning against amateur strategists speculating on the means by which the navy will carry out the orders he gave in his radio address of last Thursday night, Mr. Roosevelt revealed that his administration may not make public any new sea incidents.

As the navy today took under its protection all lease-lend shipping between this country and Iceland, the President said the military and naval situation will determine whether announcement will be made of the sinking of any additional American operated vessels or any encounters with raiders.

Announcements in Doubt.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked whether the state department would make announcements of further sinkings of American vessels as they occur. His answer was that he did not know.

He was then asked if any announcements would be made of actions between American vessels and any raiders in the carrying out of his order. Again he replied that he did not know.

He then said the military or naval situation will determine what announcements shall be made in the future.

Warns Amateur Strategists.

He was asked specifically whether his order meant the actual convoying of British vessels by the American navy. His answer was that amateur strategists should not think there is only one way of protecting shipping. He did not amplify the remark, but the possibility that a "corridor of steel"—ships, planes and navy guns—had been laid out in the North Atlantic, was considered in the capital tonight.

In this connection it was reported that the navy has worked out with the British admiralty a new patrol system, said to be more effective than the World war system of convoys.

He would not say whether he is contemplating asking repeal of the neutrality act or the arming of American merchant vessels.

The President criticized political discussion in connection with the rearmament effort. His sharp reply on politics came when he was asked concerning the possibility that Republicans who had supported his international policy might be given Democratic support in the primaries next spring.

"Why drag party problems or party questions into this picture of danger to the United States at this time?" Mr. Roosevelt retorted acidly. He said he did no care whether such interjection of politics came from Capitol hill, the government, newspapers, radio commentators, or where—the rule against interposing politics should apply to all of us, he said.

FREE FRENCH TO SEND ROOSEVELT BIGGEST GORILLA IN CAPTIVITY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt agreed today to accept as a gift a huge African gorilla, presented by Free French authorities as a symbol of the ferocity of their fight against Naziism.

"It is the largest and, we believe, the most ferocious gorilla that ever left Africa," wrote Gen. De Larminat, high commissioner of French Equatorial Africa.

"We are not the largest but, we hope, the most ferocious group of fighting men engaged in the struggle taking place today."

Maj. Gen. E. M. Watson, the Presidential secretary, replied: "The President is delighted to accept this gorilla in the fine spirit in which it is offered."

What will be done with the beast was not disclosed.

Q.—NEED BRITISH VISA IN CAPITAL? A.—WELL, NOT YET

The Small Business Men's department of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE yesterday received a letter from Cicero which raised a novel question. The letter:

"I am a small manufacturer in Cicero. I need 300 pounds of sheet brass to keep my plant going for the next six months. Am planning a trip to Washington to get some from government. Now a friend tells me Washington is in the British occupied zone and I must have a visa from the British consul on my passport to make the trip. I have my second papers, but don't believe this. How about it?

H. E. N.

"Cicero, Ill."

ANSWER [by the Small Business Men's department editor]: As yet no visa is required for visitors to the capital.

Soldiers Loot, Wreck Tavern; 38 Are Jailed

East St. Louis, Ill., Sept. 16 [Special].—Thirty-eight soldiers were in custody tonight and five others were being sought by military authorities as a result of an organized wrecking assault on a downtown tavern in East St. Louis by soldiers from Jefferson barracks in St. Louis, Mo.

In a destructive spree which Capt. William Keefe of the army post termed "a prank," the soldiers drank up $125 worth of liquor and smashed $25 worth of glassware during two hours that they held control of the tavern last night under command of a whistle-blowing sergeant.

Second Blitz in Four Days.

It was the second similar "blitz" against a private business place in four days. A beer tavern near Alexandria, La., was burned and wrecked last Friday by soldiers after an argument with a bartender over the price of beer.

The first phase of the incident here began Sunday night when two Jefferson barracks soldiers, Otis Pearson, 23, and Norwood Kelley, 20, were ejected from the Seville tavern by Policeman Thomas O'Brien when they insisted on arguing with civilian customers.

The soldiers went to the police station to complain about their treatment. According to O'Brien they became abusive in the station and were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. Yesterday they pleaded guilty and paid fines of $14 before Justice of the Peace G. F. Kirby.

Last night a group of nearly 50 soldiers from Jefferson barracks descended on the tavern, apparently to avenge the treatment of their two buddies. Chief of Police Sam Strautz said they "came over to wreck the place."

The soldiers responded to the orders of their whistle-blowing leader, who was identified as a sergeant.

Demand Cash for Fines.

A bartender, James Lasadose, said the sergeant told him: "We want $14 for the fines." When it was refused the men began drinking from tavern stock.

John Terss, the owner, said that altho he ordered that they be served drinks free, the soldiers smashed glasses. He declared 21 bottles of whisky were missing or smashed.

After a conference with army officers, Chief of Police Strautz said he was informed that 38 soldiers now are in custody and that five others are being sought.

WHAT LEGION'S RANK AND FILE SAY ABOUT WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 16.—While the Legion's national officers were reported today to be making ready to jam strong pro-war resolutions thru a controled convention, the rank and file stood stanchly behind the 20 year old organization policy opposing involvement in Europe's wars.

This became apparent in a street poll sample of Legion opinion. Of 47 Legionnaires, taken in order as encountered on the street, in a store, and a hotel lobby, 33 veterans, or 70 per cent, opposed sending American troops to Europe.

18 States Represented.

States represented by those questioned by Tribune reporters and the number from each state follow: Georgia, 4; Illinois, 5; Indiana, 2; Iowa, 7; Kansas, 1; Kentucky, 1; Massachusetts, 4; Michigan, 4; Minnesota, 2; Missouri, 2; New York, 4; North Carolina, 1; Ohio, 3; Pennsylvania, 1; Rhode Island, 1; Tennessee, 1; Wisconsin, 3, and Wyoming, 1.

Twelve of the Legionnaires, or 26 per cent, favored an expeditionary force, and two, or 4 per cent, were undecided. Eighteen states were represented by the members of the Legion who were questioned.

Tribune reporters were sent out to ask the Legionnaires: "Should America send soldiers to fight in Europe?"

"No!" Roars Veteran.

Among the Legionnaires questioned in the lobby of the Hotel Pfister was Man Mountain Dean of Buford, Ga., post 127, a wrestler. "No!" he roared, "We don't want to send troops. I was wounded in the last war."

Eddie Fredette, Brainerd, Minn., No. 255—"No, we had one batch of it. Convoying is all right, but this country shouldn't lose any blood."

J. A. Johnstone, Sheridan, Wyo., No. 7—"No, keep the troops at home."

Bill Hedrick, St. Joseph, Mich., No. 163—"No. We won the first war and what did we get out of it?"

R. G. Dix, Cynthiana, Ky., No. 27—"That depends on what develops. It's not necessary at present, but the necessity might arise."

I. J. Stephenson, Ottumwa, Ia., No. 3—"No, our men are better off at home."

C. F. Stoltz, St. Louis, Mo., No. 159—"My opinion has been no, unless something very serious happens."

Ray E. Fenstemaker, Philadelphia, Pa., Navy No. 195—"No. It's not our fight, and we didn't start it. Use our navy; it hasn't fired a shot in 40 years."

Jerry O'Neil, Methuen, Mass., No. 15—"No. When they attack us we'll attack them."

Pat Murphy, Methuen, Mass., No. 15—"No. We should stay at home."

George Monett, Methuen, Mass., No. 15—"If it's necessary we'll go. I don't think it's necessary now."

Z. V. Altman, Richland, Ia., No. 504—"No, if we have enough defense at home they won't want to come over here."

CONSIDER REQUESTING CONGRESS TO APPROVE HUGE LOAN TO RUSSIA

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 [Special].—High officials of this government are seriously considering asking congress for authority to extend a munitions-purchase loan of several hundred million dollars to Russia, presumably out of Reconstruction Finance corporation funds.

This became known today as the administration surveyed the problem of increasing aid to Russia and the possible political repercussions from attempting to include the soviet union under benefits of the lease-lend program. Officials approached the problem warily, lest undue opposition be provoked for the new lease-lend appropriation which is scheduled to be recommended to congress by the President Thursday. There is a strong anti-communist feeling in congress which might throw formidable obstacles in the way of extension of the lease-lend program.

Russia's tentative list of munitions requirements from the United States are understood to run well beyond a billion dollars.

PRO-WAR PLANK SHAPED UP FOR LEGIONNAIRES

Committee Talks of Another AEF.

ON W-G-N TODAY.

The reports of the American Legion convention committees on national defense and on foreign relations will be broadcast on W-G-N today from 1:45 to 2:15 p. m. Chicago daylight time.

(Pictures on back page.)

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 16—Substantiation of repeated charges that the American Legion convention is being propelled by the Washington administration toward a strong prowar pronouncement was seen tonight in the resolution reported prepared by the committee on national defense for delegates' action today.

Nicholas Hubbard. Fights interventionists at Legion convention.

One resolution which the committee is said to be ready to submit to the convention for passage holds that efficient warfare, when fighting becomes inevitable, hinges on the nation's ability to apply all resources promptly and efficiently and to carry the war to the enemy.

Want to Fight Abroad.

"If fighting is necessary to defend us, we insist on being able to do the fighting outside the United States and so prevent his [the enemy] bringing the war to us," this resolution was reported to say in part.

Successful prosecution of a necessary war will require the "removal of all geographical limitations on the use of troops," the resolution was said to assert. There was some debate on this paragraph, not on the principle of no geographical limitations for troops but on the question of whether it conflicted with a later paragraph which recommends construction of naval bases but says they should be limited to the Philippine Islands in the Pacific, and to a line north and south from Iceland in the Atlantic. It was finally decided that the two paragraphs do not conflict, and the resolution will go to the convention floor barring last minute alteration by the committee.

Fortification of Guam.

Another point in the proposed legislation to be given the convention held that Guam must be fortified and garrisoned. The committee was said to have approved with little comment or debate a subcommittee report which pledged support of the Legion to the government, the President, and the war and navy departments. This document defined destruction of Hitler as a Legion objective and appealed to the organization and to the nation for unity in attaining this objective.

As convention machinery continued to roll smoothly, opponents of intervention awaited a slip in the strong official control to get their battle on the floor. Nicholas Hubbard, state senator from Illinois and a delegate, planned to appeal to the Illinois delegation.

"There must be some way that the rank and file can express itself in this convention," said Hubbard. "I believe that 80 per cent of the members do not want to send boys to die in Europe's wars and I think they should have some say."

Parade Is Colorful.

The most warlike of the speeches on Monday were made by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York. Knox said the navy would provide protection to Iceland of all nations' ships carrying lease-lend materials, and La Guardia said, "Make no mistake—this country is not neutral." Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the army, asked that the army be allowed to function without criticism.

Meanwhile Legionnaires moved thru the main street in a seemingly endless stream of colorful drum corps, strutting majorettes, gaily attired bands, and marching veterans. For 12 hours the 110,000 marchers moved before nearly a million spectators who jammed the streets.

First spectators straggled to the line of march at 4:30 a. m. By 8 a. m. the crowds were lined several deep along most of the line of march.

Disagrees with A. F.

The Tribune poll did not agree with a news dispatch sent over the country by the Associated Press. This story announced flatly that rank and file Legionnaires were eager to abandon their peace policy of two decades standing.

Nor did the results tally with an alleged poll conducted by Market Analysis, Inc., and sponsored by the Fight for Freedom committee, an interventionist organization. This poll, according to the Fight for Freedom press releases, found the Legionnaires in a mood for immediate combat anywhere.

This poll, it developed today, was produced by Francis Adams Henson, whose business card points out that he is located in the National Press building, Washington, D. C. His office in Milwaukee is located at 161 West Wisconsin avenue.

"Many Obviously Inconsistent."

"We had to throw out a good many of the questionnaires returned because they were obviously inconsistent," said Henson pleasantly. "Apparently these were filled out as a joke by drunken Legionnaires.

"Then, too, the questioning was done by students of Marquette university who were inexperienced in conducting polls. Results may have been affected by the fact that the poll was sponsored by an organization which has taken one side in a highly controversial issue.

"I don't want you to be confused by the fact that we are making our office in the old headquarters of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. This is sponsored by the Fight for Freedom committee—the militant organization."

BRITISH PREDICT RAIDS ON ROME AS CAIRO REPRISAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 17 [Wednesday].—Bombing of Rome by the British air force "undoubtedly will begin in the next few days" if British authorities decide that the axis bombing of Cairo, Egypt, yesterday was deliberate, the Daily Telegraph said today, adding that "plans for heavy, sustained raiding of Rome have been ready for some time."

Thirty-nine persons were killed and 93 wounded in the Cairo raid. It was the first air attack on that Egyptian capital, a city holy to the Moslem world, and it was recalled that an official statement by the prime minister last April 18 threatened the "systematic bombing of Rome," which would be "continued until the end of the war" if Athens, Greece, or Cairo were "molested" by axis bombers.

Cairo dispatches said that both high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped and that despite the number of casualties, property damage was slight. Fourteen fire bombs and flares fell in the garden of one of Cairo's American schools, causing slight damage, but no Americans were hurt. The principal and other American staff members, including Miss Sarah B. Meloy, 1575 Florence avenue, Evanston, Ill., were in a shelter.

[A Berlin dispatch said German bombers attacked the Cairo airport, hitting hangars and a munitions dump.]

BREAK WITH NAZI REGIME URGED BY PROWAR GROUP

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—The Committee to Defend America tonight called on the administration for immediate severance of diplomatic relations with Germany, together with "positive action" in collaboration with the British navy to deliver munitions and supplies "all the way to their ports of destination."

A new statement of basic policy, issued by the group's policy board headed by Lewis W. Douglas, former director of the budget, also demanded rejection of any agreement with Japan "which would sacrifice American principles" and urged resistance to any Japanese conquest of Singapore, the Dutch East Indies, Thailand, or the Siberian maritime provinces.

Including for the first time a stand for "one man control of defense production," the group also urged the administration to adopt these points:

Prevent axis powers from obtaining control of Atlantic islands or African bases; use American Garrisons on outlying bases when needed for the defense of the Americas; recognize the Free French in regions they control and extend to them full lend-lease aid.

African Savages Puzzled by Warring of Christians

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 16 (AP).—The trouble with being a Christian missionary in Africa, says O. U. Giddings, who is one, is that you have a difficult time explaining the white man's war to the black "savages." Missionaries have taught the evil of wars between tribes for years, said Giddings, who has been in Central Africa since 1925 for the Seventh Day Adventists. The natives, denied firearms, cannot understand the ways of the great, white, Christian nations.

WOOD RETORTS TO KNOX ON HIS U-BOAT CHARGE

Fish Accuses Roosevelt of Fraud in Ship Speech.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman of the America First committee, yesterday lashed back at Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox for the latter's attack on the noninterventionist group.

Addressing the Legion convention Monday in Milwaukee, Knox attacked the 'merica First committee with an assertion that in commenting upon a clash between the U. S. S. Greer, a destroyer, and a German submarine, the committee chose to believe the U-boat commander.

Gen. Wood's Reply.

In answer, Gen. Wood said:

"Secretary of the Navy Knox has stated that the America First committee has made a statement indicating that it would take the word of a German naval officer as against the word of an American naval officer. This is not true. The national committee has never made any statement on this subject, nor has any such statement to my knowledge been made by any one representing the committee.

"The national committee of America First would always believe an American naval officer, but not necessarily the secretary of the navy who, while a government official, still draws a large salary from the paper he controls."

It is reported that Knox takes $60,000 annually from the Chicago Daily News in addition to the $15,000 he draws as a member of the Roosevelt cabinet.

Milwaukeean Rips Knox.

In Milwaukee, Lansing Hoyt, chairman of the America First committee there, also replied to Knox.

"While speaking to the American Legion convention, Secretary of the Navy Knox took time out to attack the America First committee," said Hoyt. "He called us a 'curious organization'

"I doubt if a better word could have been found. We certainly are curious to know why Secretary Knox is doing his utmost to push America into war. We are curious to know how the colonel can come all out for war in view of his earlier statement that 'President Roosevelt is unreliable' in times of peace, and that his leadership 'in time of war would be disastrous' for America. Whose program are we to take, that of Mr. Secretary Knox or that of Legionnaire Col. Frank Knox?"

Fish Assails President.

In an interview given at the Chicago headquarters of America First yesterday, Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., a Republican, who represents President Roosevelt's home district in New York state, accused the President of building a fraudulent war issue out of German attacks upon former American ships now flying the Panamanian flag.

"Our government has no responsibility whatever for ships turned over to foreign governments and sailing under other flags," Fish said. "They were transferred to foreign registry in order to circumvent the neutrality act, and we lost all control over them with the transfer.

"I have just left the American Legion's national convention in Milwaukee, where I found the Legion 100 per cent for the strongest possible national defense, but divided on foreign policy.

"Altho tremendous pressure is being brought to bear by a barrage of administration speakers, I do not believe that the Legion will adopt any pro-war or offensive war resolution, as it would obviously be against the wishes of 80 per cent of the people and of a large majority of rank and file members of the Legion itself."

LINDBERGH SPEECH AT DES MOINES IS CALLED UNAMERICAN

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 16 (AP).—Herbert K. Hyde, state chairman of the America First committee, said tonight that Charles A. Lindbergh's Des Moines, Ia., speech was "un-American."

"Col. Lindbergh's attempt to divide America into racial or religious groups by making charges against the Jews of America is un-American and should be subjected to the most vicious criticism," Hyde said. "I am unalterably opposed to his views in that respect.

"It's my opinion that he did not reflect the views of the America First committee in his speech. If he did, then I'm going to get out of the America First committee."

HOOVER OFFERS PLAN FOR UNITY WITHOUT WAR

Sees Nazis Doomed Even if Not Beaten in Battle.

Herbert Hoover last night predicted the collapse of the Hitler régime, even tho the Nazis suffer no military defeat, and at the same time urged a course of action which, he said, would lead to national unity. He spoke from Chicago in an address over the Columbia Broadcasting system.

Early in his speech he said that he spoke "solely for myself, not in behalf of any group or organization." He said he did not doubt the patriotism of any race or creed in this country, and asserted "I do not believe in smearing men or in attacks on groups."

The former President's unity program includes:

An impregnable defense for this country, no more name calling, a minimum interference with economic freedom by preparedness policies, giving of aid to democracies alone, halting provocative steps which might lead to war, and no warlike steps taken or agreements made without consent of congress.

"War Weakens Dictators."

"A cold survey of the world situation will show that the dangers of ultimate totalitarian success are very much less than ever 10 weeks ago," he said. "The fratricidal war between Hitler and Stalin is daily weakening both dictators. Hitler may gain from Russia some supplies, but he now faces all the rest of Europe exhausted of its prewar stocks of food and material. He has kindled behind him a consuming fire of hate. His kingdom cannot live even tho he has no military defeat on the continent."

He then said that England was daily growing more impregnable to attack, the western hemisphere cannot be stormed by Hitler, and that "under any American policy, in either Europe or Japan, if we have common sense we will concentrate upon building our production, give Britain her tools and await developments, both east and west."

Course Unapproved by Congress.

He added that President Roosevelt "is right to protest at sinking American merchant ships without adequate protection of the crews, even tho they were all carrying contraband. But the President's policy of edging our warships into danger zones, of sending American merchant ships with contraband raises the most critical of all questions. These steps to war are unapproved and undeclared by congress. That is not in accord with the spirit of representative government, and it should be remembered that these incidents are the consequence of violating the spirit of the neutrality act."

"There are other ways," he continued, "than going into this war to secure reparation for transgressing of our just rights and respect for them."

Hoover then spoke of the now famous "four freedoms," and said that freedom of speech and expression and a fifth freedom—economic freedom—already are in danger in this country.

He then told of what the last war cost in poverty and want in this country, and said that "underfed, underhoused, underclothed, and undereducated people are the inevitable product of war."

Outlines a Policy.

In conclusion he summed up the bases on which he believed American policy should be predicated. They include:

1. If we prepare we cannot be invaded nor our economic life be dangerously impaired.
2. England can prevent invasion of her shores if we give her the tools, and even warships, without sending our boys to death, either on ships or land.
3. Hitler is on the way to be crushed by the vicious forces within his own règime.
4. We have proved by bitter experience that it is a futility for us to try to impose freedom and justice upon the world by war.
5. The ideas and ideals of the west can grow and spread abroad by our demonstration in our own country. They will die in the world if freedom shall become weakened or die in America.

Neither isolation nor intervention is possible or wise, he said, "and we should preserve our strength that unexhausted we may give real aid to reconstruction and stabilizing of peace when Hitler collapses of his own overreaching."

Threatened

HEDY LAMARR.

Los Angeles, Sept. 16 (AP).—Declaring he had smoked two narcotic cigarets and "don't know just what happened," Sidney McDonald Buchanan, 22 years old, of Baltimore, Md., pleaded guilty in Federal court today to a charge of sending two extortion letters to film actress Hedy Lamarr, demanding $500. Judge Paul J. McCormick reserved sentence until Oct. 21. He was arrested in Baltimore Aug. 5 after leaving a job in an aircraft factory here.

ARMY TO DEFER THOSE JOINING BRITISH FORCES

Draft boards in Illinois yesterday were ordered to grant occupational deferment from military service to any draft registrants enlisting in the British or Canadian armies, the British Civilian Technical corps, or in the medical services of either force. The order was sent from national selective service headquarters in Washington, D. C. Previously locals had been instructed merely not to report such registrants as delinquents.

The registrants thus deferred will be placed in class 2-B, "men essential to the national health, safety, or interest in the sense that a serious interruption or delay in such activity is likely to impede the national defense program."

Another feature of the order is that registrants will not have to show evidence of enlistment in order to receive deferment. The names of all men claiming to have enlisted for such service will be checked thru a master list of enlistees, to be furnished to national draft headquarters by the British government.

PRESIDENT ACTS TO CUT RED TAPE ON LEND-LEASE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 [Special]. — President Roosevelt today moved to eliminate one of the White House bottlenecks in the lend-lease program by delegating to Edward R. Stettinius, lend-lease administrator, powers to sign the Presidential signature to lend-lease authorizations.

This would cut from 30 to 15 days the period elapsing between a British or Chinese requisition for aid and actual authorization of assistance. Mr. Roosevelt said he had given no consideration to asking the British to cut red tape in a similar fashion.

The delegation of authority to sign the lend-lease papers was only one of several steps to cut red tape, Mr. Roosevelt said. The other steps cut the period of time between application and allocation to 16 days and the delegation of authority to sign cut another 24 hours off the time lapse. He said he did not believe further cuts can be made.

HINT POPE BALKS AT F. D. R. BID TO CALL WAR 'JUST'

Answer Believed Given in Parley with Taylor.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Sept. 16.—Pope Pius XII. today gave Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal envoy to the Vatican, his reply to a message from the President and it appears on good Vatican authority to have been a polite "no." It is understood that the pope rejected a request that he declare that the war against Nazi-ism is a "just war."

However, the pope's reply was believed to have been so worded that it in no sense indicated papal favor toward the Nazis or opposition to the American attitude. The problem, it was believed, primarily concerned the pope's inability to take sides and an unwillingness, on doctrinal grounds, to consider any war as just.

This information did not come from Taylor or from the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Luigi Maglione. However, the pope's reply has been in process of formation for five days and much talk about it has been heard in high Vatican circles.

Hint Aid for Church in Soviet.

It was understood in these circles that the President's letter to the pope, before asking that he define the war against Germany as "a just war," promised that the American government would do all in its power to bring about religious liberty in Russia after the war, altho no promises of success could be made.

These points are understood to have been part of the long letter, which contained many cordial and courteous references to the pope's work for peace, the high regard in which Americans hold it, etc.

The pope's reply, it was said, contains many words of kindness and cordiality toward the President and the American people. There is understood to be gratitude for President Roosevelt's promise that he would try to sway Moscow's policy toward religious freedom. But all these friendly expressions simply cover a rather firm refusal to take sides in the war, Vatican observers said.

Highlights of Pope's Answer.

There appear to be three main points in the pope's answer.

1. That on a strictly doctrinal theoretical basis there is no such thing as "a just war," and the Holy See cannot, therefore, take such a stand.
2. The United States and Britain have doctrines, interests, and political aims of their own; the Holy See has doctrines, interests, and political aims of its own.
3. The doctrines, interests, and political aims run parallel, but the very fact of parallelism means they do not and cannot meet.

Say F. D. R. Asked Too Much.

In Vatican circles it was said that the President asked too much and that the pope was placed in an impossible situation considering his responsibilities and the policies he and the Holy See feel must be followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will see the pope again Friday to say good-by. They will leave by plane on Monday for the United States.

REVEAL F.D.R.'S SON GOT WILLKIE INTO MOVIE POST

Report Choice Dictated by Capt. Jimmy.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—Wendell Willkie's selection as counsel for the motion picture industry in the pending senate war propaganda investigation was dictated by Capt. James Roosevelt, son of the President, members of the senate committee said today.

Committee members have been told by representatives of the industry, it was learned, that some film company executives and their regular lawyers strongly resisted Willkie's employment as special counsel for a reputed fee of $100,000. The regular movie lawyers are said to have expressed resentment of Willkie's japery and clownish antics, as well as his efforts to inject the issue of anti-Semitism into the inquiry. Some of the regular lawyers for the film companies have gone so far as to offer inside information on Hollywood affairs to committee members, it was learned.

Producer's Aid Disclosed.

It is known that at least one top ranking producer and one famous director are quietly coöperating with the noninterventionist senators on the interstate commerce subcommittee, headed by D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho], which is conducting the investigation.

According to the story told the senate investigators by these representatives of the industry, the President's son Jimmy, presumably with the approval of the White House, demanded that Willkie be made counsel for the industry. Young Roosevelt, a reserve captain now on active duty with the marine corps, has been a motion picture producer in his own right, altho less successful in that field than in the political insurance business.

Story of Deal Told.

The senate investigator said Jimmy first went to John Hertz, Chicago and New York capitalist, with his demand that Willkie be made counsel for the motion picture industry. Hertz is a director of Paramount Pictures, Inc. Hertz and Jimmy, it was said, enlisted the services of Harry Warner of Warner of Warner Brothers, who defied all opposition within the industry and put over the deal for Willkie.

According to the senate investigators, the film company executives have not been unanimous on the question of producing war propaganda pictures. Louis B. Mayer, the guiding genius of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, has consistently opposed the production of propaganda films on the ground that it would result in irreparable harm to the industry, according to the senate investigators. M.-G.-M., however, is controled by Loew's, Inc., and Mayer was overruled, the investigators said. Mayer is expected to be a witness before the inquiry is completed.

President Roosevelt said at his press conference today he had not been aware of war propaganda in the movies. Asked whether the government had encouraged pressure for inclusion of propaganda in the output of the film industry, he replied that government was a broad word. But he said he had done nothing of the kind and had no knowledge that any of his subordinates had.

NAVY DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL WARNS OF TREND TOWARD WAR

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, said today that "events of the last few days strongly indicate that war may be forced upon the United States."

Speaking at graduation exercises for 429 reserve ensigns aboard the training ship Prairie State, Bard said that German submarines were coming ever closer to our shores and that four engined bombing planes had sunk ships within a few miles of land in this hemisphere.

Among the graduates was R. M. Morgenthau, whose father, Henry Morgenthau, the secretary of the treasury, handed him his commission.

BLOW AT CRIMEA SEEN AS NAZIS CROSS DNIEPER

Berlin Claims Broad Push East of River.

BERLIN, Sept. 16 (AP).—A broad German push eastward from the lower Dnieper river was reported by Adolf Hitler's headquarters today.

The high command said German land troops strongly supported by the air force established bridgeheads on the Dnieper, held and widened them in several days of fierce fighting against soviet tanks and infantry, and now had thrust on to the east. Some reports said they already were penetrating the Nogaisk steppe, indicating a possible move to isolate the heavily fortified Crimean peninsula from the mainland.

[A soviet official spokesman denied reports that the Germans in the south were advancing toward Perekop, at the entrance to the Crimea.]

Emphasize Dnieper Crossing.

Karl Eckert, a German war correspondent, said the Fuehrer's forces had been streaming across the Dnieper for at least a week, while the Red air force strove repeatedly to destroy the temporary bridges spanning that vital watercourse.

An authorized military spokesman said the Dnieper bridgeheads were established by keeping the Russian positions under artillery and air bombardment for days on end.

Tell of Clearer Weather.

A Wilhelmstrasse commentator said the Russians had considered themselves safe behind the lower river, 1,000 yards wide and 18 feet deep. He admitted poor weather had held the Germans back for a while, but said the skies had cleared.

The railway traversing the narrow isthmus to the Crimea already has been "broken in many places" by German bombardment, and an important railway station has been hit, according to DNB, the official news agency. Soviet fortifications in the area have been bombed repeatedly. Shipping in the Black sea off the Crimea also has been pounded.

[Reliable informants in Ankara, Turkey, said that German sources expected Nazi forces to reach the Russian Caucasus oil fields within 30 days and surmised that German preparations in Bulgarian ports were directed toward the eventual problem of supplying those troops across the Black sea.]

Victory Over Three Red Armies.

The high command reported in a special bulletin the defeat of the soviet 11th, 27th, and 34th armies south of Lake Ilmen. It said nine divisions were "completely annihilated," nine others crushed with "the bloodiest of losses," 53,000 men captured, and 320 tanks and 695 cannon either captured or smashed. The position is in the north central sector, roughly 150 miles south of Leningrad.

[Counting a division strength as 15,000, this would imply a Russian loss of 270,000 men.]

Around Leningrad, DNB said, German infantry broke thru stubbornly defended bunkers [field forts] on Sunday, putting 91 out of action and capturing 800 Russians.

[A Stockholm dispatch by Reuters, British news agency, reported the Germans had captured the island of Vormsi, which lies between the Estonian mainland and the island of Dagoe. The Russians still hold fortified Dagoe and Oesel.]

Panama Protests to Nazis Over Sinking of 2 Ships

Nazis Push Eastward in South Russia

GERMANY HUNTS OLD BOOTS FOR ITS LABOR ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—An urgent appeal to all Berlin households to contribute old boots within the next four days for the "soldiers of the home front" has been issued by the local leaders of the Nazi party. Pamphlets were dropped into every letterbox of the capital requesting housewives to place the boots at the disposal of the collecting agents.

Marching boots, riding boots, ski and mountaineering boots, the pamphlet declared, are badly needed by the "soldiers of labor" while their comrades are at the front.

To make the proposition more attractive to potential donors, thrifty housewives were informed that each pair of boots will be assessed by "experts" and the donor recompensed in cash. In addition, a certificate of purchase good for a new pair of street shoes, house shoes, or sports footwear will be granted, regardless of how many pairs of shoes the donor possesses.

NAZIS CONFISCATE DUTCH RULERS' PALACES, LANDS

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands, Sept. 16 (AP).—German authorities today ordered confiscation of all property within the German occupied Netherlands belonging to living members of the house of Orange and Nassau, headed by Queen Wilhelmina, now in exile in Britain.

Queen Wilhelmina has palaces at The Hague, a summer residence at Apeldoorn, and Dam palace at Amsterdam. Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard have a palace at Soestdyk where their children were born. They also have several farms and other property.

Where occupation authorities do not need the seized properties they will be used for "purposes of general benefit," the confiscating order stated.

WAVES OF PLANES ON WAY TO REDS MAY BOMB NAZIS

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP).—Mass delivery of long range bombers direct from the United Kingdom to Russia, with tons of bombs being dumped on Berlin and other German cities en route, was forecast tonight by persons close to the Anglo-American missions to Moscow.

These flights would require less than 1,500 miles of flying, only a few hundred miles farther than the present round trip the royal air force makes between Britain and Berlin.

The American and British missions to Moscow will leave "soon," but the date of their departure was not disclosed.

W. Averell Harriman, head of the American mission, said he would remain in Moscow for weeks.

REDS SMASH NEW HITLER ATTEMPT TO SEIZE ISLAND

Landing Force Wiped Out, Moscow Claims.

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 [Wednesday] (AP).—A second Nazi attempt to land troops by air and sea on the Russian-held Estonian island of Oesel was reported smashed today by Red defenders.

"As a result of two days' fierce fighting," the soviet communique said, "the bulk of the enemy marine and air landing parties was annihilated and the remnants thrown into the sea."

Many transports, small craft and air ferry planes were used in the second German attempt to storm the island after the soviets reported destroying four German transports totaling 28,000 tons and one destroyer in the first attempt last Saturday.

Part of Leningrad Defense.

Altogether Red fleet units and shore batteries sank a total of 30-odd Nazi naval craft including small vessels and launches in the Baltic and Arctic seas. The transports sunk off Oesel contained tanks as well as troops, the Russians said. Three transports were sunk in the Arctic.

Heavy fighting along the entire front continued with Red airmen attacking en masse against Nazi armored divisions, artillery nests, and German airdromes, the communique added. Balcic, Rumanian Black sea port near the Bulgarian border, was bombed.

Citizens Back Up Army.

Before Leningrad, the soviets said today that big Red tanks had smashed into German positions destroying 48 Nazi tanks and armored cars, 27 guns, and 13 mortars.

On a rain soddened front around Leningrad regular Red troops were supported by a huge citizen army. In one sector of that front some girl volunteers aided in desperate charges and were said to have dislodged the Germans from a series of fortress islands in the river "N" [presumably the Neva].

Farther to the north—somewhere in the arctic region—soviet forces were declared to have routed a regiment of the 30th German infantry division and to have "inflicted a heavy defeat" on the 19th tank division. German forces driven from a town in this theater, left a battalion and a half of dead.

Denies Advance on Crimea.

During the day, S. A. Lozovsky, the official soviet spokesman, denied reports that the Germans in the south were advancing toward Perekop, at the entrance to the Crimea, and declared Hitler would not be able to achieve a single decisive result before winter.

Some semi-official Russian sources, pointing to the fact that nasty weather already had fallen in the Leningrad area, spoke of the coming winter campaign, which they said would be as disastrous for Adolf Hitler as it was for Napoleon.

"Our people," observed the communist newspaper Pravda, "are entering the winter campaign confidently, stout heartedly, wholly prepared. The thick fog, the whirling snow storm which hold no terror for the physically hardened Russian soldier will do their part toward ensuring the Hitlerite marauders the same fate as the Napoleonic army."

NAVY SAYS ALL CONTRACTS LET FOR 2 SEA NAVY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—The navy department today announced that it has contracted for 2,831 ships, the total authorized by law for the construction of a two ocean navy under a $7,234,262,178 program.

In the making of the announcement the navy department said that a survey of construction revealed "astouding progress in the creation of the greatest array of fighting ships under one flag the world has ever seen."

Of the total number of ships ordered, the navy said that 968 are already building for "the world's mightiest two-ocean navy." The navy did not disclose how many of the 968 ships are beyond the planning stage and actually on ship ways. The navy department lists as under construction any vessel in the blue print stage as well as those actually on ship ways.

Lays 436 Keels.

For 1941 the navy department reports a total of 436 keels were laid for all types of vessels. These are included in the 968 listed as building. Of the 436 vessels only 92 vessels are fighting ships and 344 are auxiliaries. It was said that the 92 fighting vessels have exhausted the facilities of private and government shipyards. Only 354 of the 968 vessels listed as under construction are fighting ships.

The navy department's figures revealed that only 23 of the vessels it has commissioned during the year have been fighting vessels. It is expected that only 28 fighting ships will be built during the year under the 7 billion dollar drive for a two-ocean navy.

Vessels Under Construction.

Sues for Divorce

IDA ANDERSON.

Las Vegas, Nev., Sept. 16 (AP).—Ida Anderson, the former Countess Sensaud de Lavaud of Paris, who was married in Portugal last Jan. 15, to Byron Anderson after she escaped from Paris at the time of Nazi occupation, sued for divorce today. He is a London engineer for the Wright Aeronautical company. She charged him with mental cruelty. Mrs. Anderson gained considerable recognition in Europe as a singer and actress, using the name Yola Lee.

ARMY MAN SAYS WE'LL NEED WAR TO USE SHELLS

The munitions plants the government has in operation will turn out so much material that a "real shooting war" will be needed to use it up, according to Col. Leslie R. Groves of the army's quartermaster department. His remarks were made last night to the convention of the Roadmasters and Maintenance of Way association in the Stevens hotel.

Col. Groves said the plants were being erected only for military purposes and not for conversion to civilian use.

Mr. Green Finds a Feast—but Mrs. Green Is Dubious

The Robert Green family at 6512 Langley avenue were still trying to decide yesterday whether to eat a giant fungus, about a foot in diameter, which Green found Monday while on a trip to the country. He thought it was a mushroom, but since it also looked like a toadstool Mrs. Green finally decided not to put it on the table until some one had determined whether it was poisonous. All they're certain about is that it sure is big.

FLASHES IN SKY DEPICT BATTLE FOR LENINGRAD

Tribune Writer Tells of Scene at Night.

The Conflict Comes Nearer.

It seemed a long time before the noise of the guns came across the water to the beach, but sound carries well across water and the din brought the conflict nearer than the ghostly rumbling and flashes from Leningrad.

Back in the forest the great Finnish guns began to speak, answering the Russian shells which had been falling. The forests chop up sound and the detonations seemed muffled.

The display over Kronstadt lasted only a few minutes and then the planes, having unloaded their bombs, went back to their air field for fresh cargo. The bombs seemed of great size, even larger than those I heard in the winter war falling at Valamo, the Greek Orthodox monastery on Lake Ladoga which the communists converted into another naval base.

Towards midnight there was a lull. Leningrad's burning factories and buildings cast their glow up into the sky. The glow sometimes faded and then grew bright again.

Heavy Coat Comfortable.

Altho the night was clear, there was a raw wind blowing which made a heavy coat comfortable. Less than 30 miles to the east almost 2,000,000 women and children were starving in a besieged city without hope of rescue or reënforcements. Dictator Stalin in the Moscow Kremlin has ordered that Leningrad be defended house by house to the last human being.

Rowing small boats, refugees have escaped over Lake Ladoga to Finnish positions. They tell how the Red army, seeking to improve its position when the storming of the city begins, has dynamited buildings which are in the way of their artillery.

They also said there has been no bread on sale in Leningrad since the last days of August, that the city is without electric power, and that many of the population, especially the children, are dying of exposure. This, they say, is because Leningrad authorities instead of removing the population when they had the opportunity, evacuated the hundreds of villages in the districts west, south, and east of the city into Leningrad itself.

Sleeping in Open Air.

The refugees are sleeping in hallways and in the open air. No public feeding has been organized, for the soviet Red Cross is a primitively constituted body without means to administer material aid.

Before the World war St. Petersburg had 400,000 workers. Before the city was named Leningrad, two-thirds of these had disappeared in war, revolution, and famine. However, by 1927 Leningrad again had reached its prewar industrial population, but not its industrial output.

More and more great plants were established and the city's light industry, manufacturing articles for popular use, was converted into a city of heavy industry, chiefly producing articles of war and industry.

Fuel Hauled Long Distances.

The metal industry, despite the fact that fuel and raw materials had to be hauled from points 500 and more miles away, became the largest, employing 250,000 workers.

The soviet government for many years never published the amount of articles produced by plants or factories. Instead it gave the total output as valued in rubles [which had a nominal value before the war of about 50 cents]. The production of Leningrad's metal industry was last reported as being over 4 billion rubles per year.

Communists mobilized the 600,000 workers of Leningrad's industry and are using them as replacement troops for the Red army. These are in addition to the 30 soviet divisions said to be encircled there.

WOMAN, 79, DIES AFTER FALL.

Mrs. Anna Azallone, 79 years old, died last night in Mother Cabrini hospital of injuries suffered last Friday in a fall in her home at 825 South Ashland avenue.

EXPERTS BELIEVE RUSS WAR WILL LAST ALL WINTER

Call Freezing Climate Aid to Mechanized Forces.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—Altho blitzkrieg warfare has been slowed down on the same path of conquest which brought disaster to Napoleon, military experts here believe the Nazi war against Russia will continue all winter.

These observers expect there will be a lull in the campaign during October when rains probably will tie up the front from the Arctic circle to the Black sea.

However, as soon as freezing weather sets in on the northern front, mechanized warfare will continue in that area. And as soon as rains lift the Germans will continue movements in the south. Observers also believe the German high command will be forced in two weeks to admit that its legions failed to measure up to the task set before them in Russia.

Timetable Is Upset.

When the high command ordered the invasion of Russia June 15, the timetable called for completion of the conquest by Oct. 1, before the onset of the rainy season. Only two weeks of the allotted time remains, and Germany is still some distance from its objective.

Observers here believe that winter will not halt the German invasion. After the ground is frozen in the north, mechanized divisions will be able to operate with even greater ease than at present. The Russo-Finnish war of 1939 was bitterly fought in the face of temperatures as low as 50 degrees below zero. The climate of Russia ranges from snow in the north to palm trees in the south.

Observers attribute the bogging of the Nazi military machine to the excellence of the Russian soldier, the high quality of Russian equipment, and the ability of Russian leadership.

The Russian soldier has performed even better than observers had expected, and Russian equipment, particularly aircraft, has proved to be equal to German equipment.

Leadership Is Surprise.

However, it is in leadership that the Russian forces gave observers their greatest surprise. It had been believed that the Russians would be let down, as they have at all times in the past, by a poor grade of leadership, particularly since the communists killed off the bulk of the nobility, from whose ranks the best of leadership might be expected to come.

In other phases of the current war German soldiers found that all resistance melted when they had an enemy force surrounded. But not so with the Russians. The Russians kept on fighting and often were able to form new lines.

Informed observers rate the courage of the Russian soldier as equal to that of the Nazi invaders, if not superior. The Russians lacked the knowledge acquired by the Germans with experience on several fronts, but they learned rapidly.

Able Direction Seen.

The Russian campaigns of the past few weeks along the middle front before Moscow have been regarded as most ably directed. The Russian high command was said to have made a mistake early in the conflict by concentrating the bulk of its army in the south where they expected the main German drive to come. At that time the Germans drove thru the center. The Russians shifted to meet this attack and then the Germans concentrated on the wings.

Observers emphasized that it has always been the aim of the German army to destroy the Russian army rather than to take fixed objectives. The nearer to the German border the Nazis could smash at Russian forces the easier that task would be, the German high command reasoned.

For this reason it has been felt by observers here that the Russian leadership made a mistake in not withdrawing to a line running almost vertically thru Moscow and then launching a counterattack at the Germans operating along strained lines of communications.

New Rulers in Iran

(Story in adjoining column.)

The crown prince of Iran, who is reported from Teheran to have succeeded his father, Shar Riza Pahlevi, whose abdication was announced in parliament.

Extent of the original penetration of Iran by British and Russian armies. Allied forces last night were reported marching toward the capital, and were to enter Teheran today.

ALLIES MARCH ON IRAN CAPITAL AS SHAH ABDICATES

British and Red Troops to Enter Teheran Today.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Joint occupation of Teheran, capital of Iran [Persia], by British and Russian troops tomorrow was forecast here tonight.

Ex-Shah of Iran.

Diplomatic circles said that even the abdication of Shah Riza Pahlevi may not satisfy the allies. Furthermore, these circles doubted that the shah's nomination of his son, the shahpur [crown prince] Mohammed Riza Pahlevi, as his heir to the throne will be accepted by the British and Russians.

Russian armored cars neared Teheran tonight. They left Kazvin, only 90 miles away, at 3 a. m. The British headed for the capital from Sulanbad, 200 miles to the southwest.

Shah Quits Capital.

The 63 year old shah, immediately after announcing his decision to step down from the throne because of "ill health," left on the road toward Ishavan, upon which the British are advancing upon Teheran.

The British and Russian march on Teheran is being carried out in accordance with plans drawn up in London during the last week. The occupation of the city was described as necessary "when it was seen that the Iranian government, altho giving ample evidence of good will, obviously did not possess the necessary authority to insist on prompt execution of the allies' requirements," particularly the rounding up and handing over of the Germans in Iran.

Assail Abdicated Shah.

In order to cut off Iran from diplomatic contact with the axis the British and Russians were reported to be demanding that Iran sever relations with Germany, Italy, Hungary, and Rumania.

Sir Reader William Bullard, British minister to Iran, and his Russian colleague were said to be in close contact with the Iranian premier, Ali Furanghi, on the question of a successor to the abdicated shah. The British press maintained that the former shah abdicated in anticipation of growing demands from the people whom he has "exploited and oppressed" since taking over the throne in 1926.

The British attitude toward the new shah designate was suggested in allegations that the 21 year old youth inherits his father's faults and unpopularity.

"From a spoiled child he grew into a vicious young man—arrogant, obstinate, cruel, and greedy," said the Daily Herald. "The Iranian Constitutional party certainly will not accept him as shah. Nor could we or the Russians feel any confidence in any government of which he is the head."

Possesses Great Fortune.

The abdicated shah, creator of modern Iran, was at one time a peasant, tailor's apprentice, and a Cossack. He possesses a great personal fortune.

Altho almost illiterate, he was reported at one time to have $150,000,000 on deposit in American and European banks, and to have an annual income of $10,000,000 from his Iranian fields and factories.

Among other projects he built the $180,000,000 railway from the Persian gulf to the Caspian sea, which now provides a good land route for the movement of supplies to Russia.

His son, the shah-designate, was married in 1939 to Fawzia, sister of King Farouk of Egypt. They have an infant daughter, born last October.

RAID ON U. S. SHIP 'LIKE AN INFERNO,' CAPTAIN RELATES

AN EGYPTIAN PORT, Sept. 16 (AP).—The German bombing attack on the 6,997 ton American frieghter Arkansan last Friday was "like Dante's Inferno while it lasted," the vessel's skipper, Capt. Paul Jones of Gloucester, Mass., said today. "But it didn't last long," the captain said.

[Previous reports have stated the attack was at Suez after the ship's arrival from the United States. Two of the crew of 38 were wounded.]

"We pulled in Thursday night," Skipper Jones related. "They dropped a series of bombs right across us. One fell off the starboard but it was the next one, just off port, that did the damage. There was a blast that ripped the barometer and other instruments apart, then there was a shower of steel all over the ship."

The Arkansan has some holes on the port side which must be repaired before sailing. The superstructure also bears numerous scars.

TELLS OF HEAVY HAMBURG BLOWS IN RAF BOMBING

BERLIN, Sept. 16 (AP).—A Hamburg propaganda office communique tonight said small damage was done to the city's industrial plants in last night's raid by the Royal air force and "in no case has loss of production resulted."

The newspaper Hamburger Fremdenblatt, however, said destruction in one thickly settled residential street was "staggering." "To the right and left houses caved in, and form a disorderly pile of ruins," it said.

A 7,300 ton British tanker was destroyed in a daylight air attack west of the Hebrides, the German high command announced.

British Renew Raids.

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP).—A powerful armada of RAF planes swept over the Dover strait late today in an extension of last night's 200 plane raid upon German occupied France and the northwest German ports of Hamburg, Bremen, Cuxhaven, and Wilhelmshaven. Hamburg was attacked for hours, the air ministry said. The loss of nine planes was admitted.

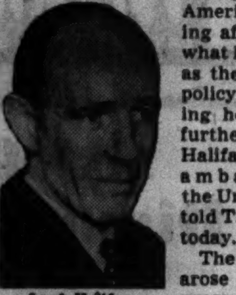
SEES BRITISH O. K. FOR NEW U. S. SEA AIMS AFTER WAR

Extended Frontier to Be Approved—Halifax.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The British government will be agreeable to America continuing after the war what he described as the defense policy of "extending her frontiers further out," Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, told THE TRIBUNE today.



Lord Halifax.

The question arose during a press conference which the British ambassador, who still is a member of the war cabinet, gave at the ministry of information where, among other things, he said that President Roosevelt's foreign policy "is in the true lineage of American thought."

Says World is Shrinking.

"From the time the first early settlers existed in the United States they were perpetually pushing their land boundaries out, always extending their frontiers in the interest of a great measure of security and that process, we all know, was continued westward until the sea was reached," Lord Halifax said.

"Now what we are watching in the world today is a rather curious paradox of the world shrinking, being made smaller, and the necessity forcing itself upon the minds of the American statesmen of pushing their defense boundaries further out. That is the explanation of the President's action in regard to Iceland as an essential outpost of American defense."

To specific question as to whether the British government would be agreeable that America continue this policy of extending her frontiers as a defense measure, Halifax replied:

"We already have shown that the defense of America and the defense of the British commonwealth are essentially a single problem from the action we took in regard to providing them with bases in the West Indies and so on.

Urges Close Partnership.

"I should look forward, as no doubt his majesty's government would, to the United States and the British commonwealth working in as close a partnership as possible after the war in the whole field, defense included."

There have been reports that Halifax may not return to America and that he is scheduled for reappointment as viceroy to India. However, in the opening sentence of the statement which he made in answering previous questions he told of how he had given his colleagues in the government a picture of the United States scene.

"And I shall, when I go back to America, which I hope will be before long, give them such a picture as I have been able to form on how things look here after being away for some eight months," he said.

He said that the United States is making great strides in production and expressed satisfaction that when "the industrial potentialities" which he had seen "get geared and really going the whole problem of production is going to look very different."

Tells of Aid to Russia.

Halifax explained how the British government is doing its best to aid Russia in every way and in addition to supplies mentioned the bombing attacks which are going on regularly across the English channel as part of this assistance.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox's speech before the American Legion, he said, reflected the opinion of the President, who in his latest speech "made it clear that the United States navy had from that time definite orders to take action."

[Knox announced that the United States navy "will provide protection as adequate as we can make it for ships of every flag carrying lend-aid supplies" between America and waters "adjacent to Iceland." The speech was interpreted as announcement that American warships will serve as convoys.]

Altho reiterating the argument that it is up to America to make its own decision about entering the war, Lord Halifax in a radio broadcast tonight said that the American people "are realizing how closely the fight affects their lives."

"At any moment they may have to make further vital decisions," he said.

FRITZ WIEDEMANN QUITS ARGENTINE FOR JAPAN TODAY

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 16 (AP).—The Argentine foreign ministry announced tonight that Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, former German consul general at San Francisco, would depart tomorrow on the Japanese ship Manila Maru en route to his new diplomatic mission for Adolf Hitler in the far east.

His early departure will preclude any questioning by the Argentine congressional committee investigating subversive activities, which has kept him under surveillance since he arrived by plane from Rio de Janeiro last Sunday on a transit visa. The committee today declared that a congressional resolution censuring Edmund von Therman, the German ambassador, for abuse of diplomatic privileges requires his ejection by Acting President Ramon Castillo.

See U. S.-British Assent.

New York, Sept. 16 [Special].—It was reported here today that Capt. Fritz Wiedemann's mission to the orient has the passive assent of the British and American governments. Wiedemann was ousted from the United States last July. Informed sources said he would not have ventured to return to the western hemisphere last week unless he had been assured that the United States would not invoke the Pan-American treaty which calls for automatic expulsion from all western hemisphere countries of any diplomat excluded from any such country or that the British government would not remove him from a ship bound for Japan and China.

It is believed that Wiedemann is slated to play a dominant rôle in peace negotiations reported to be afoot among the United States, China, Japan, and the Japanese puppet government in Nanking, China.

10 MORE FRENCH HOSTAGES SHOT BY NAZIS IN PARIS

Total Now 21; Another German Wounded.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Sept. 16.—The French ministry of information tonight disclosed the names of 10 French hostages shot by the Germans in reprisal for three street disturbances in Paris in which four German soldiers were injured.

The 10 were shot at dawn yesterday. Five were Jews and five Aryans, the oldest 72 and the youngest 19.

Their victims were announced as Rene Lucien Manteron, 21; Rene Joli, 41; Lucien Leon Clement, 29; Albert Valentin Gokelaere, 26; Andre Bonnin, 24; David Libermann, 19; C. Mager-Opal, 50; Isidor Bernheimn, 72; Henri Beckermann, 21, and Lucien Blum, 62.

Nazis Reveal Offenses.

The acts for which the 10 were executed, the German command said, were shooting at an officer and at a mobilized railroad official, striking an officer on the head, and the mobbing of a soldier by four youths. The offenses were said to have taken place on Sept. 6, 10, and 11.

The executions brought the number of those on whom the dealth penalty has been inflicted by the occupying authorities in Paris in the last month to 21. Three hostages were shot on Sept. 6. A few days before, eight were shot after being condemned by a German court martial, three as spies and five as communist agitators.

Three Executed by French.

In addition to these 21, a French court martial in Paris condemned three communist agitators and they were guillotined.

Only a few hours after the 10 executions, a Nazi noncommissioned officer was shot in the back and gravely wounded last night near the Gare de L'Est in Paris. Shots were fired today at a German soldier in a Paris subway station but did not hit him.

The 22 year old son of Col. Alfred Heurteaux was kidnapped in Paris on Sept. 8 and is still missing, it was revealed. His father is a vice president of the French legion recently made France's only political party.

More somber days may be in store.

The special tribunal for the defense of the state, set up last week, was instituted and the magistrates were sworn in at Paris today. It was reported that among its first cases will be that of Pierre Colette, "Free Frenchman" who shot former Vice Premier Pierre Laval and Marcel Deat, advocates of collaboration with the Germans.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: One Way Street

BRITISH MONARCH, EXILED RULERS HONOR SERB KING

Celebrate as Peter II. Comes of Age.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The greatest gathering of royalty, heads of the allied governments, and members of the diplomatic corps since the war began today celebrated at St. Paul's cathedral the coming of age of Peter II., the "boy king" of Jugo-Slavia, who was 18 on Sept. 6.

King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth led in the prayers conducted by the archbishop of Canterbury, who was assisted by representatives of the Greek Orthodox church and the churches of the other allied states.

The gathering included, besides the British sovereigns and King Peter, who was accompanied by his mother, Queen Marie, King Haakon VII. of Norway, Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxemburg, Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz of Poland, President Eduard Benes of Czecho-Slovakia, Gen. Charles de Gaulle of the "Free French," the acting heads in London of the other allied governments, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, members of the British cabinet, British dominion representatives, and practically the entire diplomatic corps, including Russian Ambassador Ivan Maisky and American Ambassador John G. Winant.

War Services Represented.

Present, too, were representatives of the fighting forces, including Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, first sea lord; Air Chief Marshal Sir Charles Portal, and General Sir John Dill, chief of the imperial general staff.

King George and Queen Elizabeth headed a procession from the chapel of SS. George and Michael, to seats in front of the altar rails. King Peter, in a naval uniform, and his mother walked immediately behind them, followed by his two younger brothers, Princes Tomislav and Andrei. The duchess of Luxemburg walked with the king of Norway, and the Polish and Czecho-Slovakian presidents walked side by side behind them.

English Adopt "Peter's Cause."

King George sat with King Peter on his left and Queen Elizabeth was on his right. The service began with the choir chanting the litany, which included the asking of blessings for members of the British royal family and King Peter. Prayers were said in English and Greek.

The archbishop of Canterbury, Cosmo Gordon Lang, in his address said the celebration was a "sign that the English nation and the English church have taken his [Peter's] and the cause of his people to their hearts."

VERMONT COUNTS U. S. AT WAR, WILL PAY $10 BONUS

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 16 (AP).—Vermont, always the rugged individualist, regards itself as officially at war.

Both branches of the state legislature adopted a resolution today declaring the United States has been in "armed conflict" since President Roosevelt's speech of last Thursday in which he ordered the navy to strike first at axis warships entering American defensive waters.

This action makes operative a law providing for payment of a $10 monthly bonus to each Vermonter in the army, navy, and marine corps in the advent of armed conflict. A sum of $500,000 was appropriated to meet the bonuses.

A Sour Note

J. S. Gibbons (left), president of laundry whose trucks are equipped with musical horns, exhibiting one of the pieces in Traffic court. With him is Joseph Radic, one of his drivers, who was arrested for tooting the horn.

Motorists who have turned their cars into band wagons by installing so called musical horns yesterday heard rumblings of possible trouble. Judge John Gutknecht in Traffic court announced he may have a sour note to add to the subject tomorrow.

Police have received many complaints and the anti-noise campaign is on. "This Is the Way We Wash Our Clothes" is the tune in Judge Gutknecht's court. Other leaders in the horn hit parade include "The Campbells Are Coming," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," and "How Dry I Am."

Policeman Jack Maiss of the traffic section described the arrest of Joseph Radic, driver of one of the Quality Wet Wash laundry's 50 trucks which are now equipped with the devices.

"On Aug. 19 on Yale avenue at 67th street I saw this truck," Policeman Maiss testified. "There wasn't any traffic but he blew his horn twice."

Up stepped J. S. Gibbons, president of the laundry, with a horn. He pushed the button and out tumbled the first eight notes of the nursery rhyme.

The judge said he would decide the matter tomorrow.

JOURNALIST GETS LIFE TERM AS FOE OF QUISLING

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 16 [via Berlin] (AP).—Frederick Ramm, a Norwegian journalist accused of fomenting opposition to the Quisling government, was sentenced to life imprisonment today as the courts continued to deal with disturbing elements after a state of civil siege at Oslo was lifted. School authorities were notified that their institutions might be closed if there was any indication that they were giving encouragement to communistic elements.

WINDSORS TO PAY THE ROOSEVELTS A VISIT SEPT. 25

Duke and Duchess on Way to Ranch.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—The duke of Windsor and his American born duchess will be guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt at luncheon Sept. 25, the White House announced today. It will be the first meeting between the duchess, the former Wallis Warfield of Baltimore, and the Roosevelts, altho the duke has met the President on several occasions.

Stephen T. Early, Presidential secretary, said the luncheon will be incidental to the duke's passage en route from his wartime post as governor of the Bahamas to his ranch in Canada. They are to leave Nassau on a special plane Sept. 23 for Miami, Fla., where they will board a train for Washington.

Met Windsor During War.

Mr. Roosevelt first met the duke, then prince of Wales, in Europe during the World war. Last winter the President and the former British monarch met again, this time aboard the U. S. Cruiser Tuscaloosa, anchored off Eleuthrea Island in the Bahamas during Mr. Roosevelt's inspection tour of Caribbean bases.

The welcome for the Windsors will be in sharp contrast to the recognition accorded visits to this country of the duke's two brothers, the present king and the duke of Kent.

The king and queen, who followed Windsor to the throne, were honored at a state dinner at the White House and a formal garden party at the British embassy. The duke of Kent, in addition to a dinner at the White House, rated a formal reception at the British embassy. Altho the Windsors are scheduled to spend the night at the embassy no announcement has been made of any social functions to mark their visit.

See Duke's Hopes Fading.

Today's announcement of the informal White House luncheon rather than the more important dinner invitation and the continued silence of the British embassy on matters of special entertainment are the first indications that the duke's hopes along this line will not be realized. Secretary Early's remark that the luncheon is on the basis of the President's long acquaintance with the duke, which goes back beyond the abdication and the duke's marriage, was also considered significant.

The Windsors have let it be known, it is said, that they would be perfectly willing to linger awhile in the United States if asked to, but so far, it is said, no such invitation has been forthcoming.

Their only invitations, besides the meeting with the Roosevelts, are from the Women's National Press club, which will entertain the duchess in the afternoon, and the National Press club, which will be host to the duke. British embassy officials reportedly are overjoyed at having their charges taken in tow by the press for several of the 24 hours which their stay here is scheduled to last.

The entertainment of royalty is not new to the President. The White House latch string has been out for the ruling families of Europe since Mr. Roosevelt took office and since the outbreak of the European war the royal visitors have not been backward about pulling it.

THREE ACCUSED OF RADIO THEFT.

Three men were arrested yesterday and accused of stealing a radio from the home of Frank Liljeblad at 6040 Union avenue. They are Lawrence Kelly, 19 years old, 705 West 61st place; Ralph Bail, 24, of 714 West 60th place, and Edward Shields, 21, of 5955 Union avenue.

KELLY LUNCHES WITH PRESIDENT; A 'SOCIAL' VISIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago today had lunch with President Roosevelt at the White House but said his visit was social rather than political. He said he came to Washington to place his daughter, Patricia, in school here, and went to the White House to pay his respects. Kelly said he did not bring up the subject of senatorial primaries in Illinois next spring.

Kelly said later that he will stay over until tomorrow to see about steel priorities for the Chicago subway and city garbage trucks.

The mayor was the second Chicagoan to see the President today. Earlier, S. E. Thomason, publisher, conferred with Mr. Roosevelt but declined to disclose the nature of his call.

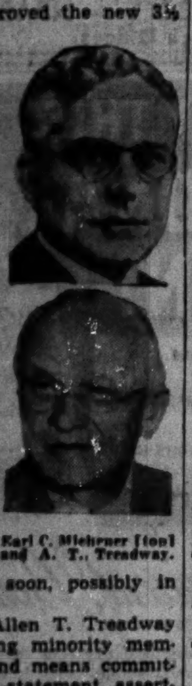
NEW TAXES SOON, HOUSE INFORMED AS IT O. K.'S BILL

Current Measure Is Sent to Senate.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—As the house swiftly approved the new 3½ billion dollar tax increase bill today and sent it to the senate where passage tomorrow will be a formality, it heard a warning that another tax measure may be before congress within two months.



Earl C. Michener [top] and A. T. Treadway.

"The country does not know, but it ought to know," Representative Earl C. Michener [R., Mich.] told members just before the voice vote on the bill, "that another tax bill will be in here soon, possibly in November."

Representative Allen T. Treadway [R., Mass.], ranking minority member of the ways and means committee, confirmed this statement, asserting that the treasury would present a new tax program to congress "in the very near future."

Intended to Clarify Procedure.

Treadway said one of the primary purposes of the next bill would be to clarify administrative procedures in the entire federal revenue structure.

Heavier income taxes, for example, will not be included in the next measure, all tax experts being in agreement that the present act to be sent to the White House after senate approval, taps the income of the salaried man to the limit. The present bill is the largest in history.

But it might contain the provision for a joint income tax return by husbands and wives with separate incomes which would increase federal revenue by 300 million dollars. Opposition by President Roosevelt, who, with Mrs. Roosevelt, would have had to pay an estimated additional $16,000 under the joint return system, helped kill the provision.

No Dispute on Exemptions.

The house accepted without dispute the senate's lowering of personal income tax exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons. Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the ways and means committee, explained that the 303 million dollars to be raised this way was necessary to replace the 300 million dollars lost when the joint return provision was knocked out.

The new exemptions make the income tax law apply to earnings as low as $14.50 per week on the part of unmarried workers and $28.90 on the part of married ones. Surtaxes start at 6 per cent on the first dollar of taxable individuals' net income, in addition to the 4 per cent normal tax.

The bill also calls for the creation of a joint legislative-executive department commission to seek places from which from 1 to 3 billions in nonmilitary expenditures could be saved.

Representative Frank Crowther [R., N. Y.] noted that the treasury would have to engage thousands of additional employés to administer the new bill. He said 3,800 employés alone must be hired to handle the new tax of $5 a year on the use of automobiles.

LA GUARDIA SEEKS CONTROL OF RADIO, WASHINGTON HEARS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 [Special].—Officials of several government departments which operate radio programs were reported today to be apprehensive over a move on the part of Fiorello La Guardia, New York mayor, acting in his capacity as director of the Office of Civilian Defense, to centralize all government sponsored radio programs in the OCD.

La Guardia, it was disclosed, had addressed a letter to federal agencies operating radio programs, which was interpreted by some as meaning that he plans to exercise control over these programs. The letter has not been made public.

The departments of agriculture and interior long have operated broadcasts. Almost every department or agency of any importance sponsors at least occasional broadcasts.

It was understood La Guardia's letter has aroused considerable opposition. It was considered probable, however, that La Guardia's plans have White House approval.

MAYBANK LEADS SOUTH CAROLINA SENATE CONTEST

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—Gov. Burnet R. Maybank piled up a substantial lead over former Gov. Olin D. Johnston as returns were tabulated from today's runoff primary to name a United States senator from South Carolina for the unexpired term of James F. Byrnes, appointed to the United States Supreme court in July.

Reports from 1,368 of the state's 1,520 precincts gave Maybank 89,419 votes to 67,752 for Johnston.

The two candidates, both supporters of the New Deal and of the Roosevelt administration's foreign policy, were survivors of the first primary, held two weeks ago, in which Representative Joseph R. Bryson of the 4th South Carolina district was eliminated.

LA GUARDIA WINS NOMINATION IN G. O. P. CONTEST

Davies' Vote in Primary Encourages O'Dwyer.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 16.—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia captured the Republican nomination at the primaries today in his third term mayoralty campaign. But the victory was surprisingly close and hinted at a close fight in November against the Democratic nominee, the hard hitting Brooklyn prosecutor, District Attorney William O'Dwyer.

John R. Davies, a former municipal judge running with little money and organization against all the weight the La Guardia city hall patronage machine could muster, actually beat the mayor in two boroughs or counties of the five which comprise New York City. These were Queens and the Bronx.

Wins Manhattan, Brooklyn.

La Guardia piled up his city-wide lead in Manhattan and Brooklyn where the Republican organizations, anxious to retain their city hall jobs, plumped for the mayor. The mayor had a slight lead in Richmond county [Staten Island].

La Guardia's indicated majority of the 100,000 Republican votes cast was more than 16,000.

Returns from 3,400 election districts out of 4,050 gave La Guardia 51,129 and Davies 36,419.

War Mongering Assailed.

Davies gathered strength in the last few days, it was believed, when he came out openly with an attack on La Guardia for war mongering activities. There is a possibility Davies will run as an independent candidate.

La Guardia, himself, did not vote today. Since he is an enrolled member of the radical American Labor party, he was not eligible to vote in the Republican primary.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey and Wendell L. Willkie, ex-Republican nominee for President, both voted for La Guardia on the ground it was for "good government."

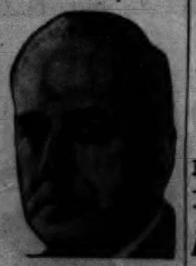
NAME DR. CUTTER HEAD OF DRAFT MEDICAL BOARD

Re-examine Men Army Rejected Earlier.



Dr. Irving S. Cutter.

Dr. Irving S. Cutter, health editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and dean emeritus of the Northwestern university medical school, yesterday accepted the state chairmanship of the recently organized "super" selective service medical advisory board. Dr. Cutter's appointment to the position was announced by Cook county draft officials.

The "super" board which Dr. Cutter heads is composed of almost 400 medical specialists thruout the state. It will have as its principal function the reëxamination of the thousands of draft registrants who have failed to qualify physically for army service since the draft law went into effect, with the purpose of determining whether any of them can now be placed in class 1-A for immediate army duty. Also, the board will seek to rehabilitate such cases as may be corrected.

Will Coördinate Work.

Dr. Cutter will coördinate the workings of the "super" board's specialized divisions, such as venereal diseases, tuberculosis, heart and circulatory ailments, and dental troubles, according to Maj. E. Mann Hartlett, state draft medical director.

Maj. Hartlett announced that the venereal division, headed by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Chicago health commissioner, will begin work today at the Chicago board of health with the reëxamination of 400 Chicago draftees rejected last November for venereal diseases. Similar examinations of other draftees rejected for venereal disease will start in the next few days in 40 other clinics thruout the state.

Begin Examinations Here.

Work in the tuberculosis division, headed by Dr. Frederick Tice, began yesterday at the municipal clinic at 2049 Washington boulevard. Maj. Hartlett said that all draftees rejected for tuberculosis, except bed cases, will be reëxamined at state or city clinics where X-ray and other such facilities are available.

Starting today, all dental rejects will be reëxamined by local board dental examiners to determine whether they can qualify for military service under the army's new and more flexible dental requirements, according to Maj. Hartlett. Those considered doubtful by the local examiners will be sent to dentists of the "super" board, he said.

REGIMENT WALKS INTO AMBUSH IN LOUISIANA 'WAR'

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Winnfield, La., Sept. 16.—Members of a regiment taking part in the interarmy war games here were given a lesson in concealment today by being declared dead after they had walked into a synthetic ambush.

The regiment, a unit of Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear's 2d army [Red] forces, was proceeding along an open, paved highway. The soldiers marched in compact order with their advance point, which should be far ahead to avoid traps, much too close for safety.

Suddenly an umpire stepped from bushes along the road and informed the commander that his column had been decimated by two machine guns and two 37 mm. guns which Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger's 3d army [Blue] forces had concealed at strategic points.

Ordered to Take Cover.

What was left of the advancing column was ordered to take cover in the brush and was not allowed to advance until its reënforcements arrived on the scene.

In order to simulate war conditions as much as possible during the maneuvers, the army intelligence division, known as G2, has asked the press to coöperate in a voluntary censorship and to refrain from mentioning units and towns involved in the war training.

As permitted under this voluntary press censorship, the battle front tonight follows a general line from the Red river to the Saline river extending southwest from a point about five miles south of Montgomery on the Red river.

The 2d army [Reds] succeeded in getting a head start in the opening activity of the maneuvers and now is in command of the Red river from Shreveport south to Alexandria. The 3d army holds the Red river further south as well as the city of Alexandria, these forces having crossed the river south of Alexandria yesterday.

2d Army Consolidates.

The 2d army spent today continuing its advance and consolidating positions in preparation for the first major clash of the maneuvers which is expected to come within 24 hours.

The situation on the main west front battle line is mostly one of feeling out enemy positions. Neither side appears to be in a hurry to press the battle. The 2d army's horse and machanized cavalry were the first to establish contact with enemy forces yesterday. In the cautious warfare today the 3d army fell back about five miles apparently to avoid a possible trap.

NEW YORK'S HARBOR JAMMED WITH SHIPS; MANY FROM BRITAIN

New York, Sept. 16 [Special].—Not since the World war has Lower New York harbor presented the scene it did today as more than 750,000 gross tons of tankers and freighters lay at anchor strung along the stretch of water between Gravesend bay and up thru the narrows.

A procession of 104 ships which taxed pilotage and harbor facilities to the utmost arrived in port in the 36 hours from Sunday midnight to noon today. Many of them were British and British controled Dutch and Norwegian vessels from overseas.

Gravesend bay, the narrows, and the upper bay were studded with vessels, the majority of them tankers, including a number of whaling ships. The 100 Sandy Hook pilots were kept busy shuttling back and forth to bring the ships thru the channel. The customs service, the immigration department, and public health service at quarantine have had all available men on duty since yesterday morning.

Of the ships in the British interests 25 arrived yesterday—13 British, 5 Dutch, and 6 Norwegian. Today 18 British, 3 Dutch, and 8 Norwegian ships arrived.

Niece of Stephen Early Asks Marriage Be Voided

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—Mrs. Mary Catherine Coman, 19, niece of Stephen Early, President Roosevelt's press secretary, yesterday filed suit for annulment of her marriage to Dr. Dana Coman, 48 year old chemist, explorer, and former staff member at Johns Hopkins, Baltimore. They were married a year ago. Mrs. Coman said in her suit that her husband had told her his income was more than $25,000, but that she had learned it was only $3,000.

ARMY BARS NIGHT AIRLINE FLYING IN MANEUVER AREAS

Surprise Order Ties Up 3 Firms' Operations.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 16 [Special]. —A war department order issued without warning last night has canceled all night flying by commercial air lines or private plane owners thruout Louisiana and eastern Texas for the duration of the vast war maneuvers that opened here this week, it became known today. The order, it was reported here, brought a blackout of the air ways and a closing of the radio range beacon stations and air way lights.

Nearly a score of scheduled flights by three major air line operators in this area were automatically eliminated by this move. The lines most affected are Chicago and Southern Airlines, Inc., Eastern Air Lines, and Braniff Airways. At least three daily flights by Chicago and Southern, and an equal number of trips, including the international express from New York to Mexico, was halted for Eastern Air Lines.

Braniff Hardest Hit.

Of the three, however, the hardest hit was Braniff which lost 10 schedules daily on its Dallas-Houston-Galveston runs, its Houston-San Antonio runs, and its Houston-Corpus Christi schedules. Passengers who seek passage on these flights at this time are being flown as far as possible in daylight and thereafter put aboard railroad trains or booked in hotels until daylight permits resumption of the regular services.

The surprise nature of the order is illustrated by an incident at Houston yesterday evening. Braniff Airways was loading a plane at that city just at dusk, and half the passengers already were seated in the ship when a radiogram to the station manager canceled the flight. This radio message from the company headquarters at Oklahoma City explained that the war department had ordered flying halted over the maneuver area after sundown.

Officials Explain Order.

The entire area affected by the order extends from Pensacola, Fla., on the east to Houston on the west, with the border of Louisana being the northern boundary of the blacked-out zone.

War department representatives here said the order was given in order to protect the air line passengers and to make the war games as realistic as possible. It was said that a number of relatively inexperienced military and naval pilots would be flying over the maneuvers in darkness and the complete blackout of navigating facilities was needed to give these men realistic practice.

Elimination of the air lines from the area would prevent any possibility of collisions that might affect civilians, it was said.

SAFETY RECORD SET AT KANKAKEE ORDNANCE PLANT

A safety record was claimed by officials of the Kankakee Ordnance plant, near Wilmington in Will county, yesterday as the 48 million dollar explosives factory neared completion.

Lieut. Col. Harry R. Kadlec, constructing quartermaster, said that only one workman had been killed in 10 million man hours of construction work. Nine thousand men are finishing the plant, which will begin producing TNT for the government next week.

Meanwhile a workman died yesterday in the neighboring Elwood Ordnance plant. He was Stanley Strysick, 52 years old, 756 North Broadway, Joliet, injured when the car in which he was riding collided with a locomotive.

Stray Dogs Annoy Sheep.

Sept. 16, 1941.

IN THE last week six stray dogs have been seen on the farm property and orders to shoot on sight have been reissued to the farm workers. With a large and valuable flock of purebred sheep roaming the pastures the men cannot take any chance of a stray dog breaking into the group and slaughtering sheep.

One of the greatest fears of any sheep man is that a dog will break in among his animals, run them, get excited, and start killing. Reports of dogs killing 15 and 20 sheep in one night are not unusual, and often the sheep are frightened to death if they are not ripped by the dog.

None Are Exempt.

One of the men saw a cur running with a red setter the other day and noticed that the setter wore a collar and license tag. The dog evidently was well bred and some one's pet. Yet the killing instinct can be as strong in a purebred as in a mongrel and the men cannot afford to ease up on their orders to shoot just because the dog is a good one.

The setter and cur had little chance to show what they were up to, as they were seen by one of the farm dogs as soon as they entered the property. The farm dog was after them in a flash and chased them out of sight.

The dogs on the farm are trained to respect the sheep and will not bother them. It is the outsider or stray that the farm men have to worry about, and from now on any strange dog that wanders onto the farm can expect to hear a bullet whistle past his ears.

Set Up Elevator.

With most of the field work done the men have been setting up a new hay bale elevator that arrived the other day. The new machinery is intended to do away with the back breaking labor of lifting the heavy bales of hay from the field onto the truck and from the truck into the hay loft.

One of the elevators will work alongside the truck in the fields. As the hay baler pushes out a new bale the elevator will hoist it onto the truck. At the barn an elevator will be built on the order of a grain elevator to run the bales up into the loft.

This new equipment will serve to speed up the work of haying next year and, with the majority of the roughage in bale form, the barns will be able to handle more hay than ever before. Hay in the package form will take up much less room than loose hay.

AIRPORT BUILDING DISPUTE ENDED; CITY WINS POINT

Council Given Control of Job Patronage.

Representatives of the eight commercial airlines flying off Chicago airport yesterday reached a compromise agreement with city officials in their squabble over control of the proposed new airport terminal building. The lines made a formal offer to loan the city $1,200,000 cash, interest free, to build the new air passenger station and agreed to let the city council run the building and control the patronage that will be created there.

It was this last point that had held up the negotiations for the last four months. The airlines wanted to lease the terminal from the city and operate it themselves. The council, however, insisted on retaining control.

Few Minor Points Remain.

After a closed meeting in the office of Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt yesterday, Ald. John J. Duffy [19th], chairman of the council subcommittee on the terminal building, announced that only a few minor points remained to be negotiated. The principal points approved by both sides follow:

1. The $1,200,000 loan will be interest free.

2. It will be repaid by charging off $120,000 a year against it from landing fees and rentals of space in the terminal. There will, however, be a two year moratorium, during which the air lines will pay their landing fees in cash, so that amortization of the loan will require 12 years.

New Contract to Be Made.

3. At the end of the 12 year period a new contract will be made between the lines and the city to run for another 10 years making the agreement binding for 22 years in all.

4. Landing fees charged the air lines will be as follows: $50 a month for each daily scheduled flight for planes weighing less than 15,000 pounds, $100 for scheduled flights for planes weighing from 15,000 to 24,000 pounds, and $200 for planes over 24,000 pounds.

5. The lines agreed to rent 25,000 square feet of space in the terminal building at an annual rate of $2 per foot. Also, three new hangar sites—on which new hangars will be erected—will be rented for $25,000 a year.

Another meeting will be held tomorrow in Commissioner Hewitt's office. At that time details of the escrow agreement and other points will be settled. Then the tentative agreement will be submitted for approval to the airport committee and the council for ratification.

DISMISS ANOTHER N.Y. CITY COLLEGE TEACHER AS A RED

New York, Sept. 16 [Special].—Dr. Harry N. Wright, acting president of the tax supported College of the City of New York, today suspended Francis J. Thompson, public speaking instructor, on a charge of being a communist. The suspension brings to nearly 30 the number of City college faculty members dismissed, suspended, or otherwise punished as a result of the joint legislative committee investigation of subversive influences in the schools.

Thompson was named by William Martin Canning, history instructor at the college and one of the principal witnesses before the committee, as being a member of the college's communist element in 1936, 1937, and 1938. Canning charged Thompson took an active part in the publication of Fag-an-Ballach, a supposed communist magazine. Thompson denied the charges.

DISCLOSES MORE ORDERS TO SPIES ON SECRET RADIO

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—United States Attorney Harold M. Kennedy today read into the record at the trial of 16 accused of espionage a secret "spy" radio station on Long Island—built and operated by American counterespionage agents.

Germany wanted to know, according to the messages from the Gestapo station in Hamburg, what planes were being built in Fairbanks, Alaska, and whether a friend of Frederick Duquesne, 63, one of the defendants, could spy in Dakar, Africa.

William G. Sebold, who turned over his assignment in German espionage to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, testified that Duquesne dispatched to Germany pictures, diagrams, and detailed information on the Garand rifle, naval movements in the Caribbean, Chrysler tanks, gas masks, anti-gas devices, aerial bombs and grenades, life belt textiles, and a secret type of warship deck which destroys aerial bombs before impact.

U. S. STARTS QUIZ ON BOOKS WHICH CRITICIZE BRITISH

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—Siegfried Hauck, president of Flanders Hall, Inc., publishers of Scotch Plains, N. J., appeared before a special grand jury today for questioning in a propaganda investigation being conducted by the justice department.

The propaganda unit of the department is studying the financing and motives of publishers who were said to have turned out publications critical of the British.

Adolph Hauck, brother of Siegfried and former treasurer of Flanders Hall, is expected to appear before the grand jury tomorrow. He was drafted into the army some time ago.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling of Chicago, author of "The Red Network," also is expected to go before the grand jury tomorrow.

William Glick, 17 years old, 4915 North Avers avenue, was injured yesterday when caught between the elevator shaft and a freight elevator in the Goldblatt Brothers' department store at Belmont and Lincoln avenues. ILLINOIS LABOR URGED TO DRIVE OUT HOODLUMS

Hugh Cross Makes Plea at Union Convention.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Danville, Ill., Sept. 16.—The evil influence that has been exercised by a little group of "swashbuckling hoodlums" who have crashed into organized labor was described by Lieut. Gov. Hugh Cross today as a serious menace to the good name of unionism. In a forthright speech before the Illinois Federation of Labor convention here he asserted legitimate labor would have to "drive the rascals out."

Cross said that brazen interlopers and chiselers already have caused the public to have a misconception of the real nature of the great mass of union leadership.

Praises Federation Officials.

"The great masses of labor, under wise leaders, have battled with great energy to build up a reputation for fairness," the lieutenant governor asserted. "The swashbucklers and goons must not be permitted to undo the good work of years.

"The officers and directors of the Illinois federation deserve high praise for the militant stand they have taken in the effort to purge all racketeers."

Cross said the bad name of the racketeers had brought a flood of legislative bills unfriendly to labor in the last session of the general assembly, but that President Reuben G. Soderstrom and Secretary Victor A. Olander of the federation had been able to expose these bills and the legislators turned them down.

Olander Brings Up Question.

Olander had thrown the racketeer question into the debates of the convention, asserting it could not be handled properly with delicacy or avoidance of full publicity.

"Let the gangsters know we are going to get rid of them," Olander said.

All of today's session was devoted to speechmaking. Resolutions on gangsters and other important questions were being considered in committees today. The convention is to continue all week.

Charge Steamroller Tactics.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16 (AP).—Representatives of "sandhog" local 147 of New York today charged leaders of the International Hod Carriers, Building, and Common Laborers union [AFL] were attempting to steamroller the election of officers.

They protested from the floor of the first convention of the union in 30 years after delegates had approved action of the rules committee in changing the election from Friday to tomorrow and having a roll call vote instead of secret ballot.

The protest was led by Brian Feeney, business agent, and John Clarke. Feeney leaped on a chair and Clarke took a microphone in the center of the convention hall. They were joined by others. President Joseph V. Moreschi, who has headed the union since 1926, pleaded for observance of rules of order.

Then William Green, president of the AFL, entered, and the shouting ended. Green complimented international officers for their coöperation and said that at the October convention of the federation "we shall deal with racketeering in no uncertain way."

ACCORD SIGNED TO GIVE HAITI LEND-LEASE AID

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—The United States and Haiti today signed an agreement under which lend-lease goods valued at $1,100,000 for Haitian defense will be sent to that strategic Caribbean island.

The agreement was signed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Fernand Dennis, Haitian minister to the United States. Repayment will be made by Haiti by shipments of Haitian products to this country. Officials said the products to be imported from Haiti would be covered in other agreements to be signed in the future and would probably include rubber, sugar, cocoa, fibers, and other raw materials.

The United States and Haiti already are coöperating in preparedness measures in the Caribbean thru the construction of an air field near Port-au-Prince, which may be utilized by both commercial and military planes.

FIND BODY, THROAT SLASHED.

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 16 [Special].—The body of Charles Boden, 68, local barber, was found in a field near here today with the throat slashed, and a razor nearby. Search was started after his son received a farewell letter. Ill health is blamed.

Fund Feather

A scarlet feather seems destined to become Chicago's favorite hat decoration during the next few weeks. It has been designated as the symbol for this year's Community's Fund drive. The slogan for the campaign to raise $3,583,000 for charity is "Helping those who need you is a feather in your hat!"

Campaign Chairman James S. Knowlson yesterday handed out the first scarlet feather, giving it to Mrs. Earl Kribben, wife of the secretary-treasurer of Marshall Field & Co. Mrs. Kribben is chairman of the woman's division of the campaign.

An industrial division dinner will be held tonight in the Palmer House, with E. P. Brooks, vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., division chairman, presiding. He will introduce Robert A. Gardner, president of the Community Fund of Chicago; Bryan S. Reid, head of the sponsors division, and Chairman Knowlson.

WICKARD TO PUSH NEW FARM DRIVE HERE TOMORROW

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning to launch the new "food for defense" program which the department hopes will boost farm production by 15 per cent.

More than 400 representatives of 12 midwestern farm states will gather at the Morrison hotel to hear Wickard and other department officials outline details for the campaign. The meeting will last for two days.

Purpose of the Chicago meeting is to mobilize the full resources of midwestern agriculture with the goal of large increases in the production of hogs, milk, dry skim milk, cheese, and chickens. The program will be carried out under the direction of newly established state and county department of agriculture boards. The boards are composed of representatives of agricultural department agencies in all fields.

Gov. Green Speaks Tonight at Constitution Day Dinner

Gov. Dwight H. Green will be the principal speaker tonight at the Constitution day dinner of the Union League club. More than 500 reservations, the capacity of the club's dining room, have been made. The governor's talk will be broadcast over station WENR from 9:30 to 10 p. m.

HOUSING PROJECT FAILURE LAID TO PRIORITY MUDDLE

Emergency Units Set Up by U. S. Left Empty.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 16 [Special].—Operation of the government priority system and other production disturbances was blamed today for the failure of the Federal Security administration's $500,000 emergency housing project here.

Marcus B. Braswell, senior administrator for FSA's region No. 4, announced that the mobile dormitories and trailers brought here to house an expected influx of rearmament workers will be moved to other rearmament areas inasmuch as it is now apparent that they will not be needed here.

The project consisted of four dormitories, built in sections and bolted together to house 400 single workmen, and 450 double bed trailers. None of the dormitories has had a single customer and only 16 of the trailers have been occupied.

Vultee Expectations Upset.

The housing facilities were set up June 30 after the Nashville plant of Vultee Aircraft, Inc., announced the anticipation of 7,000 workers being employed here by Sept. 1. However, the factory's production requires only 3,000 men.

Braswell said that Vultee officials blamed their changed plans to slack production caused by shortage of material because of priorities, delay in receiving machine tools, loss of skilled key workers, and the decision of the Office of Production Management to break down production among various firms by subcontracting work.

Vultee's actual production figures constitute a preparedness secret, but persons living and working near the plant say that the appearance of a plane on the field adjoining the factory's production line is a rare sight.

Protests Made in Vain.

At the time FSA announced plans for the trailer project early last spring, local real estate men protested that Nashville could care for any number of employés who could be crowded into the Vultee plant. They conducted surveys which showed, they said, that with expected private construction there would be little if any need for a government housing project.

However, the FSA decided that a project was necessary and proceeded to establish what is now admitted to be useless here. Most of the trailers will be moved to Huntsville, Ala.; Weldon Springs, Mo., and Cherry Point, N. C. No place for the dormitories has yet been found.

FIRE DRIVES WORKERS FROM PLANT.

Fifty employés were driven to the street yesterday by a fire which started in the paint spraying room of the Federal Fluorescent corporation, 420 West Superior street. Acting Chief W. A. Quaill of the 2d battalion said damage was about $1,000.

U. S. ASKS COURT NOT TO REVERSE SKIDMORE TERM

Plea Filed Quickly After Johnson Case Upset.

The government yesterday filed a strongly worded, 102 page answer, opposing the appeal of William R. Skidmore, reputed bigtime gambler who was convicted last March 8 of evading $347,409 in income taxes and was sentenced to serve 2½ years in a federal penitentiary.

The answer, filed with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, followed by less than 24 hours an opinion by the court reversing a similar conviction of William R. Johnson, who has been named as head of the gambling enterprises in which Skidmore was a partner. The decision also freed five of Johnson's co-defendants.

Testimony Called Prejudicial.

The government's answer gave special attention to phases of the Skidmore trial which correspond to the points upon which the Appeals court reversed the conviction of Johnson, who had been under sentence to serve five years in prison.

These included testimony of Frank J. Clifford, a government expert who the court said had invaded the province of the jury, and the introduction of much evidence connecting Johnson with gambling. This was prejudicial, the court ruled.

In the Skidmore trial, the government contended, Clifford's testimony was presented legally and in the manner prescribed by the Appeals court. At no time did he invade the province of the jury by saying what income tax was actually due, the answer continued.

Johnson Decision Not Mentioned.

The Johnson decision was not mentioned, but the answer maintained emphatically that Skidmore was convicted on legal proof of income tax evasion without undue reference to his character as an alleged gambler and political fixer.

The government's statement included a study of Skidmore's finances during the years 1936-'38 inclusive—which are covered by the indictment—as well as the years before and since. Between 1933 and 1938 Skidmore spent $520,000 more than he reported in income tax returns, according to the brief.

It was filed by United States District Attorney J. Albert Woll; his first assistant, William Connor, and Earle C. Hurley, in charge of the criminal division.

1,900 BARBERS GO ON STRIKE IN N. Y. FOR HIGHER PAY

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—The barber's shears and the manicurist's buffs were pretty well halted below 59th street in Manhattan today as 1,900 barbers and 400 manicurists went on strike for higher wages.

The strike was called by locals 1 and 3 of the Barbers and Beauty Culturists union [CIO]. Local 11, which covers the area from 60th street north to 242d street in Manhattan, has set Sept. 29 as a strike date for its 1,000 members.

The union said barbers in union shops now receive $20 a week and a commission of 50 per cent on work handled over $35. The union seeks a minimum of $25 a week, plus a 50 per cent commission on work handled over $40, a 48 hour week, a week's vacation with pay, and nine paid holidays a year. For manicurists, the union seeks $12 a week and a 50 per cent commission on work exceeding $16.

ENGINEER KILLED, FIREMAN BURNED IN TRAIN WRECK

The engineer of a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train was fatally injured and the fireman seriously burned yesterday when their locomotive, on a run from Valparaiso, Ind., to Chicago, overturned near Cermak road and Canal street.

J. J. McCarthy, 44 years old, the engineer, of Valparaiso, was taken to Mercy hospital and died soon afterward. He had been buried beneath coal which spilled from the tender when the engine overturned. The fireman was Charles Frederick, 19, of Fort Wayne, Ind. He was taken to People's hospital.

The four passenger cars drawn by the locomotive did not overturn. There were 175 passengers in them. Railroad officials were unable immediately to determine the cause of the wreck.

CALLED A 'CHEAP SKATE,' WOUNDS BRIDE, ENDS LIFE

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 16 (AP).—A quarrel believed to have developed over small tips given hotel employés was blamed by officers today for the bizarre acts of a naval medical reserve lieutenant who beat his bride of three days with a saber and fatally wounded himself with it.

Sheriff Howard Mayes said Lieut. Edward K. Harrison plunged the saber five inches into his chest just below the heart after inflicting lacerations about his wife's head and seeing her leap from a second floor balcony of their apartment to escape him.

Sheriff Mayes and Coroner L. B. Morgan said the Harrisons quarreled on their wedding night, last Saturday, in a hotel at Point Clear, Fla., when she called him a "cheap skate." The quarrel continued last night in a hotel here and Harrison hit his wife while in the dining room.

W. M. McClellan, owner of the apartments, said he heard the newlyweds arguing and went to investigate. He said he found Mrs. Harrison on the lawn and her husband wounded on a bed. Officers said the saber was broken in three pieces.

PATRONS ESCAPE FROM HANDBOOK AS POLICE ARRIVE

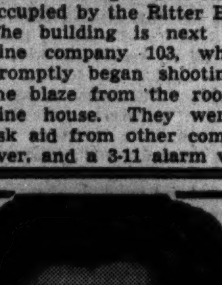
A handbook big enough to accommodate 500 patrons—it opened only Monday afternoon on the second floor of 14-16 West Jackson boulevard—was empty yesterday when Capt. Tom Duffy and Sergt. Ed Kirby of the Central station arrived to raid it. All the players, Kirby said, had dashed out the front door as the two policemen approached from the alley after being refused entrance in the front. Only three employés remained.

The handbook, it was said, will not operate any more. Capt. Duffy first notified the telephone company to remove its wires, and then said he would like to see Dennis Cooney, once head vice monger of the south side but more recently interested in loop gambling sites.

Other raids in the downtown district were at 184 West Washington street, 29 West Quincy street, 1203 South Michigan avenue, 24 East Roosevelt road, 306 West Van Buren street, 36½ West Randolph street, 29 East Roosevelt road, and 161 North Wabash avenue. Twelve men were arrested.

PHYSICIAN GETS 1 TO 10 YEARS FOR ABORTION PLEA

For the first time in the memory of court officials, a defendant pleaded guilty of abortion in the Criminal court yesterday. He is Dr. Charles Bernis, 44 years old, 1032 East 55th street. Judge U. S. Schwartz sentenced him to one to 10 years in prison.



Dr. Charles Bernis.

The judge ordered Gordon Nash, assistant state's attorney, to notify the state department of registration and education of the case so that steps might be taken to revoke the physician's license. The judge ordered that immigration authorities also be notified, since Bernis is a Lithuanian.

Fire Does $10,000 Damage Next Door to Engine House

Fire of undetermined origin did estimated damage of $10,000 late yesterday afternoon to a four story brick building at 1451 Harrison street occupied by the Ritter Bag company. The building is next door to engine company 103, whose firemen promptly began shooting water on the blaze from the roof of the engine house. They were forced to ask aid from other companies, however, and a 3-11 alarm was sounded.

Festival Opens Today

Five "sweet corn queens" from five states halted in Chicago yesterday on their way to the Sweet Corn festival which is to be held today, tomorrow and Thursday at Hoopeston, Ill. They were greeted in the Hotel Sherman by Miss Louise Bury, designated as "Miss Hoopeston." The queens are: Althea Stuhr, Iowa; Nellie Koger, Illinois; Jean Headington, Ohio; Alice Baker, Wisconsin, and Leora Anne Easton, Minnesota.

2 BROTHERS HELD AS ROBBERS AND ALSO AS RAPISTS

Warren avenue police yesterday held two brothers for victims of recent robberies to view. The two, who were arrested Monday after attempting to rob a west side furniture store, are Philip Lewis, 26 years old, and William Lewis, 21, both of 3015 Washington boulevard.

Two 14 year old girls who had run away from their homes in Chicago were found in the brothers' flat. Assistant State's Attorney Sam Papanek ordered that the men be booked on charges of rape in addition to robbery charges.

The two were seized by Detective George Daliker after they had attempted to rob Louis Holzman, 64, in his furniture store at 2515 Madison street.

BOY FALLS FROM LIGHT POLE.

Wayne Badzett, 9 years old, was seriously injured in an alley near his home at 3028 Arthington street last night when he fell from a light pole. The playing boy apparently touched a live wire. He was taken to County hospital.

The training school will start Sept. 22 at the state fair grounds.

Green's announcement said they were chosen by his police merit council and officials of the state department of safety headed by Director T. P. Sullivan.

Those instructed to report to the police training school from Chicago are:

Fine Chemical Firm Head for Medical Act Violation

A $100 fine was imposed yesterday upon S. P. Shokunbi, head of the S. P. S. Chemical company, 3451 Michigan avenue, on a charge of violating the medical practice act. Judge James Gullett of Elizabethtown, Harding county, sitting in the County court, also put Shokunbi on a year's probation. Investigators testified the defendant had advertised himself as a physician and had prescribed for patients without a license.

FREED GETS FINE AFTER FAILING TO APPEAR IN COURT

Edward Freed, former night club manager who was wounded in a mysterious shooting last Friday night at Wabash avenue and Cermak road, failed to appear in the South State street court yesterday to answer a charge of disorderly conduct resulting from the shooting. His attorney, Lawrence Dowd, said he did not know where Freed was.

"He has the idea that he doesn't have to appear here," said Judge Oscar S. Caplan. "I don't sanction the idea. He is fined $95 and $5 costs."

BABY SQUIRREL TAKES A LEASE ON HOME IN CAR

A mother squirrel and her two young ones, looking for a home in Black River Falls, Wis., the other day, chose the back seat of a parked automobile. When the owner, Anna R. Boguslewicz, an attorney, returned to her home at 2845 Palmer street in Chicago, the squirrels came along. The mother and one baby squirrel escaped when Mrs. Boguslewicz parked in front of her home, but she has seen them around since. The other baby squirrel continues to make his home in the car.

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

A Congressman's Duty.

Is not congress itself bound to give legislative support to any right that is established in the United States Constitution? A member of congress swears to support the Constitution of the United States, and if he sees a right established by that Constitution which needs specific legislative protection, can he clear his oath without giving that protection?

A. Lincoln

Jonesboro, Ill., Sept. 15, 1858.

THE FOUR FREEDOMS IN ESTONIA.

Donald Day of THE TRIBUNE's foreign staff has visited Tallinn, the capital of Estonia, which the Nazi army cleared last month of the Red troops who seized the country in 1940 thru Stalin's deal with Hitler. His story of the sufferings of the Estonians under the Red terror, gathered from old acquaintances in the stricken country, is an all sufficient answer to the war mongers who have been trying to paint Bloody Joe as one of the defenders of Mr. Roosevelt's four freedoms.

Mr. Day could not find many of his acquaintances. Ninety per cent of them, he found, had been murdered or carried off to soviet prison camps. The Red commissars exterminated the merchant class of Tallinn, as well as the clergy, lawyers, journalists, and university professors.

School books were burned and teachers killed or persecuted if they failed to use the communist texts sent to replace them.

Stores were stripped of their stocks. A prosperous agriculture was destroyed and the country, formerly a large exporter of foodstuffs, was stripped of its supplies for the benefit of Russia.

One-third of all the men in the country were carried off to military service or slavery in Russia. Families of the exiles were separated, the women being sent to one section and the men to another. Children were torn from their parents and placed in state institutions to be raised as communist youth.

Those were the four freedoms as dispensed by Bloody Joe.

The only restoration of religious freedom that the world has seen since the war started in Europe came when the Estonian pastors who had escaped death emerged from their hiding places following the Nazi occupation and reopened the churches. They no doubt have misgivings as to the extent and duration of that freedom, but they entertain no doubts as to what they have escaped.

The Nazi-communist war is the only one of the last century that civilized men can regard with complete approval. They hope it will persist until both brutal antagonists have bled to death. To talk of aiding either of the contestants is treachery to the American people. They are equally our enemies, and the enemies of all free men.

CHICAGO POLICE STOP A SITDOWN STRIKE.

Members of a CIO union had been engaged for several days in a modified sitdown strike in two can company plants in Chicago. They reported as usual at the plants but sat at their machines and refused to work.

This procedure was brought to an end, without disorder, by the labor detail of the Chicago police. The director of the strike accompanied the head of the detail, Sergt. Barnes, thru the plants and reënforced the sergeant's order for withdrawal.

Mayor Kelly's record of refusing to permit the illegal seizure of property, in the guise of a strike, continues unblemished. Labor organizations have sufficient other remedies at their disposal to make it unnecessary for them to resort to such infractions of the law. In evicting the strikers Sergt. Barnes showed both courage and, what is equally desirable in a police officer dealing with labor disturbances, tact.

A GOLDEN JITNEY?

The general public has been given to understand that there isn't enough paper to go around and that some persons may be asked to get along with less than they have been using. Among the places where some reduction in the use of paper could be safely made is the government itself. Each of the departments, administrations, commissions, bureaus, authorities, and offices created during the Roosevelt administration has an elaborate publicity department charged with keeping the name of the organization and the head of it constantly before the public. This is done by means of speeches, statements, broadcast studies, and reports. These are issued in printed and mimeograph form. Some of actually bound books running to many hundreds of pages.

Moreover, the controls over the various phases of American life require the use of millions of pounds of paper. To get authority to carry on an activity it is necessary to file many copies of application forms. The information given in the application runs frequently to many thousands of pages. The printing job on a single filing before the Securities and Exchange commission has sometimes run to more than a hundred thousand dollars. The hearings on applications, which are duplicated for those who may be interested and for some who are not, frequently total many hundreds of pages. And in the issuance of decisions, orders, and opinions by the regulatory authorities other great quantities of paper are used.

There is another considerable use of high grade paper on which a saving could be made. We refer to the paper used as money. Since 1933 paper money has displaced gold completely in denominations above a dollar. Meanwhile the stock of gold has increased many fold. The United States government has 23 billion dollars' worth of gold, most of it in vaults in Kentucky. No defense use has been suggested for all this metal. Leading financiers and monetary authorities some time ago suggested that it would be good sense from the monetary standpoint if gold money were again put into general use. Now we have an additional reason to get the gold into circulation.

Other uses might be found for our 23 billion dollar gold pile. Nickel plays an important part in national defense. The suggestion was recently made that the nickel be taken out of the nickel and gold substituted. If gold jitneys aren't feasible, why not silver? We have billions of ounces of that metal, too, accumulated during the monetary insanity of recent years. Almost none of it is serving any useful purpose. Silver can be substituted at other points for metals now designated as scarce. If the table utensil manufacturers are successful in their fall campaigns copper will be released for the national defense. For it is their purpose to sell knives, forks, and spoons made of sterling silver, which is nearly pure silver, instead of plated silverware, which is nearly as pure copper.

AND SIX MORE BILLIONS.

On March 11 congress finally passed the lease-lend act and sent it to the President, who at once added his signature. The next day Mr. Roosevelt sent to congress a request for an appropriation of 7 billion dollars to carry out the purpose of the lease-lend act by supplying to "the democracies every gun, plane, and munition of war that we possibly can." The language is to be especially noted.

Congress stipulated that the President should make a quarterly report showing how the money was being spent. On Tuesday the President sent a report covering the first six months of lease-lend activity. As the purpose was to supply Britain and China primarily with "every gun, plane, and munition of war we possibly can," the public expected to be told that a large quantity of these articles had been shipped. But the figures—when broken down—show a total of aircraft and aeronautical materials of only $6,016,145, for guns and ammunition a little less than 36 million dollars, and for tanks and other vehicles just over 28 million dollars. In six months we have supplied Britain—and China, by the way—under lease-lend only 70 million dollars' worth of munitions of war.

We have shipped other things besides the instruments of war to Britain and China. The biggest single items seem to be cheese, beans, and pork. We supplied under lease-lend, the President's report reveals, 44 million pounds of cheese, 110 million pounds of dried beans, and 90 million pounds of cured pork. Other large items were evaporated and dried milk and eggs. Farm products which were included in the lease-lend bill as a sop to the farm bloc actually represent the largest class of supplies so far made available to the British. Everything so far turned over to foreign countries under lease-lend totals 325 million dollars. Agricultural, industrial, and other commodities represent 110 million dollars of this amount, the instruments of war only 70 millions.

At the rate at which airplanes, tanks, trucks, guns, and ammunition were supplied in the six months just elapsed, the 7 billion dollars appropriated for lease-lend will last 50 years. So far contracts against lease-lend appropriations have been made totaling 3½ billion dollars, but it will be some years before deliveries against some of these contracts are made. Thus, according to the President's report, there still remains 3½ billion dollars of lease-lend funds not covered by any contract.

Nevertheless, the President told a congressional group on Monday that he expected to send to congress this week a request for an additional 6 billion dollars. This would raise lease-lend funds to 13 billion dollars.

Billions are now tossed around by Washington so recklessly during the present administration that the proportions of this proposal will not be generally appreciated. A comparison with the last war may add to our understanding. When the United States went into the last war we became the banker for the allies, and advanced to each one whatever money he needed. Under this arrangement between April 24, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918, a period of 19 months of the bloodiest and most destructive war the world has ever seen, the following amounts were advanced to the allied nations:

Great Britain	$3,696,000,000
France	1,970,000,000
Italy	1,031,000,000
Russia	187,729,750
Belgium	171,780,000
Jugo-Slavia	10,605,000
Cuba	10,000,000
Total	$7,077,114,750

Thus 7 billion dollars was all the help all the allies needed from us in more than a year and a half of nearly constant fighting. When the President asked originally for 7 billion dollars for lease-lend last March, he undoubtedly arrived at the figure by referring to our total advances to the allies in the last war when they had many millions of troops engaged in battles against the Germans.

But this is a different kind of a war so far as the British are concerned. They have thus far shown no intention to wage it as they did the last time. Relatively little is consumed. If 7 billion dollars was enough for a year and a half of the other kind of war, it should take care of the British in the kind of war they are now fighting for many years.

Why, then, is the President going to ask for the 6 billion dollars additional? The most obvious explanation is that he's impressed by the sentiment sweeping the country against our further involvement. He wants to have in reserve the authority to lend the British about twice as much as all the allies borrowed from us last time because he fears that later such funds will be denied him.

And, incidentally, if all munitions we can muster for the British for six months total only 70 million dollars, including the planes which were flown over, convoying American munitions is child's play. The lease-lend figures prove, if there was any doubt of it, that our naval operations in the Atlantic are for offense, not for protecting convoys of American munitions.

THE SECRET OF THE GODS.

[New York Times.]

The trouble with most conceptions of Utopia, from Plato to H. G. Wells, is that tho they promise comfort they don't promise excitement. Mr. A. G. Sedgwick, cabling to this newspaper from Iran, suggests a new approach. "They do not need amusement or organized recreation," he writes of the British Indian troops. "The are boredomproof." Can any one suggest a better equipment for a happy life? And why shouldn't a delegation of American yawners and stretchers, including representatives of disillusioned youth, tired liberals, a few senators and representatives and commuters who never miss trains, be authorized to proceed to Iran to look into the situation? For to be boredomproof is to possess the secret of the gods, and to be immortal and invincible.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

FIRST-NIGHTER FOLKS.

"What is a first-nighter?" a wide-eyed child asked in a letter to the Linemaster. "You were pointed out in the lobby between acts, and when I asked who you were talking to I was told he was a first-nighter. Does a special kind of people, other than newspaper writers, go to first performances of plays?"

* * *

Webster's definition is: "A spectator habitually present at first-night performances." This hits the nail on the head. First-nighting is a habit. Its addicts are easily recognizable, because they seldom miss an opening, but are hard to define. They are, in general, a downtown-ish type, so far as the male escorts are concerned, and theatergoing is in their blood.

* * *

The habit is likely to become fastened upon lawyers, stock brokers, hotel managers, and politicians, but its occupational range is wide. No business or profession is immune. For example, at the opening of "Claudia," which started the new season in Chicago this week, we saw a retired department store executive who has been active on the first-night list for about 35 years, in our memory. No doubt he started in boyhood 50 or 60 years ago. There was another whose business we have never learned, but we recall him at his debut with the Randolph street clan 25 years ago and his attendance on the drama has been assiduous ever since.

* * *

As a group they cannot be classed as intellectuals. It is life that they are seeking, not philosophy. They like the crowds, the lights, the communion with players across the footlights, or backstage if they have friends in the cast [which is often the case], or in cafés after the show. They are also keen for the box office, and exchange gossip with the ticket sellers, the traveling manager, and the press agent.

* * *

To the first-nighter the theater is a lifetime hobby. He has an unshakable affection for the entire institution. Whatever its faults he forgives them, for he is in love with the world of make believe.

* * *

In the mass he presents no impressive spectacle; he cannot be distinguished from the average American. But his lineage is long and noble, for he descends from the earls of Essex and Southampton, who were Shakespeare's first-nighters.

"OLD CHICAGO HOUSES."

(A book by John Drury.)

Dear Jock, I thank ye for a look
Intae a maist entrancing book,
Wherein I find yer skilly pen
Has made the dead past live again.
The stately homes of England grand
Did never hoose a shrewder band
Than broker, merchant, an' tycoon
Wha snared wealth in this windy toon.
Pork, fertilizer, soap, an' oil,
An' ilka ither sort o' spoil
They changed tae gold wi' muckle zest,
Oot-Midased Midas at his best.
Mansions an' palaces they built,
Weighed doon wi' curlicues an' gilt.
But what supplants that splendor noo?
The tearoom an' the dress shop, too.
Where Croesus watched his millions breed
A publisher makes chicken feed.
Tho tae these edifices grand
There came the noblest o' the land,
Time wi' his scythe was aye a guest—
Sic transit—Jock; ye ken the rest.

"Dreaming of Hallie."

The Linemaster's curiosity about the why and wherefore of Hallie as a woman's name [Sept. 13] has been gratified by a dozen contributors. Most of them agree that it is familiar for Harriet and Henrietta. Among men, Harry and Henry are Hal for short, and parallel names among women follow the same rule; thus Harriet is Hallie.

Hallie appears to be more favored in the south than in the north, and may be regarded as out of fashion now. Curiously enough, Hallie also serves as a boy's name in some regions; we have had a West Virginia case cited. To the well known Hallies of today, Mrs. Hallie Flanagan of Vassar college, former head of the Federal Theater Project, may be cited. The Pride and Joy of Old St. Joe.

The fountain in the vanished Chicago Exposition building [Sept. 9], which gave rise to the saying "Meet me at the fountain," survives. It may be seen in all its original primness in St. Joseph, Mich., in the parkway fronting the Hotel Whitcomb. It has been in service there for many years.

END OF SUMMER.

The birds that sang to us in May
In silence hurry south today.
The dawn awakens heavy-eyed
And flings the rosy mists aside
To greet a laggard sun, and bask
In leisure in its rays. No task
Awaits today; no reaping, sowing;
Out of the north cool winds are blowing;
All harvested the wheat and clover—
Summer's over.

I watched a business man signing letters. "Don't you read your letters before signing?" I asked in some astonishment. "Letters!" he exclaimed in surprise as he paused in his rapid autographing. "I thought these were affidavits."

VITAMIN B IN SHINGLES.

WE ARE all familiar with the typical cold sore, or fever blister. With many of us, these lesions appear when we become overtired, probably associated with irregular and improper meals. They persist for a few days or, at the most, a week or two, whereupon they dry up. The vesicle which forms usually breaks and little attention need be given it other than to keep the surface well covered with spirits of camphor or ammoniated mercury ointment.

To all intents and purposes, this is the same malady as shingles, altho it is exhibited in a different location. The cause is a virus, one that attacks a nerve as it emerges from the spinal cord. The irritation travels along the fiber and blossoms into a reddish, raised eruption, followed by blebs. As a rule, when an outbreak occurs upon the trunk or the sides of the chest, it may be exceedingly painful. Occasionally, a branch of the ophthalmic nerve leading to the eye will be involved, and here it seems important to use extreme measures to prevent injury to vision.

Methods of treatment include the injection of pituitary extract, diphtheria antitoxin, a small quantity of the patient's own blood, a local anesthetic, or thiamin chloride—one of the fractions of vitamin B.

Occasionally X-ray exposures prove beneficial. McCombs and others reported on 72 patients wherein relief was accomplished by radiotherapy. These authorities point out, however, that the plan must be started when the disorder is first recognized.

More recently the suggestion has been offered that we may be dealing with a type of nerve infection which would not be experienced were all the necessary food accessories present. Sydney F. Smith cites three patients whose symptoms responded to the employment of B1.

One victim, a man of 51, complained of severe pain in the region of the trunk. It became so agonizing that strong narcotics were demanded. Shortly thereafter, large patches of inflammation were observed along the course of one of the nerves. One such spot on the back measured approximately three by four inches and others, smaller in size, were visible elsewhere. The affected parts were extremely sensitive to the touch, so much so that not a particle of clothing could be tolerated.

With the thought that thiamin might be of value, 10 milligrams were injected into the muscle at the point of the shoulder. This dose was repeated on three successive days without effect. The vitamin was then introduced into a clear area of epidermis, adjacent to the eruption. Within two hours the distress disappeared. By the following day cutaneous manifestations began to fade and—before the week was out—had vanished entirely.

Smith's other cases are practically identical with the above, altho no time was lost in administering the solution. By placing the material between the layers of the skin, it had the most direct action upon the nerve fibers. In his second and third patients, no sedatives were needed. The twinges diminished within a few hours and two or three treatments sufficed. The open sores were covered with antiseptic dressings to avoid contamination with bacteria from the air.

It is interesting to note that the use of thiamin merely as a systemic drug proved useless. It was only when it was applied directly to the neighborhood of the lesions that it acted favorably.

RINGS UNDER EYES.

K. R. writes: What causes rings under the eyes? I am 15 years old and get 10 hours sleep every night.

REPLY.

The condition may be nervous—not physical. Poor circulation or inadequate elimination, particularly from the kidneys, may be responsible. The latter organs may be spared by proper diet and increasing the excretion of waste products via the bowel and the skin. Check the menus for items that may be indigestible and hence a factor in restlessness.

AFTERMATH.

Mrs. M. writes: I had the flu earlier in the year and I now have a rapid heart. Will this disappear in time?

REPLY.

Yes, with adequate rest for the purpose of building resistance. Your heart muscle may have been injured slightly by the toxins of the disease. Take things calmly—avoid excitement and over-exertion. Lie down whenever convenient.

HOW WE USED TO GO TO WAR.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—In 1812 President Madison was confronted with the question of maintaining our rights on the high seas against the acts of Great Britain by resort to force. He did not answer the question by issuing an executive order to the navy to shoot on sight, thus in effect declaring a naval warfare, but instead he sent on June 1, 1812, a confidential message to congress, recapitulating the conduct of Great Britain, and submitted to congress the momentous question in the following language:

"Whether the United States shall continue passive under these progressive usurpations and these accumulating wrongs, or, opposing force to force in defense of their national rights, shall commit a just cause into the hands of the Almighty Disposer of Events . . . is a solemn question which the constitution wisely confides to the legislative department of the government."

Upon receipt of this message the house promptly passed a resolution declaring war by a vote of 79 to 49, and the senate after lengthy debate, passed the resolution June 18, by a vote of 19 to 13.

It seems that the precedent might well have been followed in the year of our Lord 1941.

IN OUR HIGH SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—What ails the foreign language department in the Chicago public high schools? The high school graduates who have had three or four years of French or Spanish are unable to interpret correctly a simple business letter.

There is evidently something wrong with the teaching methods employed in Chicago. A high school senior recently told me that the only good students in his French 5 class are the German and the Spanish refugees. "They really know the stuff," said he. "We seem to get nowhere because our textbook is all mixed up, and the teacher doesn't seem to know how to help us."

What about it, Dr. Johnson?

A LONG HIKE IN PROSPECT.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—I'm sorry I missed seeing the letters in your columns regarding the lack of hiking clubs in Chicago. The writers of those letters, and any one else who enjoys hiking, should call Dearborn 3737 for information about the Prairie club . . . a 33 year old, out of doors club that takes 5 to 8 mile hikes every Saturday and Sunday except during July and August.

Incidentally, on Sept. 28 the Prairie club's longest hike of the year, the 26 miler around Lake Geneva, will be held. This is an annual affair and last year 60 persons made it. Nonmembers are invited to come on this or on the shorter hikes.

FOOD FOR LITTLE COUNTRIES.

New York, Sept. 15.—I want to thank THE TRIBUNE for its recent editorial on Herbert Hoover's plan for feeding the small democracies. This seems to me of vital importance if we are to show these unfortunate, weak little countries that democracy has humanity and generosity. I am doing what I can—painfully little, I fear. COMMENT ON AN EDITORIAL.

Waukon, Ia., Sept. 13.—A few minutes ago I finished reading your editorial, "The Hidden Purpose."

As a peace loving citizen, I send you my sincere thanks for publishing this editorial. It is one of the most worthwhile, thought-provoking and challenging articles that it has ever been my privilege to read. I wish that a copy of it could be placed in every American home in this country.

MISS L. T.

Berlin, Wis., Sept. 13.—I have taken your paper for a great many years. It is a wonderful newspaper.

However, I think you are unfair to our President. I did not vote for him the last time, but I believe we are fortunate in having him for President.

Our President does not want to be a dictator, but he is for the best interests of the United States.

T. W. H.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 13.—Your editorial this morning stinks. If this U. S. A. is not good enough for you, you better go somewhere else. Your whole policy is just playing into the hands of Hitler and Nazlism and as far as I am concerned you ought to be run out.

F. F. B.

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 14.—Your editorial entitled "The Hidden Purpose" certainly brought forth the truth. But the truth is not enough. Action is what counts before it is too late. What is the matter with congress? Are they afraid to put on the brakes and live up to the constitution? Wake up before the speed is so fast we can stop only in a smashup.

IRAN "IS WELL IN HAND."

Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 14.—Last month the British and their Red fellow-travelers invaded the peaceful kingdom of Iran on the specious ground of foiling a Nazi plot. The technique was the same as that employed in Iraq and Syria, namely, a short press campaign defaming the victim, followed by a brutal, unjustified aggression in the name of democracy. Today the conspirators come out in their true colors in a Reuter dispatch from Teheran of Sept. 12 over the signature of Patrick Crosse. The first paragraph of the dispatch is:

"With Iran's oil wells now safely under British control and with British and Russian forces occupying strategic points on her communications, as well as blocking a path eastward thru the Caucasus, the British and Russian governments are now intensely studying the problem of sending war materials to Russia thru Iran."

That huge body of Americans that cherishes truth and hates injustice will recognize in this latest act of British power politics another example of making the world safe for hypocrisy.

JOHN F. MARTIN.

WORLD RULED FROM THE AIR.

Coloma, Mich., Sept. 16.—In 1919 when Lieut. Arthur Brown and Capt. John Alcock made the first trans-Atlantic flight from St. John's, Newfoundland, to Ireland in an airplane powered with two 375 horse power Rolls-Royce Eagle engines a distance of 1,650 miles in 16 hours and 12 minutes, the New York Globe commented:

"The world can be mapped from the air. Savages will be wholly at the mercy of the civilized nations; there will be no more costly struggles with Moros or Abyssinians. Water barriers will cease to exist; the world, for the purpose of any one sufficiently intent on his object, will be a single continent, neither America, nor Tibet, nor any other part of the world will be isolated."

Hitler's idea that only one continent exists and that it rightfully belongs to his superior race was illustrated in a scene in the "Great Dictator," wherein Mr. Hitler does a capricious dance with the globe, bouncing it from floor to ceiling and kicking it all around the room. Why not? After all, is it not his world? Yes, it must be because he is still kicking it around.

GEORGE E. KLOTTER.

ROMANCE AN INDUCEMENT?

Chicago, Sept. 13.—O, gir-ruls! All those people who recommend the nursing profession to clever, ambitious young ladies leave out the most attractive inducement—the chance of grabbing off either a doctor, a wealthy patient, or the relict of a patient. We all know of lots of cases, some quite prominent. And then there's the nurse that tended my sister the last few months of her life; she married the widower just exactly 30 days from the day her patient was buried. 'Nuff said.

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

PROBATE PROCEEDINGS.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a person makes out a will, and has an administrator appointed to look after it, is it necessary to have it probated?

E. N. H.

The necessity for probate depends on whether the executor can get possession of the assets and on other facts that are not before us. The presence or absence of a will has no important bearing on the necessity for probate.

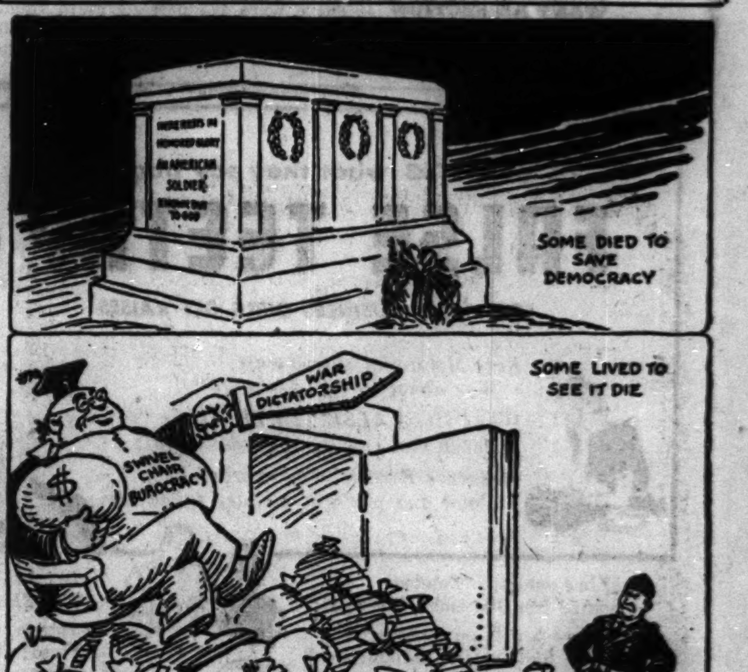
PAY ROLL AND HONOR ROLL



75% OF TRACTION LINES CARS AGED, SURVEY REVEALS

25 Year Old Equipment Is Used Daily.

The recent disclosure that the Illinois Commerce commission may require new transit equipment purchases for Chicago as a condition of any increases in car fares focused renewed attention yesterday on the antiquated condition of the equipment which carries Chicago's 2½ million daily car riders.

The Chicago Surface Lines are asking the commission to grant an increase in street car fares from 7 to 8 cents and the elevated lines are seeking a boost from 10 to 12 cents. Gov. Dwight H. Green said last week that these requests for higher fares should be determined on the quality of service to be offered Chicago's car riders.

Many Are 25 Years Old.

According to a survey made yesterday, approximately 75 per cent of the more than 4,000 street cars and elevated cars used daily are more than 25 years old. No new elevated cars have been purchased since 1925, and only 85 new street cars have been bought in the last 10 years—including 83 streamlined cars for the Madison street line purchased in 1936 and two "experimental" cars acquired the preceding year.

The surface lines, however, have purchased 160 gasoline buses since 1927 and 152 trolley buses since 1930 to handle traffic on service extensions.

The surface lines operate approximately 2,700 street cars daily. Of these, 74 per cent were acquired more than a quarter of a century ago. Even including the 312 buses acquired in recent years, two thirds of the equipment carrying surface lines riders has been on the streets 25 years or longer.

The elevated lines have 1,440 cars in daily use, and 1,134 or 78 per cent of these have been carrying riders since before 1916.

Old Equipment Listed.

The following table shows a breakdown, according to ages, of all the cars owned by the two transportation systems, including cars in daily use, cars in the shops for repairs and replacements, and cars which have been retired from active service because of old age, but have not been scrapped:

	Surface lines.	Elevated lines.
5 yrs. old or less..	83 street cars 102 gas buses 32 trolley buses	None
6-15 yrs. old...	202 street cars 58 gas buses 120 trolley buses	None
16-25 yrs. old...	417 street cars	306 cars
36-45 yrs. old...	*495 street cars	817 cars
45 yrs. and older.	None	252 cars

The Chicago Motor Coach company, which serves only 6 per cent of the city's transit riders, operates 520 buses, of which 435 are modern streamlined models purchased since 1934.

Cars Date Back to 1893.

Some of the cars still parked in the "L" yards date back to 1893 when the company started doing business. The oldest street cars still in the barns were built in the early 1900s.

The traction unification ordinance adopted June 19 contemplates purchase of more than 3,000 street cars and buses to replace outmoded street cars and the acquisition of 1,000 all-metal rapid transit cars. The "L" lines now have only 456 all-steel cars. The city's entire program, which would cost an estimated 102 million dollars, is based on the formation of a unified surface-elevated system and its ability to raise credit.

Under the plan now being studied by the commerce commission, however, the purchase of new street cars and buses could be started immediately from a 25 million dollar cash fund held by the surface lines. The expenditure of this money has been delayed for some 15 years, because the surface lines have been negotiating with the city for a new franchise and have been in federal court receivership since 1926.

Leaves 11 Millions.

The city's unification program calls for the purchase of at least 925 modern street cars for the most heavily traveled lines. These could be bought for $13,900,000, based on the price of $16,000 apiece paid for the Madison street cars. This would leave some 11 millions available for buying additional street cars or buses.

With this sum, more than 1,000 buses could be bought outright, or even more could be purchased on the "instalment" plan which has been used by the motor coach company. The coach company makes a down payment of about 20 per cent and pays the instalments over six or seven years out of current revenues.

The elevated lines are in bankruptcy proceedings and have virtually no cash available, so any substantial purchases of rapid transit equipment, before the proposed unification, would have to come from earnings derived from a fare increase. The company has offered to buy one new streamlined train, equal to eight of its present cars, with a $400,000 fund which is expected to be released in the near future.

CITY BUS SERVICE CRITICIZED BY 4 IN STATE HEARING

The service of the Chicago Motor Coach company was criticized yesterday by four witnesses at a hearing before the Illinois Commerce commission. The witnesses were questioned by Abe Stein, attorney for the City club, which is seeking improvements in the bus service.

Mrs. Helen Carr, 1132 Loyola avenue, first vice president of the Woman's City club, said lurching by a bus recently threw her to the floor while she was riding on the second deck. She suggested two man operation of buses be required.

Harry Stops, manager of the Poinsettia hotel at 5528 Hyde Park boulevard, testified that the noise and fumes from coaches passing the hotel made it difficult to rent rooms. He said the noise from buses drowns out radio reception even on the 12th floor, if the windows are open. Thomas McNichols, 182 North Leamington avenue, and Mr. Henry Boehmer, 6310 Lakewood avenue, complained that exhaust fumes make bus riding uncomfortable. The case was continued to Oct. 13.

SOUTH SIDE BUS LINE ORDERED BY COMMERCE BODY

The Illinois Commerce commission yesterday ordered the Chicago surface lines to install thru bus service between Western avenue and the Indiana state line along 103d and 106th street. The installation, agreed to by the city, the company, and the state highway department, will be experimental pending a study of results of the operation.

The new route, which is expected to be in operation by Oct. 15, will run in 103d street from Western avenue to Torrence avenue, south to 106th street, and east to Indianapolis avenue.

The bus operation will replace a street car line and two short bus routes which now run over part of the new route, which is 8¼ miles long.

Admits Disobeying Order Not to See Married Man.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday was asked to use his good offices to break up a home.

The request was made by a young woman with red hair who was addresesd in the courtroom as Miss X and who is under injunction not to see or comunicate with Joseph Levin, 31 years old, 3000 Washington boulevard. His wife, Mary, 28, of 3527 Van Buren street, is suing him for separate maintenance and has named Miss X.

The injunction was issued last Friday by Judge Cornelius Harrington. Yesterday Miss X. who in private life calls herself Jean Levin and also lives at 3000 Washington boulevard, told Judge Finnegan she has violated the order and intends to continue doing so. She also suggested the judge should persuade Mrs. Levin to take a divorce.

The Judge Gasps.

"Do you mean to say that you have violated that injunction?" gasped the judge. "Do you think it fine and honorable to brazenly admit these things?"

"Yes, I do!" Miss X replied emphatically. "It is the only thing we can do, since his wife won't take a divorce. I have been with Joseph since Friday. I've told you, it's the only thing we can do."

When Judge Finnegan recovered his voice he cited Miss X for contempt of court and ordered her to appear on Sept. 29 to show cause why she should not be held in contempt and punished accordingly.

Always Wooed Back.

Meanwhile, Attorney Samuel M. Starr, for Mrs. Mary Levin, brought out that Joseph had left her last March 1 and that, altho he had tried several times to return home, he had been wooed back each time by Miss X, who is 26. The Levins have a daughter, Helene, 7.

"You get away from him and stay away," Judge Finnegan ordered. "I will punish you if you don't. Pick yourself a man who isn't married."

Levin, an automobile accessories salesman, was not in court. Attorney Starr said he had been unable to find him to serve an injunction similar to that served against Miss X.

POLICE DETAIN MAN AFTER MAJOR BOWES GETS EXTORTION NOTE.

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—A telegram received by Major Edward Bowes, radio impresario, demanding that $10,000 in cash be delivered to an appointed place led today to the arrest of a 28 year old New Jersey man.

The telegram designated the Edison hotel as the spot for delivery of the cash. Detectives said a man giving the name of Francis E. Keith of Upper Montclair, N. J., walked into the lobby at the appointed time and asked if any messages had been left.

Police said Keith told them he was a former patient in Essex County hospital at Cedar Grove, N. J. He was taken to Bellevue hospital for observation.

GORCZAK SLAYING SUSPECT FREED ON $10,000 BOND

Samuel Ginsburg, alias Gaines, charged with the goon murder of Anton Gorczak, was released by Judge Julius H. Miner in Criminal court yesterday on $10,000 cash bond. Ginsburg, a partner of Murray Humphreys, the gangster, in the Klever-Shampay Kleaners at 4633 Cottage Grove avenue, had been held since last Thursday, when he was named by David Goldblatt as the man who ordered the attack on Gorczak.

Bond was set after Ginsburg's attorney, William Scott Stewart, instituted habeas corpus proceedings. Harold Levy, Goldblatt's attorney, meanwhile won permission for physicians to treat Goldblatt in the County jail.

An indictment charging Goldblatt with murder was returned yesterday. Gorczak, a driver for a rival cleaning firm, was beaten to death April 23. Goldblatt has confessed participation in the beating.

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

IDEAL HOLIDAYS AHEAD FOR FALL VACATIONISTS

Motor Club Head Lists Popular Spots.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Chicagoland residents who haven't yet taken their 1941 vacations have an ideal holiday ahead of them if they plan to travel in late September or October. They will have the benefit of attractive weather and scenery, lack of crowds, and, in many instances, lower rates.

Many Popular Spots.

Hayes said his organization had found that these regions are especially popular as objectives of early fall vacationists: The forested areas of Michigan and Wisconsin, the Black hills and Badlands of South Dakota, the Great Smoky mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina, the Ozarks of Missouri and Arkansas, the Gulf coast of Mississippi and Louisiana, and Indiana's Brown county and the district around French Lick Springs.

The small area in southwestern South Dakota where jagged peaks tower higher than anywhere else east of the Rockies is becoming one of America's most talked about vacationlands. Scene of the old west of Deadwood Dick, Calamity Jane and Wild Bill Hickok, it is today dominated by the Mount Rushmore memorial and affords some of this country's finest views. Autumn is the perfect time to visit the Black hills.

Fish, Hunt in Ozarks.

In their brief history as part of the national park system, the Great Smokies have awed more than 2 million visitors. The 436,000 acre tract of heavily wooded slopes is perpetually cloaked in the blue haze for which that land of mountain music and picturesque speech is widely known.

Fishermen, hunters and sightseers are coming to have a high regard for the Ozarks at this time of the year. The region immortalized by Harold Bell Wright's "The Shepherd of the Hills" is particularly attractive around the Lake of the Ozarks, formed by the Bagnell dam on the Osage river, and Lake Taneycomo, fed by the James and White rivers.

Many persons who return to the Gulf coast year after year agree that September and October are the best months for sojourns there, despite the fact that the heaviest patronage is in February and March.

Fall colorings already have come to the north woods, and will be arriving in the southern Indiana resort country within a few weeks. The colors annually are drawing larger crowds.

Travelers who are limited in time and money can take advantage of reasonably priced tours by rail and bus. For instance, a 6 day journey from Chicago to the Smokies and return can be had for $68.50, and an 8 day journey over the same route for $83.50. These are on an all-expense basis.

Those wishing to go further afield have such trips as the following at their disposal:

California, with stops at San Francisco, Los Angeles, and surroundings, and with a call at the Grand canyon en route, $126.90, traveling by coach, or $147.63, traveling by Pullman.

A round trip via streamliner from Chicago to Miami, Fla., $41.85. A 10 day journey, with seven days at Miami Beach and a 3 day excursion to Havana, Cuba, $59.50.

A two weeks' "land cruise" to Mexico, $174.50, with transportation, room with bath, meals, and motor side trips out of Mexico City included.

At the End of the Rainbow

The new Rainbow Arch bridge at Niagara Falls will be dedicated Oct. 7. It will replace the Honeymoon bridge, goal of newlyweds until it collapsed two and a half years ago.

Dedication Oct. 7

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 16 [Special].—Replacing the Honeymoon bridge which collapsed two and a half years ago, the $3,500,000 Rainbow Arch bridge across Niagara Falls is to be dedicated Oct. 7.

Both higher and wider than was its predecessor, the new span will be approached from the American side via 12 motor routes, and from the Canadian side via 14 such passages. It is designed to provide unrivalled views of the falls and surrounding scenery.

The dedication will be attended by many notables from the United States and Canada.

When is the best time to visit Mexico? B. J.

Many travelers prefer late fall and early winter, when the rains have ceased and everything is green.

What can you tell me about St. Vincent Island? C. L. O'F.

Sometimes called "the loveliest isle of the Windwards," St. Vincent has a history as colorful as that of any of its neighbors in the West Indies.

It was to Kingstown, chief port of the island, that Capt. Bligh was bound with a cargo of breadfruit trees from Tahiti when the famous mutiny interrupted the voyage on the Bounty. But it was not until four years later, in 1793, that Bligh finally reached St. Vincent. [For some time he had remained in London for the trial of the mutineers.] He imported 300 breadfruit trees, descendants of which flourish everywhere on the island today.

A short distance from Kingstown is the Soufriere. This volcano erupted violently in 1812 and again in 1902, and the second time it wiped out the last of the native Carib population. It is now quiescent.

Kingstown, its brightly painted villas almost hidden by the foliage, lies at the foot of towering mountains. It faces one of the finest harbors in the West Indies and is flanked by two forts. It is reached by a number of cruise ships sailing from New York.

When is the dove shooting season in New Mexico? D. M.

Books of Week Turn Spotlight on Chicagoans

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Chicago week, we might call this, and not be far wrong, for Chicagoans contribute largely to it.

Mining Town Life

"The Long Winter Ends," by Newton G. Thomas. [Macmillan, $2.75.] Published yesterday.

Like his hero, born in Cornwall, England, and an emigrant to the copper mines of Michigan's upper peninsula, but now living in Chicago, is Newton G. Thomas, author of a novel about life in a mining community in northern Michigan which has the same quality of simple goodness that made "How Green Was My Valley" a best seller.

When the Cornwall mines close young Jim and three others from his native town come to America to seek work. Two of them stay almost by chance at Allouez, and as the book closes Jim has taken root there and his wife and child are on their way to him—to end the long winter of his discontent and of the title.

Discontent is the wrong word. Homesickness is a better one. But Jim's homesickness is for a home, his own home, with his wife and the child whom he has never seen, rather than for the Cornwall village he has left. Passionately prodded by that homesickness, Jim, who can neither read nor write when he arrives, works hard to learn to do both, and his simple devotion to the urgencies of learning so that he may write to his young wife, Pol, is tenderly recorded.

Life in that mining town, despite poverty, despite hard work, despite inevitable tragedy, was good because the people who lived that life were good. They raised their voices in "carols" to God and believed in righteousness.

"The Long Winter Ends" is written in the Cornwall "crake," a brogue which is at times almost as strange to our ears as "American" was to the Cornwall miners who kept close to one another and resented "foreigners." Once you have conquered the dialect the gentle tale captures you.

Tale of the Wild West

"Pistols for Hire," by Nelson C. Nye. [Macmillan, $2.] Published yesterday.

Nelson C. Nye was born in Chicago. He now lives in New Mexico, the scene of this rip-roaring tale of the Lincoln county range war of 1879 in which Billy the Kid [according to Mr. Nye] took a leading but an inglorious part. The book's hero is another rider for the Chisums, one Flick Farsom, who had all the qualities of bravery that legend has erroneously hung around the memory of Billy the Kid.

"Pistols for Hire" is written in idiomatic cowboyese, which somebody else will have to identify as authentic. To this reader Agnes Morley Cleaveland's talk in "No Life for a Lady" sounds like the real McCoy, but Mr. Nye's sounds synthetic. Perhaps you readers of westerns will tell me—after you've been shot out of your chairs by "Pistols for Hire."

Our City's Architecture

"Old Chicago Houses," by John Drury. [University of Chicago Press, $4.] Published yesterday.

One hundred Chicago houses, built between 1836 and 1908, famous for their architecture, their owners, or the life which they sheltered, are the subjects of 100 short articles by our fellow Chicagoan, John Drury. They comprise a brief who's who, with the essential data of their lives included up to date. They are still in use, altho most of them have seen better days.

Write for Children

Rearing of Children

"In Defense of Children," by Bert I. Beverly, M. D. [John Day, $2.] Published last Thursday.

"A Common Sense Guide to Rearing Children" is the subtitle of this brilliantly titled little volume written by another fellow Chicagoan [of Oak Park].

Dr. Beverly is assistant clinical professor of pediatrics [diseases of children to you] at Rush Medical School, associate attending neurologist at the Children's Memorial hospital, and national chairman of the mental health committee of the American Academy of Pediatrics, among other august things, but there's nothing august about his "Defense." Anybody who can read can manage it. Those who have children will find themselves feeling about it like the little man who stuck in his thumb and pulled out a plum. Those who haven't may well glean from its interesting and often sprightly pages enough ammunition to make their friends who ARE parents want to gag them. Dr. Beverly "defends" children from birth thru adolescence. Nobody could ask more than that in 216 pages.

And while we're on the subject of babies and Chicago, there's a brand new edition of the best baby record book anybody ever saw. It's called "Our Baby's First Seven Years." It is published by the Mothers Aid of the Chicago Lying-In hospital, and the proceeds from its sale [$2.50 in cloth, $3.50 in silk] are devoted to its charity fund. It's the perfect lying-in present, incidentally.

There's a Lush Fall Harvest in Juvenile Books

"Loopy," by Hardie Gramatky. [Putnam, $1.75.]

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

The books listed above are part of a rich harvest of reading for young people this fall. Three are by Chicago writers.

Genevieve Foster, who lives in Evanston and who has illustrated many juveniles, has created a most unusual book in "George Washington's World."

Divided into short chapters and beautifully illustrated by the author, this handsome volume tells in lively, informative fashion the essential facts about the French revolution, the beginning of political parties in this country, the start of the national banks, and about Marie Antoinette and Louis XVI., Benjamin Franklin, Lafayette, and many others.

Reading this book is like slowly turning the globe of the world of Washington's time, a globe on which one sees men and events as well as places. It will be fascinating reading for any boy or girl over 10 or 12.

Babette Deutsch, the poet, has done a distinguished life of Walt Whitman. The book is the winner of the Julia Ellsworth Ford prize of $2,000 for the best juvenile of the year. The author never talks down to her young audience. The result is a book that is just as engrossing to the adult as it is to those of teen age.

Whitman is seen first as a young boy, a descendant of seafaring folk, then as a struggling worker and budding poet in adolescence. Thru the years of the Civil war, when Lincoln on first seeing him said, "HE looks like a MAN," to the final dark days of poverty and old age and failing health, Miss Deutsch traces his career with the understanding one poet has for another. Her prose is beautifully simple and lucid.

Clara Ingram Judson, author of George Stephenson's biography in "Railway Engineer," like Genevieve Foster, lives in Evanston. In this slender volume, charmingly illustrated in the spirit of the 18th century by Eric Simon, she recounts for boys and girls the interesting life of the man who made the first successful locomotive. Because he was a sturdy, hearty, clever, and ingenious boy and man, able as some one said, "to fix anything," his adventures make appealing reading.

Elizabeth Palmer, who tells an engaging tale of a little spaniel who came to live with the Rand family [father, mother, Tommy, Kathy, and their faithful cook, Devaughnia], lives in Chicago and has written three other books for children. This one is brimming over with good fun and humor.

For the very young is swoopy "Loopy," a cheerful little airplane, by Hardie Gramatky, who created "Little Toot" and "Hercules." Loopy's story is told almost entirely in brightly colored pictures. Little boys are sure to love this book.

Another Story of the Mormons

"The Harvest Waits," by Lorene Pearson. [Bobbs-Merrill, $2.50.] Published Monday.

The dramatic story of Mormon pioneering again is told fictionally in "The Harvest Waits," making still another successor to Vardis Fisher's "Children of God" and Maurine Whipple's "The Giant Joshua," both tremendously popular novels using the doubly dramatic material of pioneering and plural marriage.

"The Harvest Waits" gives less emphasis to the religious and more to the social and emotional aspects of the early Mormon life than some of its predecessors, and altho, in its first half, Angus Bastian is a powerful and often cruel leader, it is primarily the womenfolk of the community who capture the interest of the reader. Not all of them are plural wives, and, except in one tragic case, the plural wives do not complain of their position, or resent it, and go unemotionally about their business of providing sons for the eternal glory of their husbands and for their own promised salvation in the hereafter.

From direst want, the small group of members of the United Order, under the leadership of Angus Bastian, makes a settling pilgrimage to a fertile valley which they call Joppa. The earth lavishes them with plenty, but Angus will have no worldliness among his people and refuses the women fripperies like petticoats and china plates, and their primitive life remains unadorned. Until, that is, the worldly Watts, whom they had left in the old valley to their grasping ways, arrives, bag and much baggage, to take over, eventually, the community. Old Hiram Watt, bitter enemy to Angus Bastian, lives, however, to see his own ideals broken by man and by nature, and the Mormon faith's life-blood drained. F. B.

DICK TRACY—Day of Parting

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1941.

• THRU THE • LOOKING GLASS

There are women who go all thru life with elbows that are beautifully padded in soft, smooth skin. But they're rare. The elbows of most of us are pretty awful to look at and while it's fortunate in one way that we don't see them in another it's a real tragedy. We'll do something about defects that show!

Elbow skin is dark, horny and wrinkled just because it's neglected, and when it gets so unsightly it's more than time to give it some attention.

Creaming comes first. Slather cream on your elbows as religiously as you do on your face and neck and you won't have much trouble. Try to remember to give the elbows their share of cream, worked in well, each time you bathe. Or use one of those after bath lotions that isn't greasy but serves as a good lubricant and softener.

The creaming or oiling will soften that horny, dingy skin, but you'll have to give it even stiffer treatment if you want to get rid of it. Scrubbing is the stuff. Use a stiff brush, or a loofah, and a bland soap. The friction will smooth down the scaliness and stimulate the tissue of the whole area to a much healthier state. After scrubbing, cream again.

Elbow pads to keep the cream in place aren't as silly as they sound. They slip on easily, and stay on, and the cream covered skin gets the full benefit of the oiling. They save the bed linen in the overnight treatment, too.

See Martinelli as Next Opera Art Director

Giovanni Martinelli, distinguished Italian-American tenor of the Chicago and Metropolitan Opera companies, will probably become the new artistic director of the Chicago Opera company to succeed Henry Weber, who has resigned.

Martinelli arrived here yesterday to confer with Robert Hall McCormick, chairman of the board of trustees of the Chicago Opera company. It was stated by the company that no final announcement of the new connection could be made until today, when Fortune Gallo, general director of the opera, will return from Detroit and confer with Martinelli.

The appointment, if it is confirmed today, will have distinguished precedents. Mary Garden, also a singer, headed the Chicago Opera company during the fabulous season of 1921-'22. Edward Johnson, the tenor, is now general manager of New York's Metropolitan opera.

Martinelli has long been known to the Chicago opera going public. He appeared often at Ravinia during the years when the north shore park was the summer opera capital of the United States, and for several seasons his name has been regularly appearing in the casts of the resident downtown companies at the Civic Opera house.

Among the rôles for which he is famous are Rhadames in Verdi's "Aïda," Otello in the same composer's "Otello," and Eleazar in Halévy's "La Juive." His new duties will not prevent him taking part in actual performances, both here and in New York.

Martinelli's most recent Chicago appearances were made last month at the Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field and at one of the Chicago park district's and Chicago Federation of Musicians' free concerts in Grant park.

Martinelli was born in Italy in 1885. He made his debut in Milan in 1910. Of all opera singers now before the American public, Martinelli's experience and background are probably the most impressive. His répertoire numbers nearly 60 operas. He is at home in most of the principal opera houses of the world.

The Chicago Opera company yesterday announced a new series of auditions for singers. At least one man and one woman, according to present plans, will be chosen to appear with the company during the 1941 season. Applications should be addressed to the opera auditions committee, Chicago Opera company, 20 North Wacker drive. Applicants will be notified when to appear for a hearing.

Vacations Over for Workers in Fashion Show

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Vacations are over for the 60 or 65 members of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital, for intensive work starts today on the annual fashion show, which this year will be held on Oct. 21. Mrs. John W. Gary, president of the board and general chairman of the show committee, cut short a western trip to come home by train to preside at the first fall meeting of the board, held yesterday at Mrs. George A. Ranney's in Lake Forest.

Most of the women at the meeting just had returned from trips, so not all of the conversation was about the show, for every one was interested to hear about every one else's summer experiences.

Mrs. Gary had motored to California, stopping at Glacier park, Jasper park, and Lake Louise en route. Mrs. Seymour Wheeler is back from three weeks at Wianno on Cape Cod; Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams Jr. recently returned home after spending the summer in Charlevoix, Mich.; Mrs. Selim McArthur is just back from a summer on Mackinac Island; Mrs. Grant Laing's address until lately was Castle Springs, Mich.; Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson has been in California, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf has been in New York and White Sulphur Springs.

Mrs. Ranney is planning a trip rather than remembering one, for she and Mr. Ranney soon will pay their usual autumn visit to the Virginia hot springs. One of the board members, Mrs. Frank Hixon, had sent a letter to the meeting assuring Mrs. Gary that she would be back in ample time to work for the show. She just has left for a fortnight trip that will include stops in Rancho, Santa Fe, Pasadena, Santa Barbara, and San Francisco.

Mrs. Wolf is the fashion revue chairman and she and Mrs. Gary have the task of selecting the stage decorations. Mrs. Huntington B. Henry, Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., and her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. Irving Osborne Jr., are co-chairmen of the exhibitors' committee. Mrs. I. Newton Perry heads the mannequin committee with Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., Mrs. McArthur, Mrs. Ranney, and Mrs. Morrison Waud as her coworkers.

The other committees and their members are: Properties, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. John L. Cochran, Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins, Mrs. Harold Eldridge, and Miss Cornelia Conger; publicity, Mrs. John A. Stevenson, Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Mrs. John C. Pitcher, Mrs. Gordon Lang, and Mrs. Watson McLallen; boxes, Mrs. Adams Jr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson; tickets, Mrs. Walter Byron Smith; evening tables, Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin II., Mrs. Charles F. Glore, and Mrs. Gordon P. Kelley; shares, Mrs. Sterling Morton and Mrs. Stanley Keith; programs, Mrs. Glore; tea and dinner, Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland and Mrs. Theodore A. Shaw; flowers and cigarets, Mrs. Grant Laing and Mrs. John D. Ames, and bar, Mrs. Louis C. Sudler.

ROOSEVELT SAID:
(Jan 3, 1936)

"Peace is threatened by those who seek selfish power. The world has witnessed similar eras—as in the days when petty kings and feudal barons were changing the map of Europe every fortnight, or when great emperors and great kings were engaged in a mad scramble for colonial empire.

"We hope we are not again at the threshold of such an era. But if face it we must, then the United States and the rest of the Americas can play but one role:

"Thru a well ordered neutrality to do naught to encourage the contest, thru adequate defense to save ourselves from embroilment and attack, and thru example and all legitimate encouragement to persuade other nations to return to the ways of peace and good will."

Mary Curtis, C. C. Gramer to Be Married

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE north shore's latest romantic news concerns Miss Mary Curtis, daughter of Dr. Arthur Hale Curtis of Evanston, and Clifford Charles Gramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Gramer of Wyanet, Ill. Their engagement was revealed to a small circle of relatives at a cocktail party and buffet supper on Sunday, but the first public announcement is being made today.

Like many young people whose plans are influenced by draft boards, Miss Curtis and Mr. Gramer had their bridal party completed before their engagement was announced. The wedding will take place at 8:30 o'clock on Oct. 18 in St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Evanston. The Rev. John Heuss will perform the ceremony, and the Rev. Kenneth O. Crosby will read the betrothal. A reception will follow in the Curtis home.

Mrs. William L. White to Be Matron of Honor.

Miss Curtis' cousin, Mrs. William Luther White, will come from Philadelphia, Pa., to be her matron of honor. Another cousin, Miss Georgia Rockwell of Lake Bluff, will serve as bridesmaid with Mrs. L. Gifford Gardner, Mrs. John Davenport, Mrs. Jay Berwanger, and Miss Jean Phillips. Miss Curtis was bridesmaid in June for Mrs. Gardner, the former Peggy Bear. Mr. Gramer has asked Robert Harlan of Cincinnati, O., to be best man, and Dr. William Curtis, the bride's cousin, Dr. White, Robert Johnson of Wyanet, Robert Brinker of Chicago, and Arthur Hale Curtis Jr., to usher.

Both Miss Curtis and her fiancé were graduated from the University of Chicago. Previously she had attended Connecticut college, and last year she studied at the Prince school in Boston. After their marriage Mr. Gramer and his bride will live in Battle Creek, Mich.

Debut Party Today for Julia Turner.

Tennis is on the after-luncheon program for a party Miss Margaret Thompson is giving at the Shoreacres club today for her debutante niece, Miss Julia Turner. The luncheon is being called Miss Turner's debut, altho her mother, Mrs. LeBaron Turner, is planning another sort of entertainment for her at Christmas time. Miss Turner will leave on Sept. 25 for Bryn Mawr college.

New students at the School of Domestic Arts and Sciences will be guests at a faculty tea from 4 to 5 o'clock this afternoon. The school opened on Monday. Mrs. Russell Cooke, president of the executive committee of the board of directors, has announced Nov. 12 as the date of the annual reception by her committee.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings is looking forward to a visit from her daughter, Mrs. Curtis Munson. The former Edith Cummings comes on Sunday from the Munson ranch in Edmonton and will leave the next day for Washington, D. C., where Mr. Munson will be working this winter. The Munsons have taken a house in Georgetown, the rectory of Christ church at 3112 O street Northwest.

The Misses Frances and Marion Munson, who have spent the summer with their mother in Providence and Narragansett, R. I., will be with their father and Mrs. Munson during the winter. Anne, the youngest daughter, will make her debut in Providence this season. Miss Byrd Littlefield, daughter of Mrs. Calvin G. Littlefield of North State street, returned on Monday from a visit with Frances and Marion Munson in Rhode Island. Mrs. Littlefield's son, Goodrich, has left for his freshman year at the University of Virginia.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 16.—Joe Stern, alias Joseph von Sternberg, is doing a fairly astonishing thing—and I know, because I've just seen some of his rushes. He is coming close to making another Marlene Dietrich out of Gene Tierney.

Gene Tierney is the typical American girl—handsome, healthy, normal, and a New Englander. She was a bouncing co-ed on Broadway in "The Male Animal." Suddenly to see her on the screen as a droopy-eyed, slinky-gowned, earringed sample of lassitudinous lushness is quite a shock. It would be a silly shock except for this: She's okay, and plenty okay. She is not out of key, not a corn-fed babe trying to be sexy; she's . . . well, she's it. And this is one of Joseph von Sternberg's two fairly astonishing new accomplishments.

The other is Joe himself, and it's in reverse. He seems to have remained himself, when you might have expected a wise transformation.

Von Sternberg, who once carried a whole studio to a number of years of prosperity on the Dietrich wave, has been in the Hollywood doghouse for years. No matter how often a correspondent would write that it was a shame for such a great man to remain unemployed, he remained unemployed—because he was indeed a difficult screwball. Finally, Arnold Pressburger engaged him to direct "The Shanghai Gesture," with Ona Munson as Mother Goddam [now Mother Gin Sling], pretty Miss Tierney as Poppy, and Victor Mature, the hunk of man, as a hunk of man.

If Hollywood expected a new and chastened Von Sternberg to arise from the cold ashes of long unemployment it got fooled. First thing he did was to put a blackboard on his set. "If anybody wants to talk to me," he commanded, "let them write his name on the blackboard. Then I will consider his request." During the first week of shooting on the United Artists' lot he ruled that nobody from the publicity department could come on the stage. The press agents could only counter feebly by ruling that nobody from the production department could come into publicity.

Von Sternberg, grayish, hawk nosed, wearing dark glasses and a gray Fu Manchu mustache, is directing again for the first time since he made "Sergeant Madden" two years ago at M-G-M. He directs by a clever combination of frightful insult and hidden compliment. He tortures his actors. He twits Miss Tierney quite crudely about her marriage to Count Oleg Cassini until anger flames in her eyes; then, having brought her alive, he softens her down a bit with a "darling" and shoots his scene.

He lectures, pontificates. If an interviewer drops in he opens with a statement of philosophy before the poor pencil clutcher can even open his mouth for a query. Any time during the day he will emit a discourse for his hirelings.

Von Sternberg made Dietrich, and vice versa, and always there has been the closest bond between the two. One Hollywood veteran of keen intelligence put their relationship to me this way: In the beginning, Von Sternberg made notable pictures by projecting Dietrich against colorful backgrounds. As his adoration of her increased, he began shooting Dietrich and forgetting the backgrounds, until all you had was pictures of Marlene behind fish nets. The movie was forgotten for a series of close-ups, and that, for quite a long while, was the end of both Sternberg and Dietrich.

Marlene came back in "Destry" with a bang, has done fairly well since then. Joe is now engaged upon his comeback—and it's a made-to-order vehicle for the return trip. "The Shanghai Gesture," even in a faintly bowdlerized version, is exotic and picturesque. You get Victor Mature in a red fez, Gene Tierney in a languorous mood, Ona Munson with three-inch fingernails made of sterling silver on account of the aluminum shortage. And you get a gambling hell that with its elaborate beauty would make losing your life savings seem a merry prank.

Von Sternberg has a shattering and shatterproof ego—but he is not to be considered a guy striking a pose. The fact that he turned up the same as he always was, after a fine dose of oblivion, proves this. More than one person in Hollywood will maintain that he is this town's only first-rate artist—a man of great and violent integrity. He is acknowledged to be among the first three or four master cameramen, and he's the only director in the business who maintains his cinematographer's union affiliations and shoots his own stuff. He is a painter and a sculptor, and fancies himself as a philosopher.

"No Light Came On"

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, young American girl sent by a New York firm to Paris to buy antiques, runs into her snobbish Cousin Lou, who is Mrs. Hiram Rentrew, a rich widow. Her cousin insists that Gay stay with her, but soon after Gay moves in her cousin is taken to a hospital, ill, and Gay is left in the apartment with her cousin's brother-in-law, Horace Rentrew, and the servants, Hortense and Manx. Gay goes to visit Cousin Lou in the hospital and runs into Miles Dorsey, a young Englishman, who is a junior partner in a firm that looks after Mrs. Rentrew's affairs; Raoul de Chabenil, a handsome young Frenchman, and Estrella, her cousin's dressmaker. Her cousin insists that Gay take her jewel box, with a valuable necklace in it, home and put it in the wall safe. Raoul insists on driving Gay home and during the drive he bumps into another car, and at the same time the jewel box is thrown to the floor of his car, but Gay retrieves it. That night Gay goes to dinner with Geoff and Catherine Macadam, old friends of hers, and Miles Dorsey. They see Raoul and Estrella in the café together and when Gay asks them about Raoul they act mysterious. Gay asks Miles to persuade her cousin to send the jewel box to the bank. When Gay gets home that night she learns her cousin has died.

INSTALMENT IX.

STRANGE NOISE.

Little as it could matter now I wasn't going to hurt Horace by mentioning the boy friend. As it was Manx's eyes had leapt in a tight, grim way while Hortense was breathing hard and fastening a pinpoint gaze to Horace's clammy face. It was the first time I'd seen Hortense's head uncovered. It was too small for her rotund body, her hair screwed on top like the stem to a pear.

"Tiens," she muttered, and again, low and explosive, "Tiens!" so she understood English. I'd wondered about that.

Horace had started weaving again in a stricken, aimless sort of way. Disjointly he told me what he had heard over the wire. It wasn't certain just when Marise had died. The nurse, going in to collect the supper tray, had found her slumped sideways under the bed-table, stone dead, altho her body was still warm. They had tried every restorative. Nothing worked.

"Just a knock-out, that's all."

Was it? For two of us, yes. In the servants' watchful faces I was seeing—or thought I was—an odd hint of fulfillment.

Goodness, no! Not in both. Manx, I'd have staked my shirt, wasn't Hortense's intimate any more than he was Horace's or mine. The lone wolf was how I saw him—which wasn't to say he and the cook separately hadn't foreseen this abrupt death. I was right. I'd caught it again—two detached but kindred glimmers, adamant and—was it triumphant? I'd no chance to dwell on the puzzle, because at that minute Horace broke. Manx barely managed to shove forward the chair he was groping for. Horace squashed into it and began crying like a baby.

I've been thru some embarrassing times with men's emotions. I'd have said the occasion when Mr. Goldmark discovered his six Duncan Phyfe chairs were faked in a backshed in Greenwich Village topped everything in that line, but this experience was even more shattering. Sorry as I was for poor never-grown-up Horace there was nothing I could say, nothing I could do but stand by. The servants did the same, not lifting a finger. That somehow made me rage.

"Manx," I hissed, "bring some brandy!"

There was a little activity then, and Hortense, ostentatiously mopping her own eyeballs, slouched off to get a Cachet Favrie. With half a drug store inside him Horace agreed in a watery way we could do nothing till morning, he supposed, and faded off, leaving me to shiver back to my bed.

My bed? A dead woman's bed. Gruesome thought, if I let myself face up to it. Hortense tracked after me, saw me looking at the Renaissance posts, and with obliging eagerness offered to move me back to my old quarters.

"No, Hortense, it's late; we're all tired. Besides, I gave Madame my word."

The last had slipped out accidentally, but at once Hortense replied: "But certainly, Mademoiselle. It is on account of the jewels, is it not? Monsieur told me they were here."

Two quite genuine tears rolled down her blotched creases as she added that it was very commendable of me to set my own feelings aside in order to respect the wishes of my dead relative. It occurred to me that I might have been misjudging Hortense. After all, if at bedrock she wasn't honest and loyal, wouldn't Cousin Lou have known? Fifteen years is a long time.

"This will mean a sad change for you, won't it, Hortense?"

"Ah," she said deeply, "Mademoiselle speaks truth! When one is no longer young readjustments come hard."

It was strange to hear aptly worded expressions coming out of that coarse peasant face. What a race, these French, among whom even the humblest put their speech into so cultivated a frame!

"Don't bother to smooth my pillows," I begged. "Go along, get some rest."

She went on fussing over the bed, and I noticed again the strong smell of—what was it? Wintergreen. It came, I believed, from the wad of cotton she habitually wore in her left ear. I called it wintergreen because it reminded me of the little pink candy drops Phil and I used to adore when we were small.

"Mademoiselle is very amiable," said Hortense with great dignity and charm. "Good night, then, and good repose."

I turned my key on her, but almost automatically. Worry about burglars wasn't anywhere on my horizon. My light out, I tried to calm down, but instead for fully another hour I lay strung-up, thinking over my queer sort of day.

The morning, of course, had been crashingly dull. Horace, despite my protests that I wasn't buying at present, had lured me along to his luxury shop and dangled every objet d'art he possessed before my eyes. His prices were high. It tickled me how a rich man's hobby had developed into a cutthroat passion for profits. Any excuse to make a deal. The moan Horace put up about hard times would have made a cat laugh. I knew from Cousin Lou they hadn't affected him.

It was at Marcel Simon's, Boulevard Malesherbes—consoles good, ormolu bogus—that I ran into Pete Peters, the colleague and rival buyer who'd crossed over with me 10 days ago. I'd told him he was wasting time and energy to hunt for a Reisener anything; and Pete had just smiled. Home, then, for a washup, before tooling out to the nursing home. Out again, to find Manx waiting in the car!

How had Manx known I'd be going to Passy? I'd taken the call myself. He or Hortense must have lifted the receiver of the extension, here on this bedside table.

"But why wonder about it?" I shrugged. "Those two know everything. It's the thing I don't like."

I thought of the Helen Schuyler—of the insidious undercurrents nosing beneath its suave, specious surface. Of the three utterly dissimilar callers I'd seen out there and encountered again, within a few hours, in the shabby little Aurore. Of the Marie Antoinette necklace bedded in a powder box with a modern bangle on top. Of a cup of cold consomme, outside in a corridor, on a starched, embroidered cloth!

Silly! Vegetable soup doesn't cause stroke.

What did cause it, tho? She'd got beautifully over the fire. . . .

Still dark. Yet here I was, awake once more, wide-eyed and alert as tho it were morning.

Readjustments! Hortense's word. I'd been jarred out of my temporary rut, and even in my subconscious I must have been thinking of the move suddenly thrust on me.

Yes, but why should that knowledge bludgeon me out of my slumbers? All I'd got to do was pack my belongings and drive to my usual hotel. My expense money had hardly been touched. If no job materialized I still had my passage home.

Way down the avenue a lone taxi honked a staccato note. Only the one, so quite soon it would be day. Terribly quiet here at this dawn hour. In so wealthy a district there were no banging dustbins, no street vendors whining their petits pois in the loving tone that made one think the little peas must be very young, very tender; none of the matutinal nuisances I began by cursing and after two mornings slept right thru.

Then why was I awake?

The reason was here, in this room.

The sound I heard was faint, barely detectable. A cat stropping its back against a fireguard—only there was no fireguard and no cat. Fingers trying a dial?

It was that! And now it had stopped.

My skin rose in goose bumps. It was no earthly good straining my eyes. These interlined curtains reduced everything to one dense, indecipherable black. Thank God, I hadn't moved. Regularly each year—hadn't my brother Phil hammered it into me?—quite a large number of people got bumped off simply thru interference with a burglar's game. "Gay, if you hear any one in your room, play possum!" I played possum now, but my brain raced like a millstream. If some one really was here I supposed the only thing to do was to let him or her get out of the actual room, then rush thru the other door and rouse Horace. The person must not be allowed out of the apartment. That is—awful thought!—if he wanted to slide away! He wouldn't, if his place were here.

Next I was asking myself how had any one contrived to get in? The bedroom had two doors. The hall one I'd locked; the other, leading to Cousin Lou's dressing room, I'd left unlocked, but its only outlet, a door communicating with a bathroom beyond, I had taken the trouble to secure. I began to wonder if what I'd heard was the vague stir of the heavy window curtains. There was a slight breeze.

Your Daughter Has a Right to Know

It is every mother's duty to tell her daughter physical facts. How much better that she learn them from you, rather than from girls her own age. In feminine hygiene, facts may be distorted, or wholly untrue. Result, many brides use over-strong solutions of acids which can actually burn or scar delicate tissues. Today, there is no need to use such deadly solutions. Science has given us Zonite. Non-poisonous, non-caustic, yet kills germs, bacteria on contact. Actually destroys undesirable odors. Protects personal daintiness. Most important, safe for delicate tissues. GASOLINE ALLEY—THE HOMING BIRD

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Sept. 17, 1941.

Universal day—A highly stimulating day for those wide awake enough to take advantage of opportunities.

Names and numbers—After seeing the powerful combination of numbers in the names of two members of the Axis, we find a curious explanation for the increasing obscurity of the third member, Mussolini. "M" is four, that number which has obscurity when in the negative mood. No wonder Mussolini has to call Hitler master. Four can never stand up to the power of an eight. If we look at the "B" of the first name, we find it is a two, the lowest vibration of this combination. The two and four must bow to the ruling eight's. Hitler and Hirohito. Hitler has a four in his first name, the "d," but the strong one of the "A" comes first, hiding the weakness of the four.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The secret of good barbecuing, whether it's done in a barbecue pit or in an oven, is a long, slow cooking, and frequent basting with the barbecue sauce.

If you have a Dutch oven, you may use it for these pork ribs, slow heat, of course, but you'll want to pour all of the barbecue sauce over the ribs at once.

BARBECUED SPARE RIBS.
[Serves six.]

4 pounds spare ribs
¼ cup butter
3 tablespoons chopped onion
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 small bay leaf, crumbled
1 tablespoon celery seed
1 teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
½ cup catsup
¼ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar
2 cups meat stock, bouillon or consommé

Brown the ribs in a heavy skillet. Put them on a rack in an open roaster and brush over with barbecue sauce. Roast in a slow oven, 300 degrees, for 2½ or 3 hours, basting frequently with the sauce. To prepare the sauce, brown onion in butter, add flour, and blend. Add seasonings and stock and stir until thickened.

SCALLOPED EGGPLANT.

Here's a way to get lots of good flavor into this dish. Dice the eggplant, after peeling it, and brown the pieces lightly in butter. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place the browned eggplant in a buttered casserole and cover it with medium white sauce. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs or grated cheese, and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour or until nicely browned.

If you're in the mood to try a variation on your usual nut bread [tomorrow's luncheon menu calls for nut bread sandwiches], orange marmalade bread is one of the simplest and best. If you have the marmalade on hand you can stir this one up in a jiffy. But always remember that any nut bread is better for standing overnight. Better make it soon, cool it, and wrap it in waxed paper for that ripening period.

ORANGE MARMALADE BREAD.
[1 loaf.]

3 cups sifted bread flour
½ teaspoon salt
5 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup broken nuts
1 egg
1 cup milk
Grated rind of 1 orange
¾ cup orange marmalade

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add nuts. Beat egg and mix with milk, orange rind, and marmalade. Stir vigorously into dry ingredients and fill greased loaf pan. Bake at 300 degrees for an hour and a quarter.

Timid Child Needs Help of Teacher, Too

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Psychiatrists do not always feel their greatest worry over the child who is openly rebellious, defiant, impudent, or disobedient. Teachers, as well as parents, might bear this in mind.

The very timid child, the one who effaces herself in the schoolroom, has no "nuisance value," and so is likely to be allowed to slide along, to her detriment. We see the same thing happen at home. But this overly shy, retiring child may be more of a personality problem than the child whose behavior causes a hullabaloo or is constantly annoying to others. She needs to be helped out of shell, and her difficulty. If a child passes the early years and then in her school life still shows real timidity, there must be insecurity or some other reason in her life at home, or it may have had its origin as a classroom trait in some unfortunate early experience in school.

The teacher has not an easy task in dealing with extreme timidity, because it is not an easy matter to find out the cause, nor is it an easy matter to remedy it. But when a child never offers to answer a question in school, when she merely murmurs her replies, when she'll go without something rather than ask for it, when she bursts into tears over something which would not distress another child, then something is awry in her inner life, always provided, of course, that she has a kindly, friendly teacher who does not frighten her. After a teacher is sure she herself is not responsible, she should find out what she can about that child's family life.

The teacher must bring out this child, not by forcing, but by sympathetically and tactfully showing her confidence in her and by devising ways to build up her confidence in herself, so that her self-consciousness and fearfulness disappear.

Snow Crystal Medallion

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Dainty snow crystals form the central motif of this lovely crocheted tablecloth, while the outer edge of the design is an adaptation of an Irish lace pattern. Ivory, mercerized, crochet cotton, or fine ecru thread, may be used to create the tablecloth. This same design is adaptable as a bedspread. The motifs are utterly simple to create, and they are joined together as made.

For instructions in crocheting the snow crystal medallion, No. 893, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

One of the best methods of picking up an extra trick is to "steal" it before the defenders can be fully aware of their ground. Note the declarer's excellent technique in the following hand, which was played in a match-point duplicate game.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

South had a choice of responses to North's opening diamond bid. Of course, he could have bid one spade, but he chose two no trump instead, because of the desirability of having the South hand led up to if the final contract turned out to be no trump. His choice was well taken.

South's avoidance of a spade bid brought him a good opening lead, West deciding to open a low spade in preference to leading away from his semi-tenace in hearts. The spade nine held the first trick and the club king was laid down. East won and returned a spade. Now came the first bit of deception on declarer's part. Instead of playing low, which would have let the cat out of the bag as to the spade situation, declarer played the jack. West won with the king and, under the impression that declarer's ace would fall with the queen on the next play, returned another spade. Dummy's queen held and declarer followed with the six spot. A low club was led to the jack and a heart was led toward dummy's queen. West can hardly be blamed for holding off, as he could not know what was coming. The heart queen won and two club tricks were cashed, ending in declarer's hand. Now the spade ace was laid down. At this point declarer still had the K-10 of hearts and the K-5 of diamonds. Dummy had its original four diamonds. West found that he could not discard safely. If he let go the heart ace, declarer's king would be promoted to a full trick, whereas to let go a diamond was to unguard the suit. Knowing that declarer had the heart king, and being uncertain about the diamond king, West properly discarded a low diamond, but to no avail. Declarer cashed the diamond king, then led his remaining diamond to dummy, and took the rest of the tricks. By shutting out the heart ace declarer took top on this board.

ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. Edward O. Honeycutt of Lincoln Park West has announced the engagement of her daughter, Evelyn Lynne, to Edward Catlin Coontz, son of the Rev. and Mrs. John W. Coontz. The wedding is planned for October. Mr. Coontz, a graduate of the University of Tulsa, is program director for a radio station in Tulsa, Okla. His fiancée sings over the radio under the name of Evelyn Lynne.

Best Forget That Vacation Time Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

They're asking it again, now that postvacation days do NOT bring that hoped for letter or promised telephone call.

"Should I have been so free with my kisses with that boy I met on vacation?" That's the sum and substance of what the young women have been asking us [and themselves, no doubt] since their return.

The answer to the question is pretty well solved for the girl when she begins looking back on her free-and-easy behavior and wondering if she did right, or if the impression she left with the young man is that she was just like a lot of other girls, with nothing fine or outstanding to be remembered for. If she feels she made herself cheap, she did. That's the correct answer for her.

The latest in this postvacation parade of queriers is "Honey," who admits to feeling cheap when she thinks of it. The girls at the summer resort taunted her for being an old-fashioned number, and so she let the boys kiss her regardless of whether she liked the intimate contact or not.

A girl fundamentally nice and fine with that sort of reaction to conduct ill-becoming her should turn a deaf ear to arguments about being an old-fashioned number. She isn't, as a matter of cold fact. It's the muddle-headed sisters so desperately eager for a date they'd do anything to appear popular who are the old-fogeys. Put that down in your little notebook, girls. The up-to-date girl maintains a code of behavior that inspires her "date" to say: "Gee, this girl is different. She's something I've been looking for!"

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Zilpha Veazie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Veazie of West 64th street, to Paul Burke Welldon, son of Mrs. Tena Welldon of Syracuse, N. Y., took place on Sept. 3 in Islesboro, Me., the summer home of the bride's parents. After a motor trip thru New England, Mr. Welldon and his bride will be at home for a year in Urbana, Ill., while she completes her senior year and he works for his Ph. D. in chemistry at the University of Illinois. Mr. Welldon received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Dartmouth college.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Futterer of West 96th street announce the marriage on Sept. 1 of their daughter, Bernice, to James H. Nebel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Nebel of South Park avenue. When they return from a wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Nebel will be at home in Chicago.

Peeress Visits City, Thanks the Red Cross

Lady Mountbatten, 39 years old, slight and considered one of the great beauties of England, came to the United States Aug. 14 with her husband when he assumed command of the reconditioned Illustrious, British aircraft carrier. She is now making a swift tour of five midwestern cities to thank the women of inland America for their part in sending 25 million dollars in Red Cross supplies to civilian war victims in England.

Her stay here, which terminated when she took a night plane for Minneapolis, Minn., included a visit to the British War Relief society headquarters, where the fur workers' union gave her a fur lined vest for her husband; a luncheon at the Chicago Woman's club and a visit to the headquarters of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross.

At the luncheon, given by Mrs. James Cathcart, chairman of Red Cross voluntary services for the Chicago area, she made a graceful, warm speech to Red Cross workers. From the outbreak of the war, she told them, the American Red Cross has turned down no request from England. Its gifts have included six million garments, exclusive of hospital garments; food, medical and hospital supplies, and air shelter equipment.

"I can give you an adequate idea of the material help you have given, but none of the psychological help," she said. "You have been one of the biggest factors in keeping up the morale of our civilian population. We who have seen these gifts in action are deeply conscious of our debt to you."

Lady Mountbatten has been active not only in the Red Cross work, having converted her home into a hospital, but is president of the London division of the St. John's Ambulance brigade. This is the peacetime ambulance, first aid, and nurses' organization of Great Britain, which has merged with the Red Cross in the war effort. She wore its uniform, a trim black alpaca suit with white striped lapels, and a black felt hat with a white ribbon.

"Altho at the moment the situation is very quiet," she said, after telling them how the two groups have coped with the havoc wrought by Nazi air raids, "I anticipate that we still have very hard times ahead. I shall return heartened beyond measure because of the great understanding and sympathy I have found between the women of our two great nations, an indescribable bond toward the final peace of the world—when it comes."

Ravinia Festival Returns 60 Pct. to 350 Guarantors

The Ravinia Festival association yesterday returned 60 per cent of its $45,000 guaranty fund to 350 guarantors, who made possible the sixth season of symphony music at Ravinia Park this summer. Mrs. Joseph C. Belden Jr. of Lake Forest received her check from Richard S. Pritchard, Ravinia treasurer, in a token ceremony in his office at the Harris Trust and Savings bank.

In a letter from Percy B. Eckhart, chairman of the Ravinia committee, and Howell W. Murray, chairman of the guaranty fund committee, which accompanied the checks, it was stated that attendance at the 26 concerts of the Chicago Symphony orchestra under guest conductors set a new high of 83,101 persons. The average attendance, 3,196, was also higher than in previous years.

A record for chamber music audiences was set at four concerts in a postsymphony week of chamber music by the Budapest String quartet. Approximately 7,594 persons attended this event.

Strengthen Abdominal Muscles and You'll Improve the Figure

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We already have spoken of the vitally important angle of strengthening and conditioning the abdominal muscles in a reducing program. Indeed, so vital is this factor that it can be said truly: A reduced figure is no better than its abdominal muscles. If they're not taut and strong, there's no promise whatever of a reduction course having any permanency. This fact explains why so many women who have faithfully dieted for a period and whose temporary slim appearance supports their enthusiastic claims, are seen a few weeks later with what looks very much like the before reducing silhouette.

There's no question about proper diet being the most effective agent in losing weight, but abdominal muscle strengthening will ever remain the force that dictates longevity of the slimmed appearance. You can't change that fact no matter how you may argue.

So the obvious conclusion is that, along with your food watching, you must strengthen and recondition the abdominal muscles unless you want to have to repeat your diet every little while and with none of the general health advantages and beauty advantages that go with the combination—diet and exercise—for toning the abdominal muscles.

Capt. Victor H. King, physical training instructor to the West Point cadets, claims the following exercise to be the best "stomach" strengthening and flattening exercise known.

Lie on your back on the floor with your knees drawn up as far as possible, but with feet on the floor. Clasp your hands behind your head and, keeping your head down against your hands and your hands in constant contact with the floor, bring your knees up until they touch your chin, nose, or shoulders. Return to starting position and repeat 20 times, at least. This exercise is perfect, too, for sway-backed figures.

Luxury Accent Needs a Muff This Season

BY REA SEEGER.

A muff of some sort is used for the luxury accent. Sometimes that inevitable duet, a muff and matching hat, gives what is called a fillup to an otherwise severely plain wool dress. The bigger and more breathtaking the muff, the plainer the dress. Muffs are of all sizes from the tiny finger affairs to the overwhelming models bigger than a bed pillow. Fur is, of course, the favorite but the fabric and ribbon feather and silk finds are well worth watching.

One genius has presented the felt muff, one of the most sensational ideas yet used, as a color and fabric contrast. Rows and rows of the carefully cut felt make it a fluffy looking affair, because the loops are uncut. Emerald green, cinnamon beige, carbon blue, black or navy or any color you may crave can be ordered.

Velvet combined with fur, velvet with wool, grosgrain ribbon, double ruffled taffeta, ruched bands of taffeta corded wool, tucked wool, practically every material known, can be used for these decorative and dramatizing muffs. Smooth and fluffy bands of fur alternating with fabric, corded ribbon, velvet or heavy dull sheened satin are most distinctive ideas. Or you can have your muff made of the same material as the dress or costume with which you wish to wear this important costume accessory.

For dress parade, try a muff of pale honey colored fox or wolf. With your scarlet suit wear a muff of black and white civet cat. Wear blonde colored baum matern with taupe suits, and with your pet black velvets wear small tippets and muffs of ermine with the black tails for contrast. And this is the year of muffs when you will pin violets sentimentally in the fur, or wear your muff on a scarlet velvet band or buy a muff that doubles for a capacious handbag. You can't muff the situation this season!

Tea Table Tyros.

A Chicago business man peered into a mirror he was passing, furrowed his brow and murmured, "I'm not the type." His secretary looked up inquiringly. "To do a tea table," he worried. He was one of the four men who will do tables at a fashion show at New Trier High school in Winnetka Saturday afternoon, Sept. 27, at the Northwestern University Settlement benefit. The four are Walter Frazier, Ernest Byfield, John Wentworth, and Dudley Crafts Watson and they have promised to show the women what tea tables really should be like. Mr. Frazier, a bachelor, an architect with originality and taste in interiors; Mr. Wentworth, an architect with deep sea fishing as his sports interest; Mr. Byfield, hotel man, raconteur, and host at many a supper for the theatrical and literary great, and Mr. Watson of the Art institute personnel, lecturer and traveler. It will be fun to see how they adorn their tables.

Beidermeier or Bust.

Mention of Walter Frazier's flair for interiors brings to mind a parlor game played several years ago in which the participants were to describe one of their group in a phrase. "Beidermeier or bust," read one of the players from his list. "Walter!" shouted the assembled players.

Her lips a coral lacquer.

CHICAGO CYO BOXERS BATTLE HAWAII TONIGHT

REDS WIN FROM BROOKLYN; LEAD CUT TO 1½ GAMES

Both Battles Go Into Overtime.

If —

ALTHO the St. Louis Cardinals gained a half game on the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday by tying the New York Giants while the Dodgers were losing to the Cincinnati Reds, that tie game may prove costly for the Cardinals. The game cannot be played off, giving them one less game to play than the Dodgers. The latter have 11 to play, the Cardinals 13. If the Dodgers win only six of their 11 the Cardinals would have to win nine of their 13 to beat out their rivals.

The Cardinals have three games to play with the Braves, six with the Cubs, and four with the Pirates. The Dodgers meet the Pirates twice, the Phillies seven times, and the Braves twice.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 16 [Special].—Bill Werber's bat knocked half a game off Brooklyn's National league lead today. The Reds' third baseman scored Eddie Joost from second with two out in the 11th inning to give Cincinnati a 4 to 3 victory which partly made up for the 17 inning heartbreaker the Dodgers won yesterday. Werber also singled home the first Cincinnati run in the first inning and later doubled two more across in the seventh.

The defeat, coupled with the Cardinal-Giant tie game, reduced Brooklyn's first place margin over St. Louis to a game and a half.

Slipshod fielding by the Cincinnati infield kept Elmer Riddle from his 18th victory of the year. He gave up three unearned runs before giving way to Joe Beggs and Ray Starr, Indianapolis recruit, who succeeded Beggs. Starr received credit for the victory.

Koy Caught Napping.

Riddle smacked a double in the ninth inning and Ernie Koy ran for him. But Catcher Herman Franks called for a pitchout and nipped Koy off second base by three feet.

The Dodgers scored their tying markers in the ninth. Pete Reiser opened with a single and Camilli grounded to Frank McCormick, who dribbled it like a basketball, and both men were safe. Lew Riggs and Medwick flied out, but Reiser scored on the latter and Camilli came in on a pinch double by Augie Galan. Score:

THE shortest home run in the history of the National league was made by George Davis of the Phillies in a game in Cincinnati on Aug. 28, 1934. . . . George raised a pop fly to short right, which should have been caught by either Second Baseman Tony Piet or Right Fielder Adam Comorosky, but they collided and knocked each other cold. . . . While fellow Reds gathered round to check the damage, Davis circled the bases. . . . Fans should see a lot of back field speed when the Universities of Pittsburgh and Michigan meet on Oct. 11. . . . In 1934 the Cardinals clinched the flag on Sept. 30, the final Sunday of the campaign. . . . Ninety-eight of 137 newspaper and radio men polled by the publicity department of Texas Christian university voted Texas the football championship of the Southwest conference this fall. . . . How Could I Hope.

I would have loved you even to the end
Had you not showed unfaithfulness to Him
Who of the millions was your faultless friend
And filled your cup of plenty to the brim.
I would have walked with you to life's far shore
Had we not met upon the way ere now
One whom you parted from and sought no more
Tho He had borne your thorns upon His brow.
I would have longed to be your willing slave,
To toil for you in silence and apart,
Had you not grasped the gifts another gave
Nor ever thanked Him from a grateful heart.
Could I do aught but leave you utterly
O craven creature of the sordid sod,
How could I hope you should be true to me
Who were not faithful even to your God?

Playing at Soldiers.

Upon the street they were at play,
Six little boys in disarray;
With wooden guns they marched along
Singing a gay triumphant song.
No thought had they of real strife—
They posed as heroes of this life
For martial things to them meant fame
And should we criticize their game?
How can we when to Mars men bow
And offer him their homage now?
O, little boys, at soldier play
May you, we hope, ne'er see the day
When you will march with guns to kill
Because of some insensate will.
We trust that Uncle Sam will show
The kind of program all should know.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Cleveland Rams and the Chicago Cardinals made two crushing drives down the field last night in Chicago's 1941 National Football league inaugural in Comiskey Park. But the Rams cashed in on both of their opportunities, the Cards succeeded only once and the result was a 10 to 6 defeat.

By winning, the Rams became the first league team to score two victories, and this team of Dutch Clark's took possession of first place in the Western division. The only other winner in this bracket is Green Bay, which has one victory. The Pittsburgh Steelers and the Detroit Lions each are tagged with one defeat, and the fifth western eleven, the Chicago Bears, defending champions, haven't yet started their title defense.

A Pass Does It.

The 15,000 spectators sat thru a dull first quarter, in which there were no scoring threats whatsoever, but they had occasion to be excited in the second and third quarters, which contained most of the action. In the second quarter, the Rams clicked on a touchdown pass from Owen Goodnight, a freshman from Hardin-Simmons, to Babe Patt. It started on the Rams' 43 and the last twenty-five yards was negotiated by Patt with no one in his way. The only man who might have brought him down was Hugh McCullough, but he stumbled and fell on the mushy turf.

The Rams came right back with a field goal from the Cards' 20 with three minutes left in the half. From

Braves Pound Passeau; Run Over Cubs, 8-5

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Boston's Braves saw a flock of Cub pitchers yesterday and the latter saw a flock of base hits of various sizes. Just for the fun of it, Casey Stengel's tormentors exploded at least one hit in every inning, a trick that enabled them to conclude their year's toil on the Wrigley acres with an 8 to 5 victory. By turning out this job the seventh place Bostons finished up with a 50-50 count for the season in their 22 struggles with the sixth place Cubs.

The Braves precipitated the parade of Cub pitchers by making merry with Claude Passeau, ordinarily a gentleman who causes them trouble. They put him thru five strenuous innings in which the net was five runs and nine hits. This convinced Manager Jim Wilson of the Cubs that the time was ideal to inspect some of his new talent, so he introduced Henry Gornicki, fresh in from Rochester; J. Wellington Quinn, late of Madison, and wound up with Ken Raffensberger. All three of them got a taste of the Braves' bats.

Javery Often in Trouble.

Al Javery had the pleasure of cutting a dividend for himself on Passeau's 14th defeat, but nevertheless experienced more than a few trying moments. Al not only was frisked for a dozen hits, but also had to contend with four fielding blunders by his mates. All of the errors figured in the run production.

Bob Scheffing's single, linked with Carvel Rowell's fumble and a single by Lou Stringer gave the Cubs a one run edge in the second, but it was short lived. Passeau fumbled Sibby Sisti's tap in the third, and it brought distress. Bud Hassett's double sent Sisti home, and Gene Moore's single scored Hassett. Then the Braves broke out seriously in the fifth with singles by Sisti and Moore, a two bagger by Rowell and a single by Eddie Miller. This jolt, good for three runs, was sufficient to nudge Passeau into storage for the day.

Jelincich Drives in Run.

The Cubs' little fifth run eruption started after two were out. Stringer and Len Merullo singled and Frank Jelincich, batting for Passeau, did the same. Stringer scoring. The Braves reclaimed this run off Gornicki in the seventh on Hassett's single and Rowell's double. The Cubs scored one in their half on Stringer's double and some errors.

Quinn retired one in the eighth before growing excited. Masi walked, stole second, and went to third on a wild pitch. Javery scored him on a single to right. Javery went to second on Sisti's out and was doubled across the plate by Johnny Cooney.

The Cubs collected two unearned runs in the eighth. Scheffing and Merullo singled with a force play in between. Charley Gilbert batted for Quinn and survived on Sisti's base filling fumble. Stringer and Merullo registered on Stan Hack's single after which Dom Dallessandro fouled out.

Better Illini Eleven Faces a Tough Job

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 16.—The University of Illinois football team should be better in every department of the game this fall with the exception of punting. There has been a steady improvement in material in recent seasons. Moreover, only two of the men now given first and second rankings are seniors. This speaks for continued improvement.

Unfortunately for the Illini and Bob Zuppke, Minnesota's title holding Gophers, a prohibitive choice to match their undefeated 1940 record, are the first major opponent. Minnesota's mighty men should not only whip Illinois, but they may wreck the squad which last year lost at least one regular by injuries in each game. Illinois hasn't played Minnesota since 1924 and hasn't beaten the Gophers since 1920, the game which preceded the 1924 contest.

A Spot for an Upset.

Illinois may upset Minnesota, of course, for Illinois upset Michigan in 1939 and made Tommy Harmon the goat of that debacle. But beating an average sized Michigan team and whipping Minnesota's behemoths is a different proposition. Notre Dame, with a great first eleven is Illinois' opponent on Oct. 25. By November the Illini—11 of the first 22 are sophomores—will have mastered their lesson. That will be too late.

The big games—Minnesota, Notre Dame, Ohio State, and Northwestern—will be played away from home. This has led to some complaint from the Champaign-Urbana merchants. The gently nurtured hope for a revived Illinois football team has been squeezed between the failure to seek better material earlier and immediate financial demands of the athletic department.

It's 29th Year for Zuppke.

Zuppke is entering his 29th season here, after a prelude of administrative fireworks that relegated the director of athletics, Wendell [Weenie] Wilson, to the sidelines. The squad has had an extra long preliminary practice period. It has shown flashes of the spirit that long ago gave the state university the nickname of Fighting Illini. The spirit of these youngsters emanates from their own

BY FRANK MASTRO.

The amateur boxers of the Hawaiian Catholic Youth organization will attempt to spoil the undefeated record of the Chicago CYO in intercity, international, and intersectional competition in a series of bouts tonight in Soldiers' field. At the same time the fighters from the land of Aloha will seek revenge for an 8 to 3 defeat inflicted by the Chicagoans in the lake front arena last summer.

More than 25,000 will attend, William Larkin, in charge of tickets, predicted last night. The show will open at 8:15 o'clock with six preliminary matches. At the conclusion of these contests, along about 9:30, a 20 minute patriotic pageant will be enacted. The CYO band, under the direction of Thomas Fabish, will participate.

Hawaiians Expect to Win.

Tickets will be available today until 6 p. m. at CYO center, 31 East Congress street. The ticket office at gate O, in the south end of Soldiers' field, will be opened at 10 a. m. Proceeds of this evening's show will be used to carry on activities of the CYO, which was founded 11 years ago by the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, senior auxiliary bishop of Chicago.

Altho the Chicago team is well fortified in every weight class, the Hawaiians expect to win. Charles Luis, delegate in charge of the invaders, yesterday blamed overconfidence for Hawaii's setback a year ago.

"Our boys underrated the Chicago fighters on that occasion," Luis said, "but we know what to expect this time and we will win." Jackie Wright, coach; Gordon Thomas, manager, and William Freitas, trainer, of the visiting delegation, respectively, concurred with Luis.

Huli! Huli! Huli!

During the fights ringsiders may be startled to hear Wright shout, "Huli, huli!" That's an Hawaiian battle cry which means an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, and is expected to spur on the visitors.

There will be two intersectional matches in each of the bantamweight and lightweight divisions and one each in the flyweight, featherweight, welterweight, middleweight, light heavyweight, and heavyweight classes.

Jack Ballangee, lightweight, and Isaiah Wells, middleweight, are co-captains of the Chicago squad and Dan Fernandez, welterweight, and Frank, his lightweight brother, are co-commanders of the Hawaiian team. All four competed in the meet of a year ago. Wells was the only winner, beating Dominick Neratko in three rounds. He will meet a more formid-

PLAN SERIES OF TRAP AND SKEET SHOOTING EVENTS

Program Prelude to Ducks Unlimited Week.

BY BOB BECKER.

More than 200 and 300 trap and skeet shooters from Chicagoland will compete in a special series of clay target events Sunday at the Northwest Gun club, on Milwaukee road, a mile and a half north of Dempster road. This all day program has been arranged as a curtain raiser for Ducks Unlimited week in Chicago, which will open Sept. 29 and close Oct. 5. Sportsmen in many Illinois cities are planning to hold dinners, trap shoots and other sports events during that week in honor of Ducks Unlimited and its waterfowl conservation program in Canada.

Officers of the Northwest Gun club said yesterday that all duck hunters who like to break clay pigeons with their shotguns will be welcome at the club Sunday when several competitive events will be staged especially for waterfowl shooters.

Announce Three Shoots.

Palos Park sportsmen have announced that they will hold their Ducks Unlimited trap shoot on Oct. 4. The Livingston County Skeet and Gun club will hold its Ducks Unlimited shoot in Pontiac, Ill., on Sunday Oct. 5. Oct. 4 and 5 also are the dates of the tournament to be conducted by the Lincoln Park Gun club as a climax to Ducks Unlimited week in Chicago. William R. O'Donnell, Chicago chairman of Ducks Unlimited, is in charge of the two day program.

Mr. O'Donnell said yesterday that duck hunters and shotgun enthusiasts in and near Springfield, Ill., also will join in the state-wide celebration by holding a one day trap and skeet shoot there on Oct. 5.

Will Match Shotguns.

The committee in charge of the two day trap and skeet shoot scheduled for Lincoln park the week-end of Oct. 4 and 5 said yesterday that plans were being made to match an expert trap shooter armed with a muzzle loading shotgun against one with a modern shotgun in one of the competitive events. Several members of the national organization which promotes the hobby of muzzle loading rifles and shotguns are being invited to bring their old fashioned scatterguns and powder horns to Lincoln park for an exhibition during the course of the two day program.

Card Tacklers Say Hello to Rams' Mr. Goodnight

Owen Goodnight, Cleveland Ram half back, almost was in the clear in the second quarter last night when Chuck Armstrong (60) of the Cardinals slowed up his interference. Rudy Mucha (27). The delay gave Ed Beiner (73) and Bill Daddio (32) time to come from behind for the tackle.

It will not be excessively fast. But it will excel in forward passing and it is the most intelligent group in nearly a decade of Illinois football.

Will Use Man in Motion.

Zuppke has contributed more to football offense than any of the currently active coaches. His reputation, supported by a genius for unusual description, has led some to believe a magic touch will reverse the 1940 conference record.

We emphatically believe after today's conversation with Zuppke that Illinois' attack will have more facets than a diamond and we also support Elmer Layden, who coached Notre Dame to two victories and a tie against Illinois, that "when you prepare a defense for Zuppke, you review the book."

Zuppke came to Illinois with the so-called man in motion T formation. He dropped it in 1923 because he did not wish to waste the talents of Red Grange in that style of play. He may revive portions of the offense this year because he has [1] the two best forward passers in the Big Nine in Dick Good and Johnny Worban, [2] he has the most agile back field in several years with a dependable, hard hitting back in Chicago's Don Griffin.

Thinks Highly of Griffin.

Griffin, so Zuppke says, is not a fast man. He is sturdy, dependable, talented, and he has had more experience as a prep player at Chicago's Fenger High school than many of the Illinois letter men. Maurice Gould, at left half with Jim Smith, who missed last season because of a knee injury, is a more versatile player. Myron Pfeifer, junior full back, completes the setup of backs with his necessary blocking and plunging.

"The starting team should be better than last year. We should be able to replace last year's ends. The new ends are determined. The backs are the speediest in several years but they are frail. This back field [pointing to the first team] weighs 180, 185, 170, and 173 pounds.

Sees a Stronger Line.

"We should have better line reserves unless injuries hit us. We had so many injuries last year the team was merely a mob at the end. Gould is a dangerous runner. The punting will be weaker unless Walter Correll developes. He can punt as well as Ralph Ehni. The new free substitution rule will help for Correll can go in just to kick. Smith, Worban, and Gould are the regular punters.

"Bob Wilton [left guard] can kick off into the end zone. He's the best in years. Jim McCarthy is the best long distance place kicker. Wilson may improve. Griffin is the best short distance place kicker."

"The new substitution rule will help Daryl Robb [sophomore quarter back]. He's a better runner than passer. Astroth [Lavere Astroth, senior back] is learning plays for quarter back, full back, and right half back. He has a retentive memory. He'll be there for spot plays."

Rams Defeat Cards, 10 to 6, in Night Game

then on they just dared the Cards to catch up with them, which is where the sad part of the story comes in. The Cards almost did.

Jim Conzelman's forces, with more than a few first year men right in the thick of things, came roaring back after the second half kickoff and the Rams were uneasy more than once the remainder of the way.

The first break came when a pass by Parker Hall was deflected by Hugh McCullough into Bob Morrow's hands. He caught it after the Rams had made a first down on the Cards' 44 yard line, and carried it to his own 40 yard line, whence it was set back fifteen yards because of a clipping penalty.

Morrow, Johnny Hall, and McCullough drove for two first downs to the Rams' 48, then shifted to unsuccessful passes. A fine punt by Lou Zontini rolled out on the Rams' 4 yard line and after getting the return punt on Cleveland's 43 yard line, the Cards drove to their only score.

Ray Mallouf, rookie from Southern Methodist, whose passing didn't come quite up to his advance notices, tossed one to Bill Dewell for three yards, and then Hall, on a reverse, raced around his own left end for twenty-four yards. After Milt Popovich rammed center for three, Dowell took another flip by Mallouf and twisted his way to the 5 yard line. Popovich got a yard at center and Hall streaked wide around his left end, going over standing up. Zontini's kick for the extra point hit the goal post and bounced back into the field.

Drake Breaks Up a Drive.

After the kickoff, and the Rams' subsequent punt, the Cards set out again from their own 29, but were turned back after a fifty-nine yard excursion to the Rams' 12 yard line. In this drive Marshall Goldberg, who seldom passes, threw one to Buddy Parker, who took it on the Cards' 48 and ran to the Rams' 25 yard line, where he was bumped out of bounds.

This is where the Cards were when the fourth quarter started. After two line plays failed McCullough passed to Frank Ivy for five yards, then Goldberg pounded his way around right end to the Rams' 12 for a first down. On third down Johnny Drake speared McCullough's pass on the goal line and sprinted down the sidelines to the Cards' 46 yard line. That play ended the Cards' last chance for a comeback.

Mallouf is thought to have suffered a slight concussion. He was hurt during the second period and played a few minutes in the third before being taken out.

BETTORS LEARN ABOUT CAM FIN; SHE PAYS $92.20

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Hawthorne race fans yesterday were puzzling over what could beat Top Call, the 3 to 5 favorite in the Hydromel purse, a dash of six furlongs. They decided that Brutus might have a chance, so they played him to 7 to 2 odds, but for obvious reasons they didn't think much about a 4 year old filly named Cam Fin. She had never won a race and her jockey, Willie Gillespie, had never ridden a winner. Accordingly, Cam Fin was a 40 to 1 shot.

She acted like a 40 to 1 shot at the post, her fractious tactics delaying the start for several minutes. But as she came charging thru the stretch a minute or two later she looked like an odds-on favorite.

Up Comes Cam Fin.

Brutus and Top Call had engaged in their duel, all right. They had been running head and head with Tetragal, fighting for the lead, until Cam Fin came along to break it up. In the last furlong she drew away from her rivals handily and won with a length and a half to spare at $92.20, $32.80, and $9 across the board. Brutus beat Top Call by a length and a half for second place.

Mrs. G. B. Scallon's Crossbow II. beat the even money choice, Shaun G., in the Burning Star purse, a six furlong allowance event. Under Steve Brooks' strong urging this 8 year old horse wore down Shaun G. in the stretch to win by a neck. Mrs. Emil Denemark's Prairie Dog was third. The prices on Crossbow II. were $19.80, $4.80, and $2.80.

Amy Reigh Wins.

Amy Reigh, a daughter of Reigh Count, seized an opportunity to win the first race when the 2 to 1 favorite, Orlando Girl, went very wide on the turn into the streetch and continued to drift out all the rest of the way home. Running at 14 to 1 odds, Amy Reigh got home a length and a half in advance of the public choice, which was three quarters of the way over toward the outer fence by the time she reached the judges' stand. Valdina Blue was third.

Amy Reigh paid $30.60, $11.60, and $7 on the first half of a daily double worth $161. Pari Sucre, the favorite in the second race, made no such mistake as the previous choice. He outran C. C. Curtis in a hard stretch duel and won by half a length. Tea Ring, a 180 to 1 shot, got into the money in this race, paying $53.60 to show.

Neville Dunn's Little Red Fox scored his second consecutive victory in his second start of the meeting yesterday. Racing at 4 to 5 odds, he beat a band of juveniles of the $2,500 class in a six furlong dash.

Rand, Stadium promoter, yesterday closed for a 10 round bout between Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia junior welterweight, and Davey Day as the windup of his opening indoor show in the west side arena Oct. 10. Montgomery was obtained when Ray Robinson, undefeated New York boxer, was unable to accept the assignment against Day.

Tommy Tucker, East Rockaway, N. Y., 174 pound fighter, has been rejected as a possible foe for Johnny Colan in an additional 10 round encounter on the Stadium card in the belief he is too heavy.

Jesse Robinson, Portage park amateur boxer, is paired with Celestino Voldez in a five round contest in Northwest stadium, 4043 North Cicero avenue, tonight. . . . The divorce suit of Mrs. Joe Louis, wife of the heavyweight champion, was dismissed yesterday by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan on the motion of attorneys for the fighter.

2 Back Fields Are Given Trial at Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16 [Special].—Wisconsin's football squad got its scrimmage this afternoon in a two-hour session in which the first string line and two back field combinations tried out new pass and running plays.

The starting line included Pat Lyons and Dave Schreiner at the ends, Paul Hirshbrunner and Bob Baumann at the tackles; Sophomores Harold Koehler and Pat Boyle at the guards, and Dick Thornally at center. One back field had Tom Farris at quarter back, Mark Hoskins and Don Miller at the halves, and Bob Ray at full back. The other quartet included three sophomores, Ashley Anderson, Len [Bud] Seelinger, and Pat Harder, and a senior, Teddy Damos.

MILLER AGAIN AT NOTRE DAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 16 [Special].—Creighton Miller, Wilmington, Del., sophomore full back, again stole the show in Notre Dame scrimmage today. Working behind a different line, but with practically the same back field mates as yesterday, the 190 pound plunger made several nice gains. Miller is getting his first hard work since last fall, having been ill during spring practice.

ROLLS 300 GAME.

Howard Murphy, a 193 average bowler, posted a 300 game and 742 series in Windy City recreation's junior league last night. He opened with the perfect game, then added 237 and 205.

Michigan's Karwales Hurt; Sophs Push Seniors at N. U.

Last Friday Karwales complained of swollen feet. The trainers examined him and promptly relegated him to a hospital cot for treatment. Now comes word that the husky flanker, whom the coaches had counted on heavily to take over the vacated right end post, will be out of uniform until the end of this week. It isn't expected that he will be ready for action until after the Michigan State game Sept. 27 and possibly not until the following week.

This latest misfortune is reminiscent of his trouble last year when, after a brilliant start in early drills, he was put out with a knee injury. Karwales was out of uniform for the entire season.

PURDUE STRESSES KICKING.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 16 [Special].—Kicking received emphasis today as Purdue pursued preparation for the opener with Vanderbilt a week from Saturday. Punts, place kicks, drop kicks, and kickoffs received their share of attention. John Petty and John Galvin, who handled the bulk of the kicking last year, were joined by three sophomores, Bob Hajzyk, Bob Chester, and Kenneth Smock, in the punting drill. In drop kicking, where Purdue has not had an outstanding performer since the days of Paul Pardonner, Walter Cook, junior veteran left half back, showed considerable promise.

The first week of practice at Northwestern has produced a free for all scramble for line positions with the possible exception of left tackle, where Alf Bauman, last year's All American, is firmly entrenched. Other first stringers who are receiving stiff competition for their jobs are Gene Mundy, center; Leon Cook, tackle; George Zorich and Nick Burke, guards, and Bob Motl and Bud Hasse, ends.

The biggest uncertainty exists at center where a three way fight is being waged among Mundy, Don Johnson, a senior, and Hal Hadson, sophomore from Wood River, Ill. Two more sophomores, Ray Vincent and Tony Zamarzia, are pushing the veteran Leon Cook for the right tackle assignment. Among the guards who have their eye on regular berths are Paul Kiefer and Bus Heagy, lettermen, and Sophomores Alex Kapter of Waukegan and John Gent of Nomomis, Ill.

HAWKEYES STUDY PLAYS.

BIERMAN GETS ANGRY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16 (AP).—Displeased with the progress made by Minnesota's football players, Coach Bernie Bierman today delivered a vigorous tongue lashing, and on two occasions sent the squad jogging around the field for inept handling of assignments in a two hour scrimmage which saw the first team playing the third team. Bierman also handed out individual penalties for missing assignments.

Ward Beats Goodman, 1 Up, in Exhibition at Omaha

CYO, HAWAIIANS MEET TONIGHT IN SOLDIERS' FIELD

Dade Meets Inamine Again.

The only rematch on the lengthy card will involve Paul Inamine, 19 year old Japanese flyweight, and Harold Dade, Chicagoland Golden Gloves 112 pound champion. Inamine, who stands only 5 feet, conquered Dade in the previous tournament.

Henry Oshiro, Richard Chinen, and Ray Quintal also fought on the 1940 Hawaiian delegation, but each will be facing new foes this time. Oshiro, who was defeated by Ray Brown in the bantamweight ranks last year, will encounter Tony Bausone; Chinen, who conquered Al Noto as a flyweight, will face Fred Dawson, and Quintal, stopped by Hubert Hood as a light heavyweight, will return in that weight class for a match against Harry Stephens, twice winner of the Kenosha sectional Golden Gloves middleweight title.

Hood is coming back as a heavyweight, since he now weighs 182 pounds. His rival will be Pane Meatoga, newcomer on the visiting team, who scales 205 pounds and has scored 21 victories in 22 starts during a two year campaign.

The rival teams will report at 12 noon today in CYO center to weigh in and to be given physical examinations.

Quintal Carries Extra Pounds.

The matches will be three rounds of two minutes. Eight ounce gloves will be used in the lighter classes and ten ounce gloves in the heavier divisions. All except Quintal must make division weights. By agreement, Ray will be permitted to carry 178 pounds, three more than the light heavyweight class.

Two judges will assist the referee in arriving at a decision except when Billy Conn, former light heavyweight title holder, officiates in one of the matches. Because Conn will be a guest referee, he will not be allowed to vote. His verdict will be handed down by an extra judge.

Three thousand five hundred sailors and soldiers from Camp Grant, Fort Sheridan, the Naval armory, and the Great Lakes naval training station will attend as guests of Bishop Sheil. Because their transport trucks are on maneuvers men from Chanute field, Rantoul, will be unable to attend.

Preliminary matches:

Henry Vera vs. Don Gallardio, 118.
Frank Bausone vs. Dennis O'Keefe, 135.
Saul Josephs vs. Melvin Johnson, 135.
Jesse Garcia vs. Jim Egan, 135.
James Martin vs. Joe Dugo, 147.

Runs, Please! The Sox Meet Yanks Today

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—The Chicago White Sox, who were rated pretty good about a month ago when they went into second place by a margin of four games, tomorrow will play the champion Yanks in a desperate effort to launch a little victory streak which will keep them in the first division during the remaining eight games of the 1941 schedule.

There has been nothing to indicate the Sox can develop any such winning streak, however. With a few exceptions, the lads have been unable to score more than two runs a game since they toppled out of second place.

A Scoring Famine.

The plunge since the Browns knocked Jimmy Dykes' fellows out of second place for the second time in successive week-ends has been marked by almost unbelievable impotency in the run making department. The score of the night game on Sept. 5 was Browns, 3; Sox, 1. The next day the Browns won, 3 to 0, in the first game of a double header, but by a miracle the Sox made six runs in the first inning of the second game and went on for a 7 to 1 victory.

On Sept. 7 Dykes' Terrors were back in form and lost their eighth decision in nine games with the Browns, 3 to 1. Then they went to Washington to launch the trip which will end tomorrow. They piled up two runs to lose the opener to the Senators. On Sept. 10 the lads became possessed of the devil. They made 10 runs in the first three innings and won, 12 to 4.

Things Grow Worse.

Then the real famine set in. They lost in Philadelphia, 2 to 1 and 3 to 1, and won one, 2 to 0. Next day they came to Boston for another three game series in which they dashed around the bases for a grand total of four runs. They lost all three with the Red Sox to plop six games out of second place, the scores being 9 to 2, 5 to 1, and 6 to 1.

Edgar Smith will pitch for the White Sox tomorrow in the farewell to the east encounter with the Yankees.

Marquette Takes It Easy After First Scrimmage

DOCTOR DEFIES ALIENATION LAW IN $50,000 SUIT

Accuses Wife's Parents of False Charges.

A suit in defiance of the state laws against alienation of affection litigation was filed in Circuit court yesterday on behalf of Dr. Joseph C. Reingold, 37 years old, against his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Lange, 4452 Drexel avenue.

Dr. Rheingold asks $50,000 from them, charging that they alienated the affections of his wife, Harriet, whom he wed in 1932 and who left him Sept. 8 of this year, taking their two children with her to Greensboro, N. C. Dr. Rheingold declares in the suit that the Langes persuaded his wife to leave him by accusing him falsely of misconduct.

Admit It's a Test.

The suit was filed by Attorneys Elmer Gertz and Sol R. Friedman, and Friedman said it is definitely intended to test the state law which, he says, violates section 19 of the Illinois state constiution in that it deprives persons of the right to litigate.

Under terms of the state law against alienation of affection and breach of promise suits, passed in 1935, both Dr. Rheingold and his attorneys face possible penalties of fines of from $100 to $1,000 or imprisonment for from one to five years, or both.

Attorney Friedman said that no other attorney has had the courage to test the validity of the statute in view of the penalty.

Woman Fined $100.

Mrs. Hallie McCowan was fined $100 last year for filing an alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Mabel Perry, former office assistant to her husband, Dr. Don C. McCowan. The fine later was vacated, however, and Mrs. McCowan placed on probation for one year.

Dr. Rheingold, whose offices are at 540 North Michigan avenue, lives at 1102 East 46th street. His suit asks that the Langes be forbidden to leave the jurisdiction of the court while the suit is pending and expressed the fear that they might go to Greensboro to join his wife and the two children, Paul, 7, and Arnold, 6.

A. B. HOUGHTON, FORMER ENVOY TO BERLIN, DIES

South Dartmouth, Mass., Sept. 16 (AP).—Alanson Bigelow Houghton, 78, former ambassador to Germany and Great Britain, died suddenly today at his summer home of a heart attack.

A graduate of Harvard university, Houghton was ambassador to Germany from 1922 to 1925 when he was appointed ambassador to Great Britain. He resigned three years later.

He was president of the Corning Glass works of Corning, N. Y., prior to entering the diplomatic service, and was Republican candidate for the United States senate from New York after leaving the ambassadorship in 1928. He had served two terms as congressman earlier.

He married Miss Adelaide Wellington of Corning in 1890. She and five children survive him.

Two Young Men Escape from Police Custody

Policeman Henry Olson, riding downtown yesterday on the Ravenswood elevated line, saw two young men examining a brief case which contained jewelry. He took the brief case and told them to accompany him to the detective bureau. When the three stepped from the train at Van Buren and State streets, the prisoners fled, while Olson fired several shots. The jewelry was valued at about $100.

Coroner's Jury Undecided on Real Estate Man's Death

A coroner's jury reported yesterday that it was unable to determine whether William Lauerman leaped or fell to his death on Monday from the 21st floor of the International Harvester building, 180 North Michigan avenue. Lauerman, who was 55 years old, was a real estate dealer living at 10330 Hoyne avenue. His brother, Henry G. Lauerman, testified that the victim had been subject to dizziness.

Sisters Prevent Young Woman from Killing Self

Sylvia Medina, 17 years old, had just swallowed a poison tablet in the kitchen of her home at 2051 Seminary avenue when her sisters, Carmen, 10, and Raquel, 11, entered. The younger girls struck the bottle to the floor and Sylvia was taken to county hospital. She told police she had been despondent after a quarrel with a young man. She will recover.

GIRL, 6, KILLED AS SHE RUNS IN FRONT OF TRUCK

Thelma Boer, 6 years old, was killed before the eyes of her brother yesterday when she darted in front of a truck in 159th street near Van Dam road at South Holland. She was on her way home from school. Her brother, Clarence, 9, had just crossed the street and she was running to reach his side. The girl was the daughter of Obbe Boer, a farmer living north of 159th street in South Holland. The driver was John Wieringa, 61, of Munster, Ind.

Edward Anhalt, 48 years old, 14128 Lavergne avenue, Bremen township, died at the Oak Forest infirmary of injuries suffered Sept. 7 when his car collided with a truck at 123d street and Cicero avenue, near the infirmary. The truck driver was Theodore Oakland, 34, of 3334 North Maplewood avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 664 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 459 were killed in Chicago, where 17,784 were injured in the same period.

'CHIEF,' FAMED AS WORKINGMAN PLAYBOY, DIES

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—He wore overalls by day, faultless evening clothes by night. His name was John Vozzi, but Broadway called him Jack Hamilton, or just "The Chief."

Last night he died, and Broadway mourned the passing of its workingman playboy.

For 20 years the Chief, who worked as a photo engraver by day, was a familiar figure among night life celebrities. He was the pal of big shots and Good Samaritan to Broadway folk down on their luck.

He held to a daily routine. He worked from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m., returned home to eat at 5 p. m., then went to bed. He would get up at 10:30 p. m., dress in evening clothes, then sally forth to Broadway. He would get home about 5 or 6 a. m.—and be in overalls at his job by 8.

RESTRICT SALE OF SLEEP DRUGS, STATE IS URGED

Illinois and the 20 other states which now have no laws governing the sale of such sleep inducing compounds as luminal and veronal should enact legislation drastically restricting the use of these drugs, which each year are responsible for a growing number of deaths.

This assertion was made yesterday by Dr. William D. McNally, toxicologist of the Cook county coroner's office, in an address before the convention of the National Association of Coroners. Dr. McNally's talk was given at the Cook county morgue.

"Thirty years ago the poisons which caused the most deaths were alcohol, carbon monoxide, and carbolic acid," Dr. McNally said. "In recent years, however, it has been the barbituric drugs—the sleep inducers such as veronal, luminal, and nembutal—which have caused an increasing number of deaths, both accidental and suicidal.

"These deaths are all due to one thing—the absolute lack of any restrictions on over the counter sale of these drugs. Any drug store sells them, in any quantity. This is true in 20 other states besides Illinois."

ENFORCE LAWS BETTER, TRAFFIC SQUADS WARNED

Deputy Chief of Detectives Walter Storms yesterday warned 20 detective bureau motor squads that changes in personnel, including transfers back to uniform, would be made quickly unless the squads become more earnest in arresting violators of traffic laws.

All policemen in the city were instructed early this month by Commissioner Allman to see that automobile ordinances be enforced strictly as a means of saving lives. He said that motorists who fail to stop at thru streets and boulevards, ignore stop lights, and drive recklessly should be given particular attention.

"That order was read three times to the bureau men," said Storms. "It is not being energetically carried out. We made a few changes in the squads on Monday and if this doesn't produce results we'll make more. It's as much a detective's work to halt heedless drivers as it is to arrest robbers and thieves. Everything possible must be done to stop automobile killings."

CHIEF ENGINEER OF TRIBUNE SHIP DIES IN CHICAGO

William Edward Carr, chief engineer of the Heron Bay, which shipped paper for the Ontario Paper company to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, died yesterday in Alexian Brothers hospital after an operation for ruptured appendix. He was 42 years old.

Carr was stricken while on the Heron Bay last week and was taken to the hospital as soon as the ship docked Saturday. He had worked for the Quebec and Ontario Transportation company, which operated the Heron Bay, for the last 12 years. Two years ago he was promoted to the position of chief engineer.

Funeral services will be held Friday in Ontario. Surviving are his widow, Mary, and a 2 year old son, William Jr.

BOY, 6, TESTIFIES AT INQUEST INTO MOTHER'S DEATH

An undetermined verdict was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury at the inquest into the deaths of Mrs. Florence Stoll, 26 years old, 1470 Elston avenue, and Francis E. Ross, 41, of 2737 North Racine avenue, who were found dead of motor exhaust fumes in a car parked in the forest preserves near Irving Park and Cumberland roads Aug. 7.

Mrs. Stoll's son, Charles, 6, who was present at the time of the deaths, testified that "I opened the door and turned off the switch" and that he "smelled something like coal gas."

At a previous hearing, Mrs. Stoll's husband, Gerhard, 26, testified that he had objected to his wife's association with Ross and that she had asked for a divorce and had spoken of suicide.

WOMAN OVERCOME BY GAS.

Mrs. Anna Wynd, 73 year old, was found overcome by gas yesterday in her apartment at 8633 May street. She was taken to Holy Cross hospital.

SLAIN IN JACKSON PARK.

Albert C. Porter, 33 years old, 1532 East 67th place, was found shot to death yesterday in Jackson park. Police blamed ill health. His widow, Mrs. Lydia Porter, survives.

CIO COAL, STEEL STRIKES HINDER ARMS PROGRAM

Lewis Rejects Plea to Reopen Mines.

Labor difficulties spread yesterday, in most instances imperiling the nation's preparedness program. The principal developments were:

1. John L. Lewis, CIO mine union boss, refused a federal plea to reopen steel companies' coal mines pending a government hearing.
2. A sitdown strike coinciding with a CIO dues collecting drive hampered steel production in the Pittsburgh area.
3. New recruits raised to 22,000 the number of CIO coal miners revolting against increased union dues and assessments.

LEWIS REJECTS PLEA

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 16 (AP).—John L. Lewis, president of the CIO United Mine Workers, today rejected a national defense mediation board request for immediate reopening of 30 "captive" coal mines, closed by an UMW strike for a union shop agreement with steel company subsidiaries operating the pits.

In a letter he delivered to Board Chairman William H. Davis in Washington, D. C., Lewis said the union would defer consideration of the request until the subject could be discussed tomorrow at a mediation board hearing to which top executives of the steel industry have been called.

The strike bound mines have been producing 200,000 tons of coal daily for blast furnaces turning out war materials. Davis had urged Lewis and the companies to resume work pending the hearing.

Mine operators were represented as anxious to continue operations because few mills have coal supplies enough to run more than two or three weeks.

FURNACES CLOSED FOR DAY

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 16 (AP).—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation announced a sitdown strike at its key by-products plant in nearby Clairton ended at 7:30 o'clock tonight after seriously hampering operations in several other mills.

Workers in the plant sat down this morning during a union dues collecting drive. Spokesmen for both the United States Steel corporation subsidiary and the CIO-Steel Workers Organizing committee reported about 300 coke oven operators and maintenance men idled at their posts claiming they would not work with nonunion men.

The plant makes coke and by-product gas for six mills employing 60,000 men.

The company said 44 open hearth furnaces and three blast furnaces were forced to close down because of the shortage of gas, needed in heat treatments. It stated 28 open hearths would be restarted by midnight.

Machinists in the MacDonald mill of Carnegie-Illinois near Youngstown, O., also quit work today.

MINERS' REVOLT GROWS

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 16 (AP).—More than 1,600 hard coal miners in an adjoining United Mine Workers union district joined a growing rank and file revolt against increased dues and assessments today, swelling to approximately 22,000 the number now idle.

While CIO union officers conferred with insurgent leaders in an attempt to halt the work stoppages, another small operation shut down near here, one big colliery closed at Wilkes-Barre, and work at two others was hampered.

One of the Wilkes-Barre collieries closed despite a promise by mine superintendents that the 50 cent a month national union assessment would not be taken from miners' pay. The assessment is collected by the checkoff system.

OTHER STRIKE NEWS

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP).—Members of both AFL and CIO unions walked out today at the American Car and Foundry company, producer of artillery shells for the United States and Great Britain, in a dispute over representation. Officials of the rival unions asserted they had not authorized the move, but pickets said they represented both groups among the plant's 1,500 employés.

Norge Plant Closed.

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 16 (AP).—The Norge division of Borg-Warner corporation in Muskegon Heights was closed by strike today and its 2,600 employés made idle. Members of the United Automobile Workers [AFL] left the plant shortly before a scheduled conference with a state labor mediator. The union has asked a 10 cent hourly wage increase in addition to a 3 cent increase granted in January.

Reject Land's Offer.

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—The Seafarers' International union [AFL] has rejected an offer by Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, maritime commission chairman, to try to settle in two weeks union demands for war bonuses and other payments if the union would immediately sail 10 ships now tied up by strike.

End Packing Walkout.

Kansas City, Kas., Sept. 16 (AP).—Members of the Packing House Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] today approved an agreement with the management ending their week-long walkout at the Wilson & Co. packing plant. Company officials said the 1,400 workers would be called back as rapidly as live stock receipts warranted.

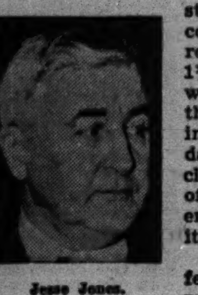
House Banking Group Boosts Credit of RFC

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—Legislation to increase the Reconstruction Finance corporation's borrowing power by 1½ billion dollars was approved by the house banking committee today amid inconclusive discussion of the RFC's present lending capacity.



Jesse Jones.

Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, told the committee that "we're about out of credit" and that even the proposed increase may not be enough to meet demands.

"We've got a great deal more plant work to do—for increased capacity for steel, aluminum, magnesium, and other items," he said.

Submits Figures on RFC.

Representative Leon Sacks [D., Pa.] estimated the present maximum borrowing power of the RFC at slightly under 10 billion dollars.

Jones at first said he could not give offhand the corporation's top lending power but later submitted these figures:

Loans and investments outstanding, $2,807,000,000; borrowed money, $2,101,452,000; outstanding commitments, $3,998,900,000; unused borrowing authority, $350,000,000; authorized loans and investments since inception of the agency, $15,057,000,000; money actually disbursed, $9,075,000,000.

Jones reported that the RFC had made commitments totaling $3,902,952,578 under the preparedness program, and in answer to a question said: "We haven't perfect synthetic rubber by a jugful."

Considers Texas Project.

He told Representative Wright Patman [D., Tex.] that the Office of Production Management was considering the feasibility of developing the Texas iron ore industry and that the RFC would favor loans for that purpose.

Representative William B. Barry [D., N. Y.] asked Jones if any of the new RFC capital would be used for a loan to Russia.

"I have not contemplated that," Jones replied. "I'd be glad to help Russia in any way possible. I don't know whether under the law we could make a loan to Russia, but if we could, I'd personally favor it."

The subcommittee is hearing testimony on whether there has been waste and extravagance at the plant. The army has reported that up to September the project had cost $17,005,240 of the $32,278,562 authorization. Because of "conditions we found at the plant," Thomas said he and three other auditors offered to resign but instead were transferred to other posts.

"Misuse" of construction equipment was the main target of Thomas' testimony. He said much of it was permitted to lie idle over long periods altho the government was paying rent on it all the time.

WORKMEN TAP FIRST OF TWO NEW CHICAGO AREA STEEL FURNACES

Workmen yesterday tapped the first of two new open hearth furnaces installed at the Wisconsin Steel works, 2701 East 106th street. A group of officials of International Harvester company, of which Wisconsin Steel is a division, witnessed the tapping of the furnace and the pouring of the first steel.

The furnaces, the first additions to open hearth facilities in the Chicago area since the rearmament program got under way, will add approximately 160,000 tons to annual steel producing capacity of the district. They will bring Wisconsin Steel's annual capacity to 860,000 net tons.

The furnace tapped yesterday was completed 45 days ahead of schedule. The second will be placed in operation soon. In addition the company has added a 220 ton crane, a charging machine and a two hole soaking pit. Total cost of the expansion was $1,500,000.

George E. Rose, vice president in charge of steel manufacturing, headed the group of Harvester officials who watched yesterday's operation.

PRESIDENT ASKS 40 MILLION MORE TO ENLARGE TVA

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked congress today for an additional 40 million dollars for expansion of the Tennessee Valley authority to meet growing electrical power demands of industries producing arms materials.

The money would be used to begin construction of hydro-electric projects on the Little Tennessee river near Fontana, N. C., and on the French Broad river, near Dandridge, Tenn.; to install additional generating units; purchase or build transmission facilities, and acquire land.

Lilienthal Is Chairman.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 16 (AP).—The TVA announced today that upon the request of Dr. H. A. Morgan, President Roosevelt had designated David Lilienthal as chairman of the agency's board of directors. Dr. Morgan, chairman since March 23, 1938, will become vice chairman, the post formerly held by Lilienthal. Dr. Morgan is 75 years old and Lilienthal 42.

GOLDEN SUNSET EGGS? THANK THE ARGENTINE HENS

Don't be surprised the next time you break open an egg if the yoke that slips into the frying pan looks like a big, golden sunset. You will be face to face with an Argentine egg which has a larger, brighter yellow yoke and a more full bodied egg flavor, according to Charles A. Poole, New York commission merchant.

Poole, exhibiting a case of the imported eggs at the annual convention of the National Butter and Egg association in the Hotel Sherman, said yesterday that 70,000 to 80,000 cases of Argentine eggs are being imported monthly and that they are in demand by bakers because of their richer color.

Argentine poultry raisers feed their hens a different type of mash than is used in the United States, he explained.

Henderson Puts Ceiling Price on Ethyl Alcohol

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 [Special].—Leon Henderson, price administrator, today established price ceilings on ethyl alcohol, based on a top price of 24½ cents a gallon "at works" for the basic formula known as "specially denatured 2B." He said supplies were not sufficient to satisfy demands of the arms program and civilian industry.

Bearing Maker Withdraws List Prices as Costs Rise

The Shafer Bearing corporation, Chicago, announced yesterday that all list prices on the company's roller and ball bearings are withdrawn because of "rapidly rising costs of raw materials, labor, and handling of orders." As soon as possible, the company said, new list prices will be prepared.

AGENCY PRESSES MAXIMUM COAL PRICE PETITION

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—Possibilities that transportation difficulties might cause a coal shortage this winter were cited by the coal consumers' counsel today in support of arguments that the bituminous coal division should fix maximum prices.

"There is practically no freight car surplus now," Raymond Kerr, consultant for the consumers' counsel said, "but traffic is going to be heavier two months from now, and if we put a load on top of the maximum, we'll have a shortage."

Kerr declared he foresaw no difficulties in production of coal. The consumers' counsel has petitioned for maximum prices approximately 20 per cent above production costs.

U. S. Starts Investigation to Keep Bread Price Down

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—The Federal Trade commission is investigating the marketing and distribution of bread at the request of the Office of Price Administration, it was announced tonight, "to the end that the price of bread be kept to a minimum." Leon Henderson, price administrator, recently expressed the view that bread prices were too high. RAIL HEARINGS BEGUN BY FACT FINDING BOARD

Workers Allotted 12 Days for Pleas.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The five man fact finding commission appointed last week by President Roosevelt to try to end the dispute between railroad management and labor over wages and working rules opened hearings yesterday in Kimball hall at Wabash avenue and Jackson boulevard.

In the small theater where singers and pianists usually perform, attorneys for labor and the railroads began their arguments before members of the commission seated at a long table on the stage.

Wayne L. Morse, chairman of the commission and dean of the University of Oregon law school, announced an extension of time for the assembling of information and making a recommendation. The extension has the approval of all the attorneys in the dispute and is expected to be granted by the President. Under it the taking of testimony is to be completed by Oct. 18 and the commission's recommendation is to be made not later than Nov. 1.

Include Railway Express Issue.

The labor group is to have 12 days to submit its case and the railroads 15—the railroads getting the longer time because of the decision to include in the proceedings a separate Railway Express Agency dispute with its 40,000 workers over wages and other matters.

The main dispute between the railroads and their approximately 1,200,000 workers centers on the demands of the Big Five operating brotherhoods for a flat 30 per cent wage increase and of the 14 nonoperating unions for 30 cents an hour increases, with a 70 cents an hour minimum wage.

The railroads on their part have asked changes in rules covering working conditions, including elimination of the so-called "feather bed" make work rules. Vacations with pay is a separate request of the nonoperating unions also under consideration by the commission.

Faster Trains a Factor.

LABOR—Vast improvements have been made in railroad operating methods in recent years. Trains run faster and are longer. Fewer men are required to run them. But the workers have not been granted compensation commensurate with the increased responsibilities put on them in operating the improved railroad machine. Further, pay has not kept up with cost of living.

MANAGEMENT — Workers have shared in the railroad improvement. Faster trains have reduced the time it takes operating men to earn their living. Railroad labor is being paid as high, if not higher, wages than labor in other industries. Had it not been for the improvement in operating efficiency labor would have had to take wage cuts if the roads were to continue in business. The present upturn in business is but momentary and when it is over the railroads will have an even harder task to meet their competition.

Defends Union Demands.

Charles M. Hay, St. Louis attorney, started the arguments with a plea on behalf of the operating unions. He declared that the 30 per cent wage demand was not hastily conceived—that it was determined only after full consideration by the chief executives and the general chairmen on all the roads.

He mentioned the following points for consideration in support of the demand: The nature and character of the work done and service rendered by the employés. The inherent value of the service rendered to the carriers. The degree of skill required. The measure of responsibility imposed and risks and hazards assumed. The great increase in the service performance and responsibility of the men since the fixation of the wages at substantially the present level. The increased service performance demanded of the men as a result of the business which the railroads are now doing and must do for an indefinite period.

Says Public Is Misled.

Following him, Frank L. Mulholland, attorney for the 14 nonoperating unions, outlined the manner in which his group will present evidence. Detailing the methods by which rail-

Soy Bean Price Bound Draws Scrutiny of Federal Bureau

L. A. Fitz.

The soy bean market, which skyrocketed about 50 cents a bushel to all-time peaks in the last month, is being scrutinized by auditors of the Commodity Exchange administration, it was revealed yesterday. The CEA is charged with supervision of the nation's principal commodity markets.

L. A. Fitz, chief of the Chicago CEA office, said that transactions in soy bean futures by Chicago and other commision houses were being examined. He explained that his office receives daily reports of the market position of the larger traders in soy beans but "we want to be sure nothing is amiss."

Rise $1 Within Last Year.

Traders on the Chicago Board of Trade recalled that Price Administrator Leon Henderson on August 28 banned speculative trading in cash markets for oils and fats, but exempted dealings in futures on organized exchanges.

Soy bean futures have advanced more than $1 a bushel in the last year. The May contract climbed from $1.49⅝ a bushel on Aug. 18 to a record high of $2.02 on Sept. 12, but dropped as low as $1.84¼ yesterday.

The quickened pace of trading in soy beans, which accompanied the increasing demand for oils and fats, has expanded futures transactions to 745 million bushels thus far this year, according to the CEA. This trading total for less than three-quarters of the year is more than six times the previous record of 135 million bushels for the entire year 1940.

Favorable weather for the new soy bean crop, which is expected to be of record proportions, was a factor in commission house selling of futures yesterday. The beans sagged as much as 7 cents a bushel to the lowest level since Sept. 8. Lifted by a late rally, the market closed at net losses of 4⅜ to 5⅛ cents a bushel.

Other Grains Are Lower.

Wheat and rye declined about 2 cents and corn and oats 1½ cents in the early trading, but all grains rallied when shorts tried to cover. Wheat was ¼ to ½ cent lower at the close, with December at $1.21⅜. Corn lost ⅜ to 1⅜ cents, the latter on September. Oats were off ¼ to 1 cent and rye declined ¼ to 1⅛ cents.

Propose Parity Change

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—A new method for determining farm parity prices by linking them directly to industrial wages was proposed to the senate agriculture committee today by the National Coöperative Milk Producers' association.

W. E. McCann, witness for the dairy group, asked that the new formula, planned to give farm products the same relative purchasing power as wages of industrial workers, be attached to any price fixing legislation approved by congress. He asserted his plan would make the "parity price" flexible.

[Present parity price is that which the farmer must get to give him buying power equal to that in the 1909-'14 period.]

ORDER CONSOLIDATED AIRCRAFT DIVIDEND OF $2 AND 100% IN STOCK

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 16 (AP).—Declaration of a 100 per cent stock dividend and a cash dividend of $2 a share was announced today by directors of the Consolidated Aircraft corporation. Their action followed yesterday's meeting of stockholders at which a company charter amendment was approved increasing authorized common stock from 1,200,000 to 2,400,000 shares.

The $2 dividend brought the total cash payment for the year to $4 a share, the first dividend having been paid last June 30. The stock dividend was on the 645,787 shares of common stock now outstanding, and is payable in one share of common stock of $1 per value.

The company has a backlog of more than 750 million dollars in orders for land and seaplane bombers. Officials said the stock increase was intended to represent more adequately the company's recent growth and to effect a wider distribution.

ILLINOIS OIL TAX CHALLENGED IN SHELL CO. SUIT

A suit challenging the validity of the new state 3 per cent oil production tax and requesting the impounding of oil taxes paid under protest was filed yesterday in Sangamon county Circuit court on behalf of the Shell Oil company.

The petition named State Treasurer Warren Wright and State Finance Director George B. McKibben as defendants. It contended that the 3 per cent assessed on the value of oil produced in the state after June 30 this year is illegal, invalid, and discriminatory, because the value of the oil is not determined by a county assessor or some other duly elected or appointed officer, and because the oil is not taxed on the same basis as other property.

The oil company paid under protest $24,487 on its oil production in July and asked that the money be kept separate until the issue is decided.

MOVE UP RIVERS, HARBORS BILL TO HEARINGS TODAY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16 (AP).—The house rivers and harbors committee has decided to begin hearings tomorrow on navigation works to cost 100 million dollars suggested for inclusion in an authorization program already totaling about 700 millions.

Chairman Joseph J. Mansfield [D., Tex.], who had called the hearings for next Monday, changed the date today in order to expedite final action on the bill, which includes the St. Lawrence seaway recommended by President Roosevelt.

Originally the seaway was offered as separate legislation.

OPM Plans 50% Cut in Refrigerators.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—The Supply Priorities and Allocations board, new superrearmament policy agency, tonight directed its executive director, Donald M. Nelson, to expand production of all materials needed for the armament program.

Meanwhile it was reported that Leon Henderson's division of civilian supply within the Office of Production Management has recommended a reduction of about 50 per cent in production of household mechanical refrigerators. The proposed cut is to be considered by the OPM council, it was said.

Yesterday, Henderson's agency announced that automobile production will be cut by an average of 48.4 per cent in December, with the big manufacturers taking a cut of 51½ per cent.

Building Curb Planned.

Also under consideration is a housing priorities ruling to curb the construction of homes costing above $6,000. The plan would divert building materials to low cost housing projects to relieve congested areas in arms making centers. Similar restrictions can be expected on other items for civilian use.

In its action tonight SPAB instructed Nelson to "leave no stone unturned" by any government agency in the drive to increase production for military and only the most essential civilian needs. While the immediate efforts under the program will be concentrated on expansion of aluminum, copper, and magnesium facilities, a spokesman for SPAB said that the stimulated efforts will also be extended to zinc, steel, rubber, nickel, and virtually all materials needed for the arms program.

Urges Cut in Copper Use.

SPAB directed that the planned expansion of magnesium production by 364 million pounds a year, an increase in aluminum output of 600 million pounds a year, and similar expansion of copper producing facilities "be completed as soon as possible."

In its statement of policy SPAB said expansion of copper production is called for thru a broad campaign to increase supply and reduce consumption of the metal. It estimated that between 250,000 and 350,000 tons could be saved annually "by cutting down on unnecessary uses" and instructed Nelson to seek to bring that reduction into effect. The board also ordered study of plans to increase production from domestic mines.

Pipe Line Priority Rejected.

Earlier today the board formally rejected the priorities application of Harold L. Ickes, oil coördinator, for steel priorities to permit construction of a 2,000 mile pipe line from Texas oil fields to New York. Last week SPAB announced that its policy would be to reject the application but no formal action was taken at that time because representatives of the oil coördinator's office could not appear before it.

SPAB said that it is "more important in this emergency to provide steel plates for ship construction than to insure a supply of plenty of gasoline for pleasure driving on the eastern seaboard."

FAVORITES MOVE UP FRACTIONS IN STOCK MARKET

Late Support Develops for Many Issues.

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—Mild support came into the stock market late today and enabled leaders generally to finish with gains of fractions to around a point. The list displayed irregularity from the start but offerings were light and this, brokers said, inspired a little bidding after midday.

Some optimism was credited to rumors in boardrooms that Washington and Tokio were about to announce an accord on far eastern questions but dispatches from China and Japan failed to bear out this talk.

Stocks edging into new high ground for the year included Atlantic Gulf & West Indies common and preferred, Loew's, Savage Arms and American Machine and Metals.

Aircrafts, Motors Rise.

Improved were United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, United States Rubber, Boeing, Douglas, Consolidated Aircraft, American Airlines, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Anaconda, Kennecott, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Armour, Wilson & Co., and McKesson & Robbins.

Minor declines were recorded by Bethlehem Steel, American Telephone, New York Central, Texas corporation, Glenn Martin, Sperry, Sears Roebuck, and Montgomery Ward. Dow Chemical and du Pont dropped a point each.

4 NEW CHICAGO HIGHS.

Four stocks reached new 1941 highs on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. They were Swift International, Serrick corporation, Chicago Yellow Cab, and Bendix.

Transactions totaled 24,000 shares. Of 104 issues traded, 42 advanced, 33 declined, and 29 closed unchanged.

In the last half hour, after the close of the New York exchange, Commonwealth Edison, Marshall Field, Pressed Steel Car, and Cudahy Packing common advanced ⅛ each; Chicago Yellow Cab advanced ¼, and Studebaker and United States Rubber declined ⅛.

Commodities

Commodity futures yesterday followed Monday's trend and closed generally lower. The slump was attributed to traders' concern over new possibilities of price control measures and government action to stop inflationary tendencies.

Cotton futures were down 70 to 85 cents a bale after a late rally carried prices up from early losses of as much as $1.55.

CHICAGO SLUMP LOWERS STATE BUILDING TOTAL

August Valuations Below July and Year Ago.

A total of 3,856 building permits was issued during August by 164 Illinois cities representing an estimated outlay of $12,123,304, Martin P. Durkin, state director of labor, reported yesterday. The total valuation of the projects represented declines of 31.8 per cent from the $17,782,087 for July, 9.7 per cent from $13,428,253 for June and 5.1 per cent from $12,770,481 for August, 1940.

Durkin said that the declines largely resulted from a drop in permits for large industrial projects, including arms plants.

Chicago area permit valuations caused the decline for the state as a whole because the downstate area showed a gain for August over July.

69 Per Cent Is Residential.

Sixty-nine per cent, or $8,324,224, of the August permits were for new residential buildings, 18 per cent, or $2,227,703 for new nonresidential buildings, and 13 per cent, or $1,571,377 for additions, improvements and other items. The only large projects recorded during August were $300,000 for a storage and coffee roasting building in Barrington and $130,000 for a heat treating plant in Moline.

For the first eight months of this year permit valuations for the state totaled $102,492,357, a gain of 27 per cent over the total of $80,734,151 for the first eight months of 1940 and 80 per cent over the $56,943,353 for the first eight months of 1939.

Chicago permit valuations for August totaled $3,555,299, which represented a 57.2 per cent decline from July. For the first eight months permit valuations totaled $42,645,026, a gain of 36.8 per cent over the $31,169,069 total for the first eight months of 1940.

Suburban Volume Dips.

For 67 Chicago suburban cities permit valuations totaled $4,320,886 in August—a decline of 27.2 per cent from the $5,936,946 total for July. For the first eight months the total was $35,293,285, a gain of 34.8 per cent over $26,184,971 for the first eight months of 1940.

In the other part of the state covered in the report permit valuations for August totaled $4,247,119, representing a gain of 19.9 per cent over July. The total for the first eight months was $24,554,046, a gain of 5 per cent over the $23,380,111 for the first eight months of 1940.

FLORIDA SERVICE IS CO-ORDINATED BY RAILROADS

Coördinated passenger service between the middle west and Florida for the winter vacation season, starting Dec. 17, was formally announced yesterday by the Pennsylvania, Illinois Central, and Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroads. The revised service will eliminate one of nine trains, effecting a saving of about 43 cars, including 13 sleepers for use elsewhere.

Featured in the service will be a fast, one-night, all-Pullman train with morning departure. The Illinois Central and Pennsylvania will provide identical service with that of the Dixie and the C. & E. I. Each of the three roads will operate a train on this service every third day. The running time will be 31 hours 59 minutes.

Sarting Jan. 1 the three roads will operate an evening train every third day. The coördinated service provides that the Dixie Flyer of the C. & E. I., the Seminole of the Illinois Central and the Southland of the Pennsylvania will continue the daily near-midnight departure from Chicago on schedules adjusted to identical leaving times.

Dewey Asks Rails to Assist Arms Job Pooling in Illinois

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—Representative Charles S. Dewey [R., Ill.], made public today a letter written to the principal executive officers of railroads in Illinois, suggesting that each railroad, thru its industrial engineering staff and traffic development division, make a survey of the industrial enterprises in the territory served by the road with a view to establishing "a system of pooling of plant facilities" for armaments contracts and subcontracts.

Dewey said that "the pooling of local plant facilities will produce an organization which can more readily obtain defense contracts and priorities than can a number of small individual manufacturing units" and also "such an organization can make a better fight for allotments of raw materials to local factories confined to civilian supply work."

Rails Know Local Needs.

Dewey said he was asking the railroads to initiate the plan because they are naturally interested in obtaining traffic and, moreover, the "work of surveying factories will be made by experts most familiar with the local situation and thereby expedited."

The purpose of the proposed survey is to determine what items each factory may produce and what factories could pool their facilities for obtaining a single contract "farmed out in proper proportion among the various manufacturing units."

Dewey suggested that factories which cannot make armament items can, under the pooling arrangement, subcontract for the civilian items produced by the other factories equipped to do arms work.

OPM Has Chicago Office.

In his letter to the railroads, Dewey noted that the division of contract distribution in the Office of Production Management, established by the executive order of Sept. 4, has an office in the Federal Reserve Bank building, 230 South La Salle street, Chicago.

"This office, of which Mr. William Homer Hartz is coördinator and Mr. Thomas C. McEwan is manager, will provide an industrial engineering staff," said Dewey, "which will advise and assist business enterprises in equipping themselves for effective defense production."

★ Small ★ BUSINESS MAN'S Department

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquires should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published and commented on.

STEEL CONTAINERS.

I am a paint manufacturer. In recent weeks I have had practically no luck in getting steel drums for some of my products. My suppliers tell me the chemical and oil industries can get the drums but no others. Is anything being done for the paint industry?

Answer: The priorities division of the Office of Production Management has announced that manufacturers of steel shipping containers will have enough steel to provide containers for their usual customers. The steel shipping container industry has been assigned priority ratings for September and October.

Denies Report in Trade.

"It has been reported in the trade that the steel could be used only for making containers for the petroleum and chemical industries," the OPM said. The statement stresses, however, that the steel may be used for containers for other users, such as food processors, and paint and varnish manufacturers.

The priority rating granted the steel shipping container trade applies to two-thirds of its normal requirements of sheet steel, computed from average monthly consumption during the first half of 1941.

NEW NAME.

What has happened to the Defense Contract service which was set up to help spread armament work into smaller plants? Does it still exist as part of the new contract distribution division?

Answer: The Defense Contract service was abolished in the executive order creating the new division of contract distribution of OPM. The personnel of the old service, which had only recently been given the status of a separate bureau in OPM, was assigned to the new division.

Offices of the Defense Contract service in 36 cities are now known as offices of the contract distribution division.

PRIORITIES PRIMER.

Do you have copies of your primer on the priorities system?

Answer: The priorities primer has been mimeographed and copies may be obtained by writing to the Small Business Man's department.

RAILROAD SEEKS INTEREST CUT TO AVOID DEFAULTS

Colo. & Southern Asks Bondholders' Help.

In an attempt to avert a bankruptcy action for the Colorado and Southern railway, Edward Flynn, executive vice president, yesterday asked holders of 20 million dollars of general mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, due May 1, 1989, to agree to a voluntary interest reduction. Assent of holders of 85 per cent of the bonds is needed.

Holders of the bonds were asked to reduce the interest rate to 4 per cent, of which 1½ per cent would be fixed interest and 2½ per cent contingent interest, payable if earned.

RFC Agrees to Reduction.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation, which holds $27,443,200 of 4½ per cent refunding and extension mortgage bonds, due May 1, 1945, has agreed to accept fixed interest of 2½ per cent and contingent interest of 1½ per cent. The RFC has been taking interest at 4 per cent on the bonds.

Most of the common and preferred stock of the Colorado and Southern is owned by the Burlington railroad, which started its purchases of the stock in 1909.

Blames Highway Competition.

Flynn, who is also executive vice president of the Burlington, said the troubles of the Colorado and Southern are the result of depressed agricultural conditions in the territories it serves and increasing competition from highways and pipe lines. It operates 785 miles of track in Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico, and a subsidiary, the Fort Worth and Denver City railway, operates 454 miles in Texas.

The road last year had a deficit after fixed charges of $1,246,168 and since 1931 in only one year, 1937, has it shown a profit after fixed charges. Money to pay bond interest Nov. 1, 1940, and May 1, 1941, was obtained largely thru postponing payment of bills and thru temporary loans.

WAR BOOM LIFTS NET PROFITS OF MANY RAILROADS

Pennsylvania, Santa Fe Report Gains.

Incomes of railroads reporting yesterday for July and the first seven months of the year reflected the increased industrial activity under the nation's armament program. Earnings were up sharply from the same month and period last year, but railroad executives said that the rise was temporary in view of the present rush by the country to arm itself and England.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company reported a net income for the first seven months of $22,615,573, compared with a revised net income of $16,660,742 in the same period last year. July net income was $5,505,195, against a revised total of $3,217,105 in 1940.

Santa Fe Has Big Gain.

The Santa Fe railroad's net income for the first seven months was $13,258,704, compared with $2,284,448 in the 1940 period. July net income was $5,557,206, against $3,957,010 in July, 1940.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company reported a seven month net income of $11,489,256, against a deficit of $949,809 in the same period last year. July net income was $2,619,436, against $200,624 in the 1940 month.

Eighty-seven class 1 railroads had estimated gross operating revenues of $399,934,906 in August, compared with $310,035,346 in August, 1940, and $381,239,580 in August, 1930, the Association of American Railroads reported.

FENCE FOR FARMERS.

Steel companies, of course, are active participants in the defense "boom," but Keystone Steel and Wire should be particularly well situated because it can share in current farm prosperity thru the large amounts of fencing it produces. I'd like a general report, covering recent earnings, dividends, and asset position.—A. T. H.

Answer: Keystone Steel and Wire company, both a holding and operating corporation, manufactures a variety of semifinished and finished steel products which are sold thruout the United States and in foreign countries. A large part of production is fencing which is sold to farmers. The company manufactures its own steel. The parent company plant at Peoria, Ill., includes wire and steel mill units.

Sales for the fiscal year ended last June 30 totaled $16,067,497, a record gain of 21 per cent over the preceding year. Sales reached a new high of 277,143 net tons, compared with 241,139 tons the year before.

Profits have been relatively stable since a loss in 1932, altho there was a slump in 1938 and 1939. The last four years have seen a steady climb. Sales and net income for recent fiscal years follow:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Per share.
1940	13,279,520	1,418,221	1.87
1939	11,040,320	897,299	1.18
1938	9,648,839	727,543	.96
1937	12,163,667	1,160,857	1.53

There are 757,632 shares of no par common stock outstanding. Funded debt, as of the June 30 balance sheet, comprised $1,500,000 in serial notes payable 1941 thru 1946. Total assets at the end of June were $13,024,544, and net working capital amounted to $3,786,136.

Since a lapse from 1931 thru 1933, dividends on the common stock have been maintained regularly in varying amounts. Three distributions of 25 cents each have been made this year and $1 was paid in 1940.

RAIL PAY DISPUTE HEARINGS BEGUN BY 5-MAN BOARD

Union Counsel Allotted 12 Days for Pleas.

road management and labor have adjusted differences in the past, Mulholland gave this warning:

"We want no one to form the opinion that we have any idea of lying down and taking it now. However, we are willing to discuss our requests under the procedure set up for this commission."

Mulholland said that there is a misconception in the public mind, the public believing that railroad workers have regular employment and pleasant working conditions, and are paid higher wages than other industries.

Calls Demands Fantastic.

After the noon recess, J. Carter Fort, chief counsel for the carriers' conference committee, denounced the total wage increases asked—the railroads estimate them at $900,000,000 a year—as a fantastic figure "obviously put forward as an extreme and reckless trading position."

Fort said it was his opinion that if the employés could fix their own wages they would decide in favor of a very small fraction of the increases set forth in their formal requests. He cited railroad history in recent years to support his position that the present high level of revenues is but momentary and that trucks, pipe lines and waterways will make even greater competitive inroads after the emergency is over.

He declared that annual average earnings of railroad employés, $1,821 for 1940, indicated that they have fared "extremely well in the last 10 years while the industry that affords them a living has been in the deepest distress."

Vacations Called Unworkable.

William T. Joyner, of counsel for the carriers, opened the arguments over changes in working rules. Declaring that the question of money alone does not prompt carrier action, he said "rules affect operating efficiency, employé morale and fundamental employé relations as well as money. The primary objective of our proposals is the avoidance of waste."

Joseph F. Johnston, also of counsel for the carriers, discussing vacations with pay said they would be "unworkable and needlessly expensive." He said the increased cost based on the 1940 pay rolls would be about $38,000,000 annually.
